Geneva Conference on Laos Is Off Indefinitely

Cease-Fire Violation Is Blamed

Word Comes After Decision by U. S.

GENEVA (AP)—Britain today announced indefinite postponement of the conference on Laos because of "apparent serious violation" of the cease-fire.

Britain and the Soviet Union are cochairmen of the 14-nation conference on Laos.

Awaits Nikita's Word

The United States had previously announced it was boycotting the conference until Soviet Premier Khrushchev makes good on his agreement with President Kennedy that an effective cease-fire is necessary in the Southeast Asian kingdom.

Malcolm MacDonald, head of the British delegation, saw Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Georghi Pushkin for an hour this morning. Afterward, MacDonald issued a statement that some delegations informed him they could not attend further meetings until they have finished consulting their governments.

The delegations were identified as those of the United States, Britain and France.

An American source said Wednesday night that the U.S. delegation would not attend any further sessions of the conference called to chart the future of Laos until the pro-Communist rebels stop their attacks and a real truce is achieved.

Gromyko on Way

Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko is flying from Moscow to Geneva tonight. Western delegates hoped he would bring instructions for the Communist bloc to get behind the U.S. demand for more power for the international truce commission in Laos.

The American delegates to the Geneva conference forced cancellation of Wednesday's session after the Pathet Lao rebels captured the government-held village of Padong with a violent artillery barrage and an infantry charge. The rebel artillery, silent at Padong since Thursday, resumed Monday in what looked like a pointed rebuff to the Kennedy-Khrushchev declaration at Vienna.

Will Stand By

For a time the Americans talked of packing up and going home, but Washington ordered them to stand by in hopes the Communists would modify their previous opposition to discussing ways of preventing cease-fire violations.

State Department press officer Lincoln White said in Washington that the United States is not going to bring about a collapse of the Geneva conference "through any obstructive tactics or otherwise."

The Communist delegations have been contending that the cease-fire violations in Laos are inconsequential and that the truce commission needs no further powers or instructions.

Latins Open to Aid, Wary of Fidel Acts

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina (AP)—Adlai E. Stevenson is finding Latin Americans anxious to talk about U.S. aid for their economy but shy on any kind of action against Fidel Castro's regime.

The United States' chief U.N. delegate, making a goodwill tour of South America for President Kennedy, was told bluntly by Argentine officials Wednesday that it would be impossible to get unanimous Latin-American support for action against Cuba's strongman.

'Live and Let Live'

Instead Stevenson was advised that the United States should adopt a policy of "live and let live" toward the Castro regime.

Stevenson met for three hours with Argentine President Arturo Frondizi on the second stop of a tour that began in Venezuela.

He is meeting again today with Frondizi and other Argentine officials mainly on economic problems.

Neither Stevenson nor Argentine leaders would give details of the discussions on the Cuban situation, but what emerged was understood to be this:

Argentine Foreign Minister Adolfo Mugica expressed a belief the Cuban situation would solve itself if left alone.

Rules Out Force

Stevenson gave assurances that the U.S. government has ruled out force as a means of ending the Castro regime.

Hearing Is Set Tonight at 7:30 On School Budget

A public hearing on the proposed budget for the school year 1961-62 will be held at 7:30 p. m. today in the Kingston High School auditorium.

Censure Move Due For Meeting of Supervisor Board

A resolution seeking to censure Ulster County Commissioner of Welfare Joseph Fitzsimmons for failure to move the Ulster County Welfare offices to the Cornell Building, is expected to be presented at the meeting of the board of supervisors tonight.

The resolution, without a sponsor, has been filed with the clerk of the board by Supervisor James T. McCardle (D), 9th Ward.

The Cornell Building on Ferry Street was acquired by the county some time ago for county office use. To date no department has been moved to the location. It has repeatedly been suggested that the Welfare Department be moved downtown from its present location at 240 Fair Street.

Other than the resolution filed by Supervisor McCardle in relation to moving the Welfare Department downtown, there appears to be little controvertial matter to come before the board.

Reaction to Plea For 50,000 Peace Corps Seen Good

CHICAGO (AP)—A plea to lend 50,000 skilled Americans to work with the Peace Corps in underdeveloped nations has drawn prompt endorsement from most organized labor and generally favorable reaction from industry.

But many business leaders qualified their support of Wednesday's appeal by R. Sargent Shriver Jr., director of the Peace Corps.

Shriver, in a commencement address at De Paul University, said the Peace Corps has 10,000 applicants and that almost 4,000 of them had taken their first round of qualification tests. But, (Continued on Page 10, Col. 5)

Mayone Is Chosen Young GOP Head, May Head Ticket

John Ray Mayone of the 10th Ward of the City of Kingston was last evening elected as the president of the Ulster County Young Republican Club.

Mayone, city marshal and long active in veterans and other community activities, is being prominently mentioned as a possible candidate for the Republican nomination for mayor in the fall elections. Previous to last night's meeting, Mayone had served the Young Republican organization as its first vice president.

Donald MacCollam, the outgoing presiding officer, declined to seek re-election, MacCollam, in March of this year, was elected chairman of the Third Judicial District Republican Clubs. The district is comprised of seven counties Albany, Columbia, Greene, Rensselaer, Schoharie, Sullivan and Ulster.

Bolivia Rounds Up Reds, Under Siege

Stems From Disputes

Airline passengers arriving here from La Paz said President Victor Paz Estenssoro declared the emergency after a series of Communist-urged strikes swept the country. The strikes apparently stemmed from a dispute between the government and workers in the nationalized tin mines.

The travelers said the government appeared in control and La Paz was calm when they left.

Private sources in Buenos Aires Argentina, said that Communists made an attempt to seize power, but this was denied by travelers from La Paz. They said strikers were the root of the trouble.

President Kennedy's special envoy, Adlai E. Stevenson, now in Buenos Aires, is scheduled to visit Bolivia June 15 on his South American tour. Stevenson's aides said he has made no changes in his itinerary.

Airline passengers brought copies of Tuesday's edition of the La Paz morning newspaper El Diario which told of the arrest of Communist leaders.

14 Reach Florida

FORT LAUDERDALE Fla., (AP)—Fourteen persons who identified themselves as anti-Castro underground members arrived here in a 23-foot boat, hungry and thirsty after a three-day trip.

Eleven men, two women and a young girl were in the party. They asked not to be identified because of a fear of reprisals against relatives in Cuba.

Information in Buenos Aires indicated the industrial unrest was over President Paz Estenssoro's austerity program designed to get loans from the international monetary fund to put his debt-ridden nation on its feet.

Castro Is Unstable, He Says

Topics Discussed At Vienna Listed

Editors Note — What information, in addition to that included in his televised address to the nation, has President Kennedy given congressional leaders about his conference with Soviet Premier Khrushchev? At what point did Khrushchev raise his voice? Jack Bell, veteran chief of the AP's Senate staff, discusses the following article the report Kennedy gave influential members of both parties.

By JACK BELL

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy has informed congressional leaders that Premier Khrushchev raised his voice when he told him in Vienna that West Berlin is a bone that must come out of the Soviet throat.

The President also reported Khrushchev indicated he regards Cuban Prime Minister Fidel Castro as unstable—and not a Communist.

Talks to Both Parties

Kennedy briefed influential members of both parties at a 90-minute White House conference Tuesday before he told the nation in a television-radio broadcast a few hours later that the West is ready to maintain its rights in Berlin "at any risk."

The briefing, during which the President read from his translator's transcript of some of the conversations, was said to have disclosed that Khrushchev was vitally interested in only two subjects at this time—Berlin and a change in the secretariat direction of the United Nations.

Some of Topics Reported

So reported by responsible sources, these were some of the major topics discussed and the positions taken in the 12 hours of conversations between the two leaders:

Berlin — Khrushchev has not changed his position of more than two years' standing that he intends to sign a separate peace treaty with East Germany. He fixed no date for this action. He told Kennedy that nobody but the United States still believes East and West Germany can be reunited.

No Discourtesy

The only time Khrushchev raised his voice in the whole period of discussion was when he talked about Berlin and used the bone in the throat phrase he has employed before. (Kennedy said in his broadcast to the nation "there was no discourtesy, no loss of tempers, no threats or ultimatums by either side" during the Vienna conferences.)

The Soviet premier offered again to give Soviet and East German guarantees of continued Allied access to West Berlin. He proposed that U.S., French, British and Soviet troops remain in the city, and suggested stationing U.N. troops there.

Kennedy replied that the West is in Berlin legally, not merely by sufferance, and intends to stay there. He said Berlin is a foun- (Continued on Page 10, Col. 5)

Tax Protests Abate, Rocky in N.Y. Race

NEW YORK (AP)—Gov. Rockefeller was back in the New York City political arena today after an Upstate foray in which Republicans found portents of future election victories.

GOP leaders in Onondaga County, site of the two-day Rockefeller visit, said the trip had demonstrated that opposition to the governor because of 1959 tax increases had abated markedly.

GOP concern that public reaction in the area to tax, highway and other problems could endanger party chances in local elections this year and state balloting next year led to the Rockefeller visit.

The governor, who made more than 20 public appearances in two days, stressed in several talks that state spending for education and other services had risen faster than taxes.

GOP strategists said evidence the tax protests had abated was seen in the fact that few questions on the issue were raised at a "town meeting" at which Rockefeller answered questions from an audience of more than 1,000.

The meeting was the finale of the visit.

Members of the audience were much more concerned with education — problems of their local school systems and how to get their children into college.

One man complained that the State Education Department was high-handed in dealing with local school boards.

The governor suggested that boards obtain legal advice on how far the Education Department's control over local education goes.

Earlier Wednesday, Rockefeller expressed confidence that a controversy between himself and the State Board of Regents, governing body of education in the state, would be resolved shortly.

The governor had criticized plans of the Regents to pay directly to colleges grants under a new state program to aid college students.

Returning from the tax and education issues, Upstate, Rockefeller prepared to plunge back into the New York City mayoral race.

He was instrumental in shaping the GOP ticket and was expected to give a major speech on its behalf tonight at the annual, $100-a-plate dinner of the Republican State Committee.

A Republican victory in this heavily Democratic city in November would be a major boost to the governor's chances of winning re-election next year by a sizable majority. This would put him in good position to bid for the Republican presidential nomination in 1964.

Health Parley Is Told Air Is Used Like Garbage Can

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP) — Air pollution was described today as the use of our atmosphere as a "sort of open sewer or garbage can" by one of three experts discussing the problem at the 57th annual New York State Health Conference.

William H. Megonnell, air pollution consultant for the U.S. Public Health Service, said serious attention must be devoted to the preservation of "this most vital resource."

He said Americans were amazed to learn that their still are some backward countries where garbage is thrown into the streets and sewage is dumped into open ditches. But, he said, we take for granted the constant deterioration of the air.

Alexander Rihm Jr., executive secretary of the State Air Pollution Control Board, outlined the duties and powers of the board in his prepared speech.

"Progressive public health personnel are concerned not only with the absence of disease, but with all factors which interfere with the physical and mental well-being of the population," he said.

In a prepared talk, the secretary of the New York City department of Air Pollution Control suggested that pollution agencies have a duty to keep the public informed as to their activities in the fight against atmospheric spoilage.

Kenneth Kowald said "In the City of New York, we consider that the public has a right to know that we are doing in the fight for cleaner air and that we x x x have a duty to tell it."

ROCKET MAN—For the first time man has used a rocket (carried on his back) to achieve controlled free flight over the ground. Shown here is a successful test of the experimental rocket belt, built and tested by the Bell Aerosystems Co., Buffalo, N. Y., for the U. S. Army Transportation Research Command. (NEA Telephoto)

Rocket Belt Permits Flight by Individual

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP)—A practical, working rocket belt, torn from the pages of science-fiction, today was made a reality of mankind's age-old dream of flying with the birds.

A twist of a throttle, a turn of a lever, and man leaps from the ground, his own personal rocket belt strapped to his back. He hovers in the air, he flies over rivers, he flits up a hill that would leave him breathless to climb.

His support is a twin-nozzle thrust of hydrogen peroxide steam.

All this was revealed today by Bell Aerosystems Co., which developed the belt—called a small rocket lift device (SRLD) — for the Army Transportation Research Command.

For those still doubting, the first public demonstration was set later today at Transportation Research Command headquarters, Ft. Eustis, Va.

In 30 successful test flights this spring, Bell said, test engineer Harold M. Graham achieved a speed of about 20 miles an hour. His longest horizontal flight was 360 feet. He did not try for any great altitude, but the belt carried him up a steep, 30-foot-high hill with ease.

Bell has held the Army Development contract since last summer, but Wendell F. Moore, director of Bell's man-rocket research program, has been dabbling with the idea since 1954.

The rocket belt is powered by hydrogen peroxide. When forced into a gas generator where it heets a catalyst, it decomposes into steam. Discharged through two nozzles directed toward the ground, this steam provides the thrust.

The position of the nozzles, set out from the sides of the device, plus the low temperature of the steam, eliminate the need for protective clothing for the operator.

The propulsion system is mounted on a fiberglass corset moulded to fit the wearer's back and hips. It is secured in front by two quick-release safety belts.

Two control tubes extend forward on each side so the wearer can reach them easily. One tube carries the throttle by which the operator controls the rate of power. The other is for a control level leading to jet deflectors on the nozzles which control the direction of flight.

Glancing Over TV Bill of Fare

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP TV-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—Mike Wallace, a broadcasting veteran who started—and remains the principal practitioner of — the "tough question" school of TV interviewing, is on the threshhold of a new career.

Starting next Monday night, Mike will be star of a new, syndicated late - evening television program which may become the first real competition Jack Paar and vintage movies have yet encountered.

The new, taped program is called "PM," and really consists of two parts: "PM East," an hour-long program of varied themes from New York presided over by Mike, assisted by Joyce Davidson, a pretty Canadian girl who has appeaared often on the Dave Garroway Show, and "PM West," a half hour show hosted by Terrence O'Flaherty, a San Francisco newspaper columnist.

Mike insists he is not inviting Paar to a late-evening ratings battle similar to the old Ed Sullivan-Steve Allen fray.

"PM" will not imitate the format of Paar's sit-around-and-make-jokes show.

"We're going to build our program around themes, subjects or sometimes around one person," he explained.

Wallace himself will, of course, do some interviewing, but he will also so some commenting and talking.

It's hard to find a word for NBC's nighttime version of "It Could Be You." "Dreadful" is probably the most accurate one.

The program made its after-dark debut Wednesday night and proved to be an incredible distillation of the worst features of "Queen for a Day" and "This Is Your Life"—surprise guests, reunions plus hard luck stories.

Recommended tonight: CBS Reports, 10-11 (Eastern Daylight Time)—repeat of "A Real Case of Murder," documentary on the murder trial of a New York boy; "Silents Please," ABC, 10:30-11—"Girls in Danger," perilous adventures of the heroines of the Pearl White period of movies.

Pushed Her, But Not Off Bridge, Amesse to Court

POUGHKEEPSIE, N.Y. (AP)—David Amesse testified at his trial Wednesday that he did give his girl friend a push on the Mid-Hudson Bridge, but he denied having pushed her into the water.

Amesse told the court that, although he gave 18-year-old Rachel Perry a push, he didn't "push her over."

The 20-year-old Amesse is charged with second degree murder and first degree manslaughter in the drowning of Miss Perry in the Hudson River last Dec. 21.

Authorities said Amesse first told them that Miss Perry was pregnant and that he entered a suicide pact with her but that he "chickened out" at the last moment.

In a statement taken by Dutchess County Dist. Atty. Raymond Baratta, Amesse is quoted as saying he wanted to get rid of the girl because she was three months pregnant and she wanted to go to Children's Court.

An autopsy showed, however, that the girl was not pregnant. On the witness stand, Amesse has admitted he knew she wasn't.

Amesse also testified Wednesday that he had been rushed into reading and signing a 19½-page statement. He contended that he read only 1½ pages of the statement, and that he was hindered by blindness in one eye and that he had a hangover from drinking.

CHICAGO (AP) — Roderick M. Grant, 60, editor of Popular Mechanics magazine from 1958 until his retirement in 1960, died Tuesday of a stroke. Crant had been a member of The Associated Press news staff in Topeka, Kan., and Chicago for 10 years before he joined the magazine in 1935.

Larceny, Forgery Charges Faced by Leader in Council

BINGHAMTON, N.Y. (AP) — Joseph P. Mangan, 41, Republican majority leader of the city council, today is charged with misappropriating $31,462 from estates and forging checks.

Mangan was indicted Wednesday by a Broome County grand jury on 10 counts of first-degree grand larceny and forgery. He remained in $10,000 bail, pending arraignment.

Mangan allegedly obtained the money while attorney for the estates and other clients. He has submitted his resignation as a lawyer to the Appellate Division of State Supreme Court.

A member of the council since 1956, Mangan was council president last year.

Among the charges against him, Dist. Atty. Louis M. Greenblott said, were:

Theft of $13,659 from the estate of a former Binghamton school teacher, misappropriating $3,669 entrusted to him in the name of a mentally incompetent person who since has died, misappropriating $4,400 Elizabeth Leonard had left to charities and forging two checks for $4,666 each, in the name of Mrs. Jean Boice for her two sons.

Bridge Stolen

RANSOMVILLE, N. Y. (AP) —Someone has stolen James E. Foster's bridge. Foster says the bridge consisted of four 10-foot steel beams weighing 140 pounds each. He values the bridge — which spanned a small stream on his farm—at $40.

Warning to Drivers

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A constituent of State Rep. Terry Drake of Galion thinks Drake should introduce a measure to put a mark on drinking drivers. His suggestion is that the car, truck or other vehicle of a person convicted of drunk driving be painted with alternate vertical black and white stripes—five inches wide—from front to rear. The vehicle could not be sold, and the driver would be examined by the sheriff six months later to see if repainting in normal colors should be permitted.

Veterans Advised Of Changes Under New Albany Laws

The recent session of the New York State Legislature passed several bills affecting the Empire State's veteran population which Gov. Rockefeller signed into law. Each piece of this recent legislation can change in some way the rights of many veterans and servicemen.

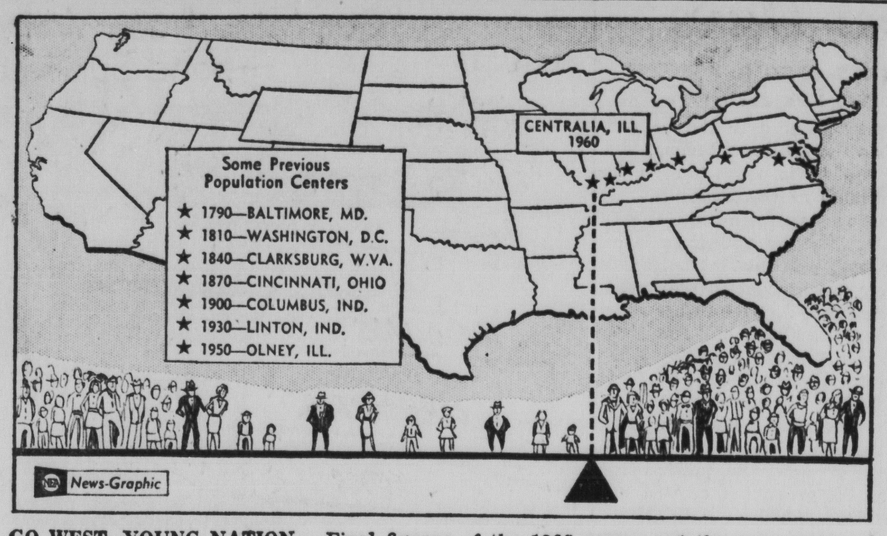
"The rights of many veterans vary from year to year from factors other than the many new laws and regulations," noted Charles L. Culver, counselor, New York State Division of Veterans' Affairs and John B. Tyler, director of the Ulster County Veterans Service Agency. For instance, "changes in income might materially affect the pension entitlements of some survivors and dependents. There are many changing circumstances including age, health or unemployment," Culver and Tyler continued, "that point up the advisability of keeping well informed on veterans' affairs."

The New York State Division of Veterans' Affairs and the Ulster County Veterans' Service Agency counsels thousands of veterans each year on their status under Federal and State laws. All veterans, survivors, and servicemen in this area are invited to bring questions, and problems relating to pensions, loans, insurance, tax exemption or other veteran entitlements to the New York State Division of Veterans' Affairs and the Ulster County Veterans Service Agency located at 32 Main Street, over the Motor Vehicle office.

Watervliet Gambler Is Fined $2,500

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—Gambler Frank Cocca, of Watervliet, has been fined $2,500 for failing to buy federal gambling tax stamps. Cocca pleaded guilty before Judge Stephen W. Brennan in Federal District Court to charges of failure to purchase the $50 stamps in 1958 and 1959.

Cocca was arrested in a gambling raid in 1959. He was indicted on the stamp charges after he was released from jail after serving one year for violation of probation.



GO WEST, YOUNG NATION—Final figures of the 1960 census put the new center of U.S. population at a point near Centralia, Ill. The "population center" is defined as the geographic point where perfect balance would result if the nation were a plane and all citizens weighed the same. News-Graphic shows how the heavily populated east counterbalances the west. The new center is 57 miles farther west and 16½ miles farther south than it was in 1950, largely due to the admission of Alaska and Hawaii. It is also farther south than at any other time. Some experts believe the center will eventually stabilize near St. Louis, Mo.

Veep Busy, Likes It

LBJ Makes Good As U.S. Salesman

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) —Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson has become the ice-cream man of the Kennedy administration.

He travels into all kinds of neighborhoods, spreading good cheer.

Busy, busy, busy. That was his life until he became vice president last January.

Job Made to Order

He wanted to be busy. He wanted to run things. And, as boss of the Senate Democrats, Johnson had a job made to order for him.

He stayed bus y for years running the Senate. Then, suddenly, when he became vice president, he had to take a back seat.

He had a boss now, Kennedy, who was younger, and strong-willed, and had beaten him for the presidency. And Kennedy left no doubt who was No. 1 man.

And even in the Senate there was a new boss: Mike Mansfield of Montana, majority leader of the Democrats.

Johnson couldn't, if he wanted to, push Mansfield around, or interfere, or kibitz, without an explosion.

Yet Johnson, full of fierce energy, was—like a lot of politicians—full of ego.

How to make the best use of him? This was a problem for Kennedy. What would you have done if you were Kennedy? Probably what he did. It was a natural.

He found a way to keep Johnson happy while making use of him. He kept him busy.

Startling Pace

Although Johnson had a severe heart attack in 1955, just a few weeks before President Eisenhower had his, he's been hitting a startling pace for months.

He hit it during the presidential race, campaigning hard. And right after the election he lit out for Europe and a NATO conference.

Then there was a lull, right after Kennedy and Johnson took office Jan. 20, when the vice president, with nothing much to do, seemed in total eclipse.

It didn't last long. Kennedy sent him on a 13,000-mile tour of Africa and Europe as a goodwill spreader.

In May he sent him on a 29,000-mile journey through Southeast Asia and the Middle East to spread more of the same.

Sets Dizzy Pace

And, since his return toward the end of May, Johnson has been in a dizzy spin of speechmaking and reporting on his latest trip abroad.

For example: On the day he returned, May 24, he reported to Kennedy and then held a news conference for some public reporting.

That night he made a speech to the National Committee for Children and Youth. The next day he provided a fill-in for Kennedy's cabinet and, later the same day, for 57 senators.

At a big news conference May 26 he revealed that in Hong Kong he bought 82 shirts (4 apiece) for those who traveled to Asia with him.

(On June 3 an aide denied Johnson had just bought a house here for $265,000 and said the cost was under $200,000.)

Thrilling Some Say

On June 5 Johnson gave the House Foreign Affairs Committee such a hearty report on his trip that members called it thrilling, brilliant, wonderful.

One member even called him "the wonder boy of the age."

Meanwhile: He addressed the graduating class at his alma mater, Southeast Texas State College; the senior class at Eastern Kentucky State College; and the graduating class at Gallaudet, the world's only college for the deaf.

On June 6 Johnson reportedly wowed the advertising council with the same meet-the-folks technique he had used in Asia. And Wednesday he gave the West Point graduating class a pep talk.

Whether or not Johnson accomplished anything on his journeys abroad remains to be seen. But if Kennedy was looking for a salesman, he found him.

THEY ASKED FOR IT

Not all of us who have income and social security taxes withheld from our pay checks can be sure the federal government will get the money as it should.

Probably there are at least several hundred thousand employers who fail to pay over this money on time—or perhaps at all. The Internal Revenue Service has no sound basis for estimating, since its agents examine only 3.5 million of some 61 million individual and corporate tax returns.

These agents do unearth many delinquents through review of employer returns and occasional random door-to-door checks. As of Jan. 1, 1961, government books listed 270,000 employers owing some $237 million for taxes collected but not handed over.

All employers are required to file quarterly returns on taxes withheld, and to make full payment at such times.

Experience shows some employers never file these returns. If discovered, they can be criminally prosecuted, though the government has had poor luck getting convictions.

More commonly, employers simply delay their payments. Some are just careless, but others put the tax refunds to personal or business use until revenue authorities enforce collection. Lately, a new variation on this has been devised.

Some employers, fully intending to pay up in their own sweet time, invest the tax money for three or four months to pick up a little extra profit. They feel safe because they have learned it takes that long for the revenue service to process their returns, send them a couple of dunning notices, and finally dispatch an agent to demand the money.

Obviously the employer has no right to the use of even a single penny of such funds for as much as a day. They are to be held in trust for the government, say revenue officials.

Bills pending in Congress are expected to give the revenue bureau at least 3,300 additional agents to widen the attack on this and other aspects of tax delinquency. Meantime, the agency has plans to nip quickly those employers who file returns but don't pay up in full at the same time.

Nobody loves the tax collector. But most of us would cheer a broad crackdown on delinquent employers. There is something extraordinarily unattractive about individuals who are delinquent with other people's tax money.

The fellow who made a business of helping other people prepare their tax returns and failed to file his own may have been afraid he might be tempted to cheat.

NIKITA THE AUTHOR

Who is the world's most translated author? Not, says UNESCO in its annual compendium, Shakespeare or any other litterary great. Not even Mickey Spillane.

The world's most translated author is that well known desk pounder, Nikita Sergeyevich Khrushchev. This by no means accurately gauges the popularity of his writings. The Soviet government likes to make sure that no one will miss his gems, so they are translated into the two dozen major tongues used in Russia.

As Khrushchev also has been translated into many other languages—again, mostly thanks to the diligence of government translators—the total number in which his works may be read comes to 198. This beats the previous record holder, Lenin.

Shakespeare? Fairly high on the list, though he's slipped a bit the past couple of years. He might have done better in the translation sweepstakes if he had had the Soviet propaganda machine behind him.

Heart specialist Dr. Paul Dudley White says today's American is a flabby weakling compared to his predecessor of 30 years ago. Well, thirty years ago we had to be tough to survive the depression.

'These Days'

By GEORGE SOKOLSKY

LEST WE FORGET

In the current excitement over Europe and President Kennedy's visits to Paris, Vienna, and London we lose sight of Cuba which is of equal if not greater importance at this moment. It is astonishing how those who accept a doctrine will not give up no matter what the historic evidence provides. This becomes particularly dangerous when great influences are brought to bear upon public opinion to promote a doctrine rather than historic truth. Herbert Matthews of "The New York Times" raised this issue when on May 3, he told students at the University of Michigan:

". . . once Fidel Castro's regime was labeled Communistic, for the most part it became almost impossible for the American journalists and editors to go against the overwhelming public opinion, although it was the press that created the hostile opinion — like Frankenstein's monster."

In a word, Fidel Castro and his associates were converted to Marxism by the American press! But were not many of them Marxists before the American press ever heard of their names? Herbert Matthews's viewpoint is worth looking at, for if applied to other countries, it could be said that Khrushchev was not a Communist until we accused him of being the head of the Communist Party by the American press, particularly by those who are nastily anti-Communist. On this theory, it could be said that Hitler was really not a Nazi but was manufactured into one by "The New York Times"!

Matthews adds a very interesting moral factor to his philosophy. In his Ann Arbor speech, he admitted that Cuba was becoming more and more dangerous to the United States. But he holds that it did not have to be that — that Cuba did not have to develop toward socialist and totalitarian lines. Regarding a Communist regime as one whose leaders are Communists and which takes orders from the Kremlin, Matthews holds that Cuba was not such — that is until the American press made it wicked.

But what about all the People's Republics? They started as coalition governments containing non-Communist elements, Czechoslovakia was an example of that until Jan Masaryk was either murdered or committed suicide. An effort was made to form such a coalition People's Republic in China during the days when "Vinegar Joe" Stilwell and General George Marshall were active there.

In a word, Herbert Matthews adopts a very narrow definition of a Communist regime — one that cannot be supported by the history of Communist growth either in Europe or in Asia. Even in Russia, when Lenin took control in the Smolny Institute in Petrograd, he was associated with non-Bolshevik elements. Leon Trotzky, for instance, was a Menshevik at the start and he became the second man in command.

Matthews said:

"The American press made the mistake in trying to interpret the Cuban revolution in terms of our Anglo-Saxon, mature, democratic, and capitalistic way of life."

But that precisely is what Herbert Matthews has done, and it is interesting that he is so correct in analyzing the American attitude toward Leninist movements. Americans try to avoid regarding Communists as Communists on the assumption that no one can be quite so wicked. But there are now many Communists in the world and there are Communists in many governments. And one needs only to look at the fact squarely without apology. Certainly, those who are now in charge of Cuba call their government Socialistic, which is the most that Khrushchev says about his.

According to "Editor and Publisher," Matthews ended his speech at Ann Arbor with a statement that:

"The intense emotionalism with which the American press covered the executions following Castro's triumph has had a lasting adverse impact on American-Cuban relations."

Now precisely what emotions other than were expressed should the American press have exhibited during the murders which Castro's revolution — social or political — committed? As a people, we do not usually enjoy wholesale murders. In fact, we do not enjoy them even retail. Perhaps that is why bull-fighting never took hold in this country. Murder is very unpopular except on TV and there nothing is real. Perhaps we would have liked Castro better, had he killed fewer Cubans.

It would seem that Herbert Matthews is too defensive of an actual and manifest evil and that history unfortunately is giving his ideas a raw deal.

'Nest Egg' Could Come Back In Favor With Eggs, Butter

By HAROLD T. HYMAN, M.D.

Written for Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

In a previous column I gave the results of a nine-year study conducted on the effects of diet on blood fat levels at the Rockefeller Institute.

Briefly stated, these studies suggested that the level of blood fats (lipemia) was most often dependent on the manner in which the body converted carbohydrates (sugars) into fat, and least often on the presence in the body of an inherited enzyme capable of digesting body fat. In neither instance was the level due to the relative amount of fat in the diet or to the kind of fat that was ingested.

Fitting in with this laboratory study was an experiment conducted by Dutch physicians on Trappist and Benedictine monks.

Now the Trappists live on a food intake of milk and vegetables (lactovegeterians). The Benedictines favor a mixed diet. Here then was an ideal opportunity to observe the effects of diet on such conditions as arterial hardening (arteriosclerosis), angina pectoris, hyptertension and disturbances of heart muscle (myocardium) due to obstruction of the coronary arteries.

Here in summary are the results:

There were no significant differences in the blood pressure levels of the monks of the two orders.

The average blood cholesterol levels were considerably higher in the Benedictines (who were also considerably heavier).

The incidence of myocardial infarction and of angina pectoris was about the same in the two groups but considerably lower than that of middle-aged men of the same age in the general population.

The higher level of blood cholesterol in the Benedictines suggested that the mixed diet might somewhat favor the development of arteriosclerosis, but that mycardial infarction was more likely the result of strains and stresses against which monks of both orders were protected by their monastic lives.

I don't for a moment imagine that these pronouncements will influence greatly the American public that has learned to look on eggs and butter as accomplices to the No. 1 killer. And I haven't the vanity to hope that they will restore the price of eggs to a level comparable to that of other foods.

But maybe I can get an "A" for Effort.

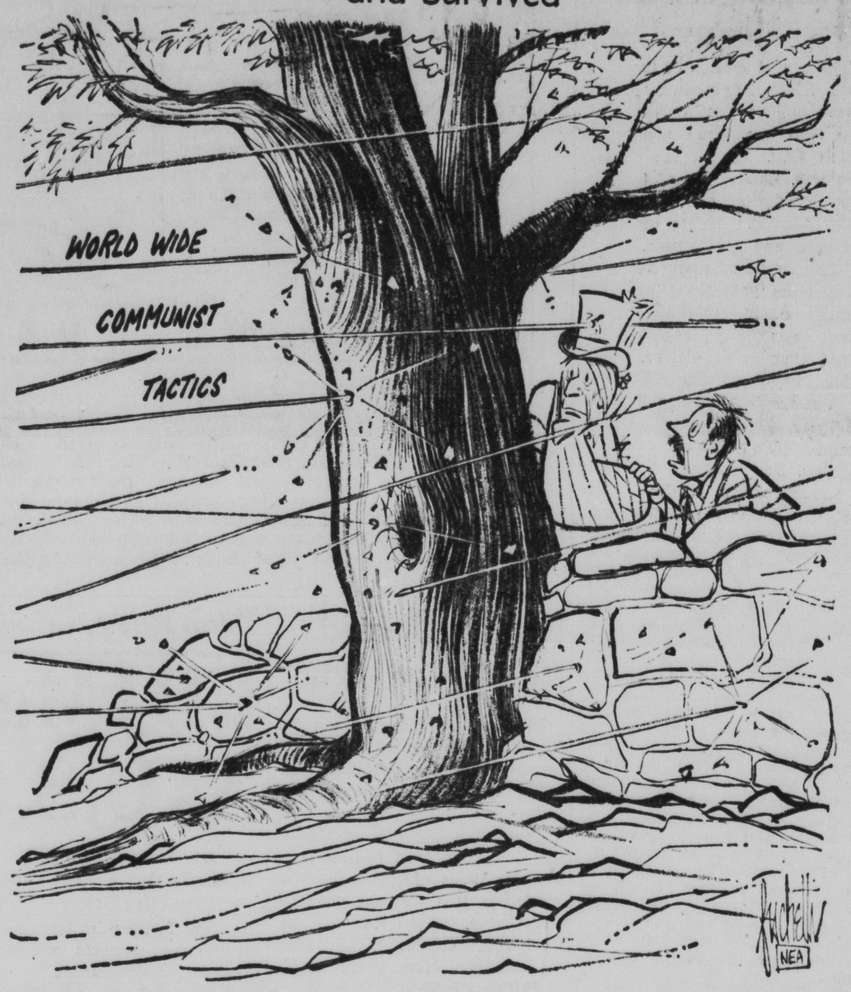
"Our Minutemen Were Guerrillas —and Survived"



Washington News

By PETER EDSON
Washington Correspondent
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — Mail from readers shows more misunderstanding and opposition to the proposed 20 per cent withholding tax on interest and dividend payments than on any other phase of the Kennedy administration's tax reform program.

Treasury Secretary C. Douglas Dillon has explained that the principal reason for the withholding on interest payments proposal is to close a tax gap estimated at $2.8 billion.

This is the amount which people cheat the government out of in a year by not reporting and not paying taxes on interest payments they receive. It represents a little over a third of the $8.2 billion due the Treasury in taxes on interest.

MOST OF THE CHISELING is believed to be done by big investors. They simply don't report on their income tax returns all the interest payments they receive.

There is far more tax cheating on interest received than on dividends received. Internal Revenue Service believes it collects taxes on about 92 per cent of all dividends received, with only 8 per cent, or about $600 million, getting away.

The proposed 20 per cent withholding tax on both interest and dividend payments would of course give the Internal Revenue Service good information on where this money is going and who is not reporting it as income.

People who receive dividends are squawkng a little about this. Businessmen claim it would curb private investment. But the big beef comes from the people who get interest from savings accounts, loans, mortgages and investment type bonds.

THE PROTEST MAIL ON THIS reveals a certain amount of ignorance on the part of the taxpayers. Their letters indicate they do not know that such interest payments are taxable income.

This problem was fully appreciated by former commissioner of internal revenue Dana Latham in the Eisenhower administration. He started an educational campaign to inform interest receivers of their tax liability.

Internal Revenue Service asked banks, savings and loan associations and others paying interest on investments to inform people of their tax liability. Printed slips were sent out with interest and dividend checks suggesting that the recipients pay up.

But this educational campaign didn't work. One trouble was that corporations are required to advise Internal Revenue Service of all dividend payments of $10 or more while information on interest is limited to payments of $600 or more.

The latter figure lets most people with small savings accounts escape, since $600 in interest, at 4 per cent, represents a principal of $15,000, larger than the average account.

Various proposals are being considered to change this in the new law, which hasn't yet been drafted. It is admitted that the $600 figure is too high.

It has been suggested that information be required and withholding be applied on interest payments of $10 or more. This would make it apply to every savings account or investment of $250 or more, if the interest rate were 4 per cent.

But this might be too low, for it would require tax withholdings on the $500-to-$1,000 savings accounts of children preparing for college, retired people dependent on interest for living expenses, small investors and all lower income groups with a few bucks saved up for rainy days.

TO TAKE CARE OF THESE hardship cases, where withholding of a few dollars in interest payments might mean serious financial embarrassment, treasury tax experts are trying to develop a system for making rapid refunds. They would apply also to tax-free educational and charitable organizations.

But the amount of bookkeeping and paper work and check writing on small accounts might be tremendous.

Congress will of course write the ticket on this, if it approves the withholding principle, which now seems somewhat doubtful.

Congress Is Seen Confused By Kennedy Vienna Report

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON — President Kennedy by his television address has left many members of Congress puzzled. What did he really tell Soviet Premier Khrushchev? Is the United States now committed to go to war over the defense of West Berlin? Did Mr. Kennedy threaten war, or did he imply that America would not take any military steps if the Soviet Union makes a peace treaty with East Germany and leaves the matter of Allied access to West Berlin up to the East Germans?

The President was abstract and general in his statements on the air. He did not reveal exactly what he said or what Mr. Khrushchev told him on these vital issues.

Mr. Kennedy, moreover didn't tell the American people on Tuesday night about the two memoranda on the Berlin, disarmament, and nuclear test problems which Mr. Khrushchev brought to the conference. Only after news dispatches from Bonn disclosed this today did the State Department confirm that such memoranda had been given to Mr. Kennedy.

In his television address, Mr. Kennedy said the "no new aims were stated in private that have not been stated in public on either side."

No Record Available

Who is to be the judge of the meaning of that statement, especially when there is no record available even to Congress on what was said by either Mr. Kennedy or Mr. Khrushchev. If nothing new was stated and, as Mr. Kennedy now says, "no major decisions were either planned or taken," then what were the several hours of private discussion about? Why was the trip undertaken?

The President gave as his reason that he wanted to find out firsthand what Mr. Khrushchev thinks. He did not care to rely on what his ambassadors or what President Eisenhower told him after many years of experience with the Soviets. Also, Mr. Kennedy says he wished to "present our views directly, precisely, realistically, and with an opportunity for discussion and clarification."

Yet hardly any details of what went on during that "discussion" have thus far been revealed. If Mr. Kennedy says he sought to state America's position "precisely," it is important that the Congress be told just what those "precise" positions are today. The few members of the House or Senate who were "briefed" on Tuesday afternoon at the White House learned little more than what was said by Mr. Kennedy in his television address.

Adds to the Mystery

The President added to the mystery of why the meeting with the Soviet Premier was ever undertaken when he said in his Tuesday night speech:

"Neither of us was there to dictate a settlement or to convert the other to a cause, or to concede our basic interests."

One wonders now whether the President really felt beforehand, too, that there was no trying to "convert" the Soviet leader to a belief in peace—or anything else.

It is evident, however, that the issue of peace or war was discussed. In fact, there is a hint or threat of possible war in the following section of Mr. Kennedy's speech:

"But our most sober talks were on the subject of Germany and Berlin. I made it clear to Mr. Khrushchev that the security of Western Europe and, therefore, our own security are deeply involved in our presence and our access rights to West Berlin, that those rights are based on law and not on sufferance, and that we are determined to maintain those rights at any risk, and thus meet our obligation to the people of West Berlin, and their right to choose their own future.

Can't Shun Obligations

"Mr. Khrushchev in turn presented his views in detail and his presentation will be the subject of future communications, but we are not seeking to change the present situation. A binding German peace treaty is a matter for all who were at war with Germany, and we and our allies cannot abandon our obligations to the people of West Berlin."

Does this mean that while the Allies are naturally advocating no change "in the present situation," they are fully aware that the Soviets intend to sign a peace treaty with East Germany, thereby passing the responsibility to that country for handling "access rights" to West Berlin?

There are rumors already that while Mr. Kennedy made no "concessions," he gave the impression that the Allies would not go to war merely over the signing of a peace treaty between the Soviet and East Germany. This impression, if conveyed by Mr. Kennedy, could have caused Mr. Khrushchev to do his "dancing" stand in Moscow on his return there. But then, it will be asked, what was meant by the firm statements in the President's speech that the Allies "are determined to maintain those rights at any risk and thus meet our obligation to the people of West Berlin"?

The contradiction may be due to a desire on the President's part not to meet the issue militarily until an overt act by East Germany challenges Allied rights in West Berlin.

Can Hold Aloof

Meanwhile, congressional committees will not have the opportunity to interrogate the President in the same comprehensive way they could cross-examine a Secretary of State at the Capitol. Although Mr. Kennedy conducted the conversation alone with Mr. Khrushchev for lengthy periods during the meeting in Vienna, Mr. Kennedy can hold himself aloof from revealing to a congressional committee everything that happened.

This means that the representatives of the American people will not get all the facts about any commitments or promises made by the President when he became his own ambassador and presented his views to Mr. Khrushchev "directly, precisely, realistically." There is no "precise" record, therefore, or detailed statement of the American position available today either to the Congress or to the American people as a result of the Vienna meeting.

Do You Remember by Sophie Miller

I have a book covering the Reformed Church of Flatbush, N. Y., 1807-1907, and an excellent history is written by Benjamin M. Brink editor and publisher of "Olde Ulster." This book and "Olde Ulster" magazines were printed by R. W. Anderson and Son, 15 and 17 West Strand, Kingston, in 1907. The Flatbush Reformed Church history was compiled by the Rev. P. S. Beekman.

I thought those living in that section may be interested in some of the following: On February 13, 1688, Governor Thomas Dongan granted 600 acres north of the Maines patent to Jan Mattysoon & Co., which was sub-divided into three equal sections. This came from the north as far south as Kalkoen Hoeck (Turkey Point.)

Brink writes further that this section was not settled as early as other parts of the town of Saugerties, or as early as neighboring localities. The Esopus Creek cut it off from its neighbors to the north and west. There were no bridges over this stream before 1800. When the stream was low in mid-summer a rift just north of Glenerie was found available; and a scow ferry crossed at Stony Point, near the spot where now resides George W. Washburn, in the village of Saugerties. (This book was written in 1907.) A few families were Dutch with a sprinkling of Huguenots, a few from the palatines of Katsbaan and West Camp. "Kalkoen Hoeck" or Turkey Point was known from the days when the earliest Dutch skippers reached up the river.

The present Flatbush Avenue out of Kingston appears on very early maps as "Het Kalkoen pot," the turkey road, or road to Turkey Point. As Dutchmen pushed over the high hill on the road and passed beyond the Kingston City Almshouse, they saw the wooded valley extending to the Hudson. They caught the view from a height which lifted them above its trees and, like the aborigines before their day, it was a place of low flat woods. They called it "vlakke bosch," flat woods, as the Indians had done before them. The name survives in the name of this church. The trustees' map of 1804 is in this book. It locates every parcel at that time, by number and name. Such names as P. Van Keuren, Benj. York, Jacobus Van Gaasbeek, Cornelius Legg, B. DeWitt's Children, and many others, covering over 100 parcels of land. "Large tracts of land were conveyed, all to farmers able to settle upon their acres and cultivate." Another item reads: "The lands about the three successive falls in Esopus at Glenerie had been granted to Arent Teunis Pier as early as 1688. Except in a very modest way this great privilege had never been put to service, and was not until Colonel Edward Clark established white lead works there about 1835." For the enjoyment of their religious privileges the settlers of this region drove to Kingston. Those within a short distance of the mouth of the Esopus crossed with the scow ferry and went to Katsbaan.

Fast-Moving, Dramatized Approach

Blitzkreig-Type Operation Rocky's Plan to Deal With State Problems

By ROBERT T. GRAY

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP) — Gov. Rockefeller plans a unique, blitzkreig-type of operation to deal with political and governmental problems throughout the state.

This fast-moving, dramatized approach is in line with the Rockefeller personality and methods of operating.

The governor, with a wide range of political, governmental, national and international interests, has shown little inclination for the normal channels of state-local relationships and routine government activity.

Dislikes Usual Procedures

Ordinarily, representatives of communities with highway and other problems would bring them to the State Captiol. The governor or his top aides would deal with them on a piecemeal basis.

But, except for the annual legislative session and bill-signing period, Rockefeller moves so fast that he finds usual procedures not to his liking.

In recent weeks he has helped form a Republican ticket for the New York City mayoral race, has been to Washington twice, has travelled to New Jersey to help that state's Republican candidate, for governor, has met with several international visitors, and has spoken at a series of political events.

Discussions with New Jersey over mammoth projects involving the Port of New York Authority also have taken much of his time recently.

To Gain Attention

The type of political forays he now plans into Upstate areas will engender far more attention and publicity in the areas involved than the governor would realize by dealing with the same problems from his desk in Albany or New York City.

The on-the-scene visits are designed to help allay claims that Rockefeller is concentrating too much on New York City affairs and not paying enough attention to the Republican strongholds Upstate.

The first of the new-style expenditions went this week to Syracuse. A general pattern for future operations was established.

First, the governor's staff and local officials reviewed a long list of problem areas. Decisions, to be announced by the governor on the scene, were reached.

A schedule that would take the governor into many parts of the area and into touch with a cross-section of the community was drafted.

Finally, at an all-day meeting, the governor reviewed the arrangements with his staff. Local political leaders handled advance publicity and plans for receptions, private meetings and conferences with VIPs.

Good at Grass Roots

Arriving at the head of a group of state officials, Rockefeller moved quickly from one area to another — highways, schools, urban renewal, industrial development, local political problems and other issues.

At his request, the general public was invited to a mass meeting to ask questions. Rockefeller considers himself especially capable of dealing with voters at the grass-roots level and looked upon this meeting as a means of easing opposition to his tax-increase or other programs that have cost him support among voters.

The new-type Rockefeller operation sounds much like a political campaign and closely resembles one.

The pointing with pride to things accomplished, the promises of future achievements, the speeches of local candidates and the smiling, waving governor greeting voters on sidewalks will all be repeated in 1962, when Rockefeller will be running for re-election.

Girl Gets Prison For 20 Years in Robbery Slaying

TROY, N.Y. (AP) — Betty Joy Ebert, a girl her father said was driven from home by his drinking, bankruptcy and drugs, has been sentenced to 20 years to life in prison for killing a married man in a lovers' lane.

Betty Joy, 16, ran away last August from her Chicago home and went to New Orleans. Then she moved to New York City and decided to stage a series of holdups to obtain $1,000 bail for a boy friend who was in jail there.

She bought a revolver in Bennington, Vt., and took a bus to Albany.

In Albany, while walking near the bus station March 3, truck-driver James M. Kilduff, offered her a ride.

He had sex in mind, she said, while she had robbery. They struggled. She shot him, stole $12 from the body and made off in his automobile.

But Betty Joy did not know how to drive. Police arrested her in Watervliet.

She was charged with first-degree murder but pleaded guilty Wednesday to second-degree murder. Judge DeForrest C. Pitt of Rensselaer County Court sentenced her to the state women's prison at Bedford Hills, Westchester County.

Her father, Raymond C. Ebert, 46, a machinist, pleaded that his daughter was a "mixed up little girl" driven from home by his drinking and other family difficulties.

Church Council Endorses Stand On School Aid

Herbert O. Frost, president of the Kingston Area Council of Churches recently announced the Area Council suports the National Council of Churches pronouncement of policy statement regarding "Public Funds for Public Schools."

He reported the National Council recently reaffirmed its unqualified support of the public school system; that it is opposed to grants from tax funds for non-public elementary and secondary schools. That it is opposed to payment from public funds for tuition or "scholarships" for children who attend private or church related elementary or secondary schools and that it is opposed to tax credits and exemptions from school taxes or other taxes for parents whose children attend non-public elementary or secondary schools.

Frost announced further that the Area Council of Churches at its last executive committee meeting authorized contributions in the respective amounts of $100 to the Mid-Hudson Area Migrant Committee toward the support of a child care center at the Clintondale School, Town of Plattekill, during the 1961 growing and harvesting season, and $175 to the Rip Van Winkle Council of Boy Scouts toward the support of a chaplain at the Scout Camp Tri-Mount, East Jewett, this summer.

Frost announced also there will be an executive committee meeting of the Kingston Area Council of Churches 7:45 tonight at St. James Methodist Church, Fair and Pearl Streets.

No Files on Gassed, Shot

None 'Killed' At Auschwitz, Survivor Says

By THOMAS A. REEDY

JERUSALEM, Israel (AP) — A woman survivor of the Auschwitz death camp testified today at the Adolf Eichmann trial that persons gassed or shot were not recorded —or their files were destroyed— so that camp registry books showed only disease as a cause of death.

"According to the files, nobody was killed in Auschwitz —not one," said Raya Kagan, who worked in the camp as a clerk and now is an official in the Israeli foreign ministry.

The Lithuanian-born woman told the trial court she was sent to Auschwitz as a young girl from France, where she had been studying. She said in Auschwitz she was chosen "haphazardly" as a clerk because she could speak German. She said she and a few other Jewsh women worked in the camp administration office which registered the deaths and the live prisoners of Auschwitz.

Mrs. Kagan said there were forms even for punishment of inmates, listing how many whip lashes were given to a prisoner or how much time he spent in a tiny arrest cell in which he could only stand.

"We received certificates of death," she continued, "and in a short time it became clear to us that this was a camouflage. We had to record in the forms all sorts of diseases as cause of death such as pneumonia, general weakness, syphilis and so on."

She said the files also recorded "the number of gold teeth, artificial teeth, anything of value."

Miss Kagan said she did not recall a single case of a Jew being freed from Auschwitz by the Nazis.

Could Halt Flight

WASHINGTON (AP)—When the first U.S. astronaut is rocketed into orbit, a chain of doctors will be checking his pulse, heart and other reactions by radio as he sweeps through space.

If the astronaut seems to be in trouble, the doctors can recommend that the flight be termnated.

The plans were outlined by Maj. Gen. O. K. Neiss, Air Force surgeon general, and by Air Force Col. Vance H. Marchbanks.

Marchbanks is one of 20 armed services and Public Health Service doctors who will make radio diagnoses of the astronaut's condition.

4 Former Cage Stars Seized in Spreading Scandal

NEW YORK (AP)—Four former college basketball players were arrested on charges of conspiracy and bribery in the latest development of the spreading basketball scandals, it was announced today.

The four, previously named as coconspirators, in connection with the indictments of Aaron Wagman and Joseph Hacken, are Dave Budin, former Brooklyn College captain, Jerry Vogel and Dan Quindazzi, former Alabama players, and Lou Brown of North Carolina.

The announcements were made by Dist. Atty. Frank S. Hogan, who broke open the latest basketball fixing scandals last March 17.

Wagman, 28, a convicted football fixer from New York, was indicted last April 27 on 37 counts of bribery and attempts to bribe college basketball players.

Hacken, 49, New York, was indicted May 24 on 17 counts of bribery and attempted bribery.

Twenty-nine players from 17 colleges from coast to coast have been involved in the current disclosures.

OAS Opens Up Trujillo Probe

CIUDAD TRUJILLO, Dominican Republic (AP)—A commission from the Organization of American States begins investigating today to see if Generalissimo Rafael L. Trujillo's heirs are making good on their promise to end oppression.

President Joaquin Balaguer, the slain dictator's hand-picked chief executive, named Leland Rosemberg as the Dominican Republic's liaison man with the OAS mission.

Rosemberg Optimistic

Rosemberg talked at length Wednesday night with one of the OAS team, Carlos A. Clulow of Uruguay. The two had been in Bonn together until 1958 as their governments' ambassadors to West Germany.

Rosemberg was optimistic later, saying: "We will develop a few things, they will develop a few things and then matters will materialize."

Augusto Arango, Panamanian ambassador in Washington and head of the 13 OAS investigators, said there was no time limit and he did not know when the investigation would be finished. His group is from Panama, Colombia, Uruguay and the United States.

The investigators will determine whether OAS sanctions imposed last summer — economic boycotts and breaks in diplomatic relations—are still justified. The Dominican government insists they are not.

Successors Busy

Since Trujillo's assassination May 30 after 31 years of rule, Balaguer and Gen. Rafael L. Trujillo Jr., made armed forces chief upon his father's death, have been busy trying to convince the rest of the Western Hemisphere that the Dominican Republic is now worthy of restored fellowship in the American community.

A government spokesman reported today that the once powerful and dreaded chief of military intelligence, John Abbes Garcia, left the country Wednesday after his army lieutenant colonelcy had been taken from him. Garcia was removed as intelligence chief some time ago. His destination was not disclosed.

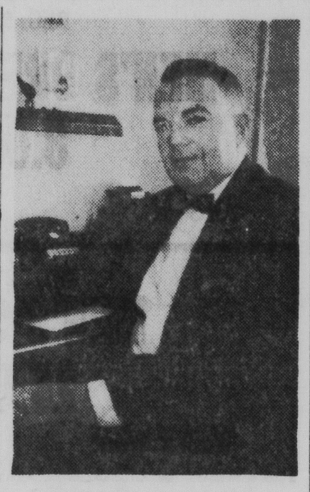
The government also freed the first prisoner under a new political amnesty plan. Sources said that once their legal papers have been signed, others would follow Jose Bosch Hermano out of prison. He is the brother of Juan Bosch, a well known opposition leader now living outside the country.

Elevator Anyone?

NEWPORT NEWS, Va. (AP) —You aren't crowded on the elevators of the Navy's new atomic-powered carrier Enterprise. Each of the four elevators has a surface more than 4,000 square feet in area—large enough for two average city lots. Built of aluminum to save weight, each weighs 105 tons and contains one and a quarter miles of aluminum beams one to ten feet deep.

St. David, the patron of Wales, kept himself alive during long periods of fasting by eating leeks, an onion-like plant. The leek is now the national emblem of Wales.

The average baby uses about 5,000 diapers a year; some may use as many as 7,000.



HOWARD I. SPAULDING

Awarded Patent For Controlled Pouring Spout

Experiencing some trouble while trying to fill a power mower with gas two years ago has led to a U. S. Patent for a Kingston man.

Howard I. Spaulding of Lakeview Avenue told The Freeman today he has been notified that U. S. Patent No. 2,986,310, was issued to him as of May 30, 1961, for his controlled flow pouring spout product.

Spaulding, who has a legion of friends in the sports circles of Kingston, explains his product as one that will allow a person to transfer liquids of any consistency from a larger container of any size to even a small bottle, drop by drop, if necessary, with a free flow and no air interference.

The local inventor reports that his product, cost-wise, should be in a class with the 5 and 10 cent store trade. He evisions a demand exceeding at least 150 million annually when it is firmly established.

Signer of the U. S. Patent, with full protection for 17 years, was David L. Ladd, U. S Commissioner of Patents.

Spaulding is a former president of the Kingston Bowling Association and is now a life member of that organization.

Driver Suspended

VERNON, N.Y. (AP)—Edward Miller of The Bronx drew a three-day suspension today from judges at Vernon Downs harness track for alleged carless driving in the fifth race Wednesday night.

While driving Contour, the judges said, Miller veered out and forced Daydream, driven by Richard Huber, to go off gait.

Contour finished third and Daydream sixth in the race, won by Abbe Run.

Miller, suspended from today through Saturday, will be eligible to drive again Monday night.

'Rock' Dehumanized

MARQUETTE, Mich. (AP)—Stannard Rock lighthouse, often referred to as the "lonliest" outpost in the United States, will be converted to automatic operation shortly after the opening of the 1961 navigation system.

Resident personnel no longer will be required to man the lighthouse which is 45 miles north of here in Lake Superior.

The Coast Guard now assigns two men to the "rock."

Over Tractor Swap

Reply to Castro Coming Despite Dirksen Warning

DETROIT (AP)—The Tractors for Freedom Committee replies today to the terms under which Cuban Prime Minister Fidel Castro would trade 1,200 men for 500 machines despite a congressional leader's warning that it "will be getting on tenuous ground" if it attempts to negotiate wih Casro.

Walter P. Reuther, committee co-chairman and president of the United Auto Workers Union, said Wednesday the committee expected to have a reply ready to a cable from Castro in which the Cuban leader outlined his terms for the proposed tractors for prisoners trade. Reuther said no reply was made Wednesday because it was physically impossible to get the committee together.

Reuther said the committee felt Castro's terms "leave the way open for negotiations."

The committee was formed after Castro made an offer May 17 to trade prisoners captured in the ill-fated April invasion of Cuba for tractors.

Reuther said no decision had been made as to whether the committee would send a delegation to Cuba for a personal meeting as Castro specified in his message but observed later that it was doubtful he or any of the other leading committee members would travel to Havana for such a discussion.

Sees 'Tenuous Ground'

Senate Republican leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois said at Washington Wednesday night the committee members "will be getting on tenuous ground" if they go to Havana to discuss the deal.

Castro had said "the raising and negotiation of this problem cannot be made only by cable, and it is better that a delegation should be sent to Cuba. In this there should be one of the principal members of the committee, preferably Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt or Milton Eisenhower, whose names, because they are better known in the political spheres, would contribute to the solution of the matter."

Dirksen said that if the persons concerned accepted the Castro invitation they might run afoul of the Logan Act. The act bars individuals from dealing with foreign governments under specified circumstances. Kennedy administration officials contend the act is not involved in the tractor matter.

The committee was organized at the suggestion of President Kennedy. But the President also has said the U.S. government would take no part in any exchange, and Reuther has emphasized that Castro's cable has not been discussed with the President.

Think It Through

WHAT HAPPENED TO WHALE OIL?

It is generally a mistake for politicians to try to bolster up depressed areas or industries. History proves this over and over.

If an area or industry is depressed because of previously mistaken legislation, the law should be repealed. But if they become depressed for economic reasons, the politicians should keep hands off.

E. F. Hutton

Take whale oil. That industry was a great and necessary one down to about 1850. Whaling ships searched every sea. There was "no climate that was not witness to their toil; no sea not vexed with their ships."

Then came coal oil, or kerosene, and New Bedford and Nantucket became depressed areas. Government, however, kept hands off and whaling men and their sons found other jobs.

With the coming of natural gas, kerosene for lighting started a long decline despite more millions of homes. The smelly lamp gave way to the gas jet, which was soon obsoleted by electric light.

Suppose all these new industries had been taxed to keep the dying ones alive! Government kept hands off, and the free competition of better and cheaper products caused the most rapid technological progress in history.

Congress is now urged to legislate increased coal consumption by 100 million tons a year to relieve unemployment in the coal industry which has pushed wage scales to the highest levels in America. Congress can do that only at the cost of other industries and their employees.

Memoriam

What would I give to clasp his hand,
His happy face to see,
To hear his voice and see his smile,
That meant so much to me.

WIFE AND FAMILY

Memoriam

In memory of my dear husband, Raymond Barley, who left us one year ago, June 8, 1960:

Though his smile is gone forever,
And his face I cannot touch;
I shall ever lose sweet memories
Of one I loved so much.
The one I love was taken away,
God took him home; it was His will.
He is gone to his home in Heaven above,
But here on Earth I love him still.

Wilkin Rebukes Freedom Riders

JACKSON, Miss. (AP) — Nine more "Freedom Riders" sit idle in Jackson jails today following unsuccessful attempts to desegregate terminal facilities at an airport and a bus station.

For 16 days segregation-defying Freedom Riders have converged on Mississippi's capital with no intention of letting up. And Jackson city police have promptly arrested 81 Negroes and whites on breach of peace charges.

3 Come by Plane

Wednesday's airport terminal integration attempt was the first here and adds to one similar attempt on the train terminal and numerous attempts at bus terminals.

The latest group of arrivals were three airborne riders from the St. Louis area Wednesday. They were arrested almost immediately after their arrival by Delta Airline. All were Negroes.

Only hours earlier three whites and three Negroes were arrested following their arrival by bus from Nashville, Tenn., via Memphis.

The airborne integrationists were arrested after attempting to use dining and restroom facilities at Municipal Airport. The terminal waiting room isn't segregated, but the other facilities are.

Gwendolyn Jenkins, 21, of St. Louis, was arrested as she attempted to enter the white women's rest room, while Robert Jenkins, 27, also of St. Louis (no relation) was arrested when he sat down at a table in the for-whites-only restaurant. The third rider, Ralph Washington, 25, of the Webster Grove community near St. Louis, was standing at the door of the white men's restroom when arrested.

The first claim of open integration in Jackson was made Wednesday night by Charles Jones, dean of Campbell (Negro) College. He said seven Negro students Tuesday used whites-only seating and white drinking fountains at the city zoo.

NAACP Official Critical

In two separate statements Wednesday Roy Wilkins, executive secretary of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, indirectly rebuked the Freedom Riders.

Wilkins told newsmen in the afternoon that unconstitutional laws could not be overthrown by going to jail.

At a NAACP meeting Wednesday night Wilkins spelled out differences with other Negro organizations.

"We know that shock troops are necessary," he said. "We know that testing and challenging are necessary, but affirmative action by judicial, legislative and executive means is indispensable. This is still a nation of law."

Earlier in Chicago, the Rev. Richard Gleason, 24, white Baptist minister, denied published reports he intended to quit the Freedom Rides or that he said the movement was dominated by Communists and atheists.

The Rev. Mr. Gleason was arrested in Jackson last week. He was convicted on breach of peace charges and paid a fine of $197. At that time he said he was through with Freedom Riders.

Criticize Kennedy

In a lively session marked by several contests for office, the Republican group in a strongly worded resolution, criticized President Kennedy by asserting he "has willingly played into the conniving hands of the ruthless Castro, by encouraging American citizens to submit to undisguised blackmail by sending tractors and/or bulldozers, to strengthen the insulting Cuban nation in return for the release of political prisoners."

The resolution further indicated that the Young Republicans found such actions difficult to reconcile with the nation's recent Memorial Day tribute to those of many wars who fought to make the nation great. Copies of the resolution are to be sent to United States Senators Javits and Keating and to Congressman Wharton.

Commend Rockefeller

The group in another resolution, commended Governor Nelson A. Rockefeller for the recent appointment of Robert C. Shantz to the Advisory Council on Pensions to the State Civil Service Commission and further praising the Governor for his interest in bringing young people into the government of the State of New York.

Schantz is an active member of the Young Republicans and has served in several capacities with that group.

Clues Are Slim In Strangulation Of Georgia Women

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP) — Authorities worked today on slim clues to the apparent strangulation slaying of two Georgia women who dropped from sight early on Memorial Day. They had driven to Jacksonville to make a hunch bet on the dog races.

The partly unclothed bodies of Althea Ottavio, 43, and Patricia Ann Hewett, 25, were seen Wednesday from a helicopter in a palmetto and pine woods area southwest of the city.

The women had been dead several days.

Investigators from the sheriff's office said it appeared the women were throttled with their own clothing.

When the Valdosta, Ga., women drove the 122 miles to Jacksonville May 29, it was to be a lark celebrating Mrs. Ottavio's 43rd birthday that day and Mrs. Hewett's 26th birthday June 10.

Mrs. Ottavio, who was widowed in World War II, had a dream that led her to believe the 2-5 daily double would win at the Orange Park Kennel Club and planned to bet it.

The 2-5 daily double did win that night and paid $177 for $2. Investigators haven't learned if the women were there and bet on it.

Although Mrs. Ottavio often visited race tracks, it was a new experience for Mrs. Hewett, a native of Detroit, Mich.

She had never been on a long trip away from her husband, William Charles Hewett, since they were married in 1952. They had four children—the oldest 5 and the youngest 3 months.

Mrs. Ottavio's car was found May 31 along an unpaved road southwest of Jacksonville. It was stuck in soft sand.

Officers pulled the car in but then had no report of the women being missing.

It was not until Mrs. Hewett's husband came to Jacksonville Monday of this week that an intensive search began.

President Says U.S. Will Push For Neutral Laos

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy today declared this nation's intention to keep bargaining with the Soviet Union for a neutral and independent Laos under a cease-fire, and to strive further for a nuclear test ban.

Kennedy told a newspaper group this country has no intention of resuming atomic tests despite the disappointing outcome of his talks on that subject with Soviet Premier Khrushchev.

"For the present we are going to stay in Geneva (at the nuclear test negotiations), and stand by the draft treaty we have presented," Kennedy said.

Addressing a meeting of editor and publisher clients of United Press International, Kennedy said he wants the world to know that if a nuclear test ban, first step toward a more general disarmament, cannot be arrived at, it is not the fault of the United States.

As for Laos, Kennedy said if it is impossible to reach agreement on the relatively simple matter of working out an effective ceasefire, "then how difficult—if not impossible—it would be to reach agreement on any other question."

Troopers Probe Wurtsboro Fire

Trooper Robert Vasisko of the Wurtsboro state police was driving along Route 209 on night patrol about 5:30 a. m. today when he saw flames near fuel tanks at the Wurtsboro Oil Co.

The unidentified driver of a car ahead of the trooper sounded the alarm.

Trooper Vasisko saw a man walking rapidly along the road away from the scene of the blaze and picked him up for questioning.

State police reported late this morning that no arrest has been made but that the investigation is continuing.

The blaze, which was extinguished within 15 minutes, started on an oil saturated platform near the tanks which did not ignite. An oily film on valves beneath the platform was also touched off, as were two five-gallon oil cans.

The oil company is owned by James Dunn of Wurtsboro who is assistant chief of the fire company.

Duke of Kent, Commoner Wed

YORK, England (AP) — The dashing Duke of Kent today brought Miss Katharine Worsley —a country girl and a commoner —into the British royal family as his bride in Britain's wedding of the year.

Forty-six TV cameras recorded the service at the 1,334-year-old Anglican Cathedral, known as York minster. The service was attended by Queen Elizabeth II and a glittering guest list of foreign royalty.

The ceremony was performed by the Archbishop of York, Dr. William Ramsey.

It was the second consecutive wedding of a member of the royal family to a commoner. Princess Margaret, the queen's younger sister, married a commoner—Antony Armstrong-Jones—last year. The Duke of Kent, 25, is a cousin of the queen.

Preliminaries were plagued by intermittent rain and the wedding service had hardly been concluded when a hailstorm broke.

Outside the church a crowd suffered stoically through both the rain and the hail, determined to see as much as possible.

The bride, a fair-haired former tomboy with a turned-up nose, is the daughter of a well-to-do Yorkshire squire, Sir William Worsley. She is 28, three years senior to the duke.

lier in the week told Stevenson the most urgent hemispheric problem at the moment is the Dominican Republic. Betancourt reportedly expressed the conviction that the Castro government will eventually fall of its own weight.

Stevenson is understood to have told associates that whether the United States would move for a political meeting of the Organization of American States at this time depends upon the reaction of the countries he visits on his 18-day tour. The coolness to any action against Castro that he met in Venezuela an dhere in Argentina appears to have dimmed chances for any such meeting in the immediate future.

Khrushchev Gift From JFK Gentle Reminder as Well

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy has given Soviet Premier Khrushchev something to remember him by—a model of the historic U.S. frigate Constitution, a symbol of the nation's determination.

The ship, dubbed "Old Ironsides," played an important part in the War of 1812.

The White House disclosed that Kennedy, an old sailor and history buff, gave the 2½-foot model to Khrushchev during their talks at Vienna.

Nikita Louder

dation stone in American security.

Contends Dag Biased

United Nations — Khrushchev contended the U.N. actions in the Congo, under the direction of Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold, were not neutral but were pointed against Soviet interests. Never again, he said, would the Soviet Union be placed in a position where its national security policies could be interfered with by the international organization.

This was the beginning, he indicated of the "troika" policy under which the Soviets would insist that the unanimous vote of a three-man board—on which the East, West and a neutral would be represented—direct the actions of international commissions, including the United Nations.

Says Castro Not Communist

Cuba—Khrushchev does not regard Castro as a Communist. But he told Kennedy "you are well on the way to making him a good one." The Soviet leader indicated he regards Castro as unstable.

Laos — Khrushchev said he wasn't interested in trying to make the Laotian government Communist. He would be glad to settle for a neutral regime. Kennedy asked if the Soviet leader would help get the Geneva conference on Laos off the ground and he promised to do so.

Talks About Wars

Wars — Khrushchev said there were three kinds. He predicted that there will never be a nuclear war. He drew a rough map of the Soviet Union's land mass, fringed with satellites. If it is a conventional war, he said, "we will put five divisions where you put one."

The third kind was a "holy" war of peoples trying to overthrow tyrannical governments. Though he denied that the Soviet Union would give active backing in these, he said the Soviets will support such movements.

Nuclear Testing — Khrushchev stuck firmly by his demand for "troika" control. Kennedy got the definite impression the Soviet leader is not interested in having any test ban and shows no alarm about the possible proliferation of weapons to other nations, including Communist China.

Reports on DeGaulle

Kennedy also reported, more briefly, on his "very satisfactory" conversations with French President Charles de Gaulle. They talked in frank and cordial language.

De Gaulle wants his own nuclear force because he fears that in a showdown the United States might not defend Paris. He argued that times have changed radically since the North Atlantic Treaty Organization was formed.

Then, he said, the United States had a monopoly on nuclear weapons. Now, he went on, that monopoly is gone and the United States is committed to defend Kennedy replied that the United States is commited to defend France and would do so. He could accept that so far as Kennedy was concerned, De Gaulle said, but what about the American President's successor? He said he had to take the long range view in thinking of France's safety.

Reaction to Plea

he said, the Peace Corps already has requests for more than 4,000 Americans to work in just eight countries.

He added: "I am convinced that 50,000 jobs need filling—and they need filling now—in the 103 underdeveloped areas of the world."

Would Fill Them Now

He urged business and industry leaders to clear the way for "trained and aggressive people" — from top-level administrators and technicians to secretaries—to take two-year leaves of absence to work with the Peace Corps and assure them of re-employment benefits on their return.

He urged labor unions to provide the skilled manpower from its ranks without penalizing their re-employment rights.

SUCCESSFUL INVESTING...

ROGER E. SPEAR

No Extra Tipping for The Broker's Services

Q) "Because of my broker's recommendation, I made a nice short term profit in a stock. Does he deserve a 'tip' for his advice? If so, how much?" H. L.

A) Brokers are definitely not to be tipped for their services. Regulations of the investment business forbid the acceptance of gratuities as well as the sharing of profits in customers' accounts. The normal commission is ample payment for your broker's help. Anything extra might mean the loss of his job.

Q) "I am now alone—in my 60's and own my home free of mortgage. I have income of $100 a month. Unable to work, I am struggling to pay from present dividends $5,000 borrowed to pay for my husband's last illness. I own General Motors, Sinclair, Texas Gulf Sulphur, Socony, Kennecott, McCrory, 100 A. T. & T. and some Consolidated Edison. I'd like to increase my capital by selling some stock—say Kennecott or Texas Gulf—and purchase a low-cost stock with good possibilities of appreciation. What do you advise?" L. I.

A) With one exception, I advise you to sit tight. I have the very deepest sympathy and understanding for your lonely position, but I don't believe you should try for gains in low-priced stocks at the possible risk of your capital.

Your list as it is now constituted is a pretty good one, with better than average yield and moderate appreciation prospects. Kennecott is an excellent stock in its group; the price of copper has been raised and will probably be raised again; and these shares appear to me to be headed for higher prices. I believe your capital invested in Kennecott will increase in value substantially over the next 12 months, and I would not switch at present levels.

Texas Gulf Sulphur is a different story. There is a limited outlook here, in my opinion, and I think you might well switch this stock into California Electric Power at about the same price level. Your yield would be little impaired and I believe your growth outlook would be definitely improved. From the standpoint of security, you'd be better off, too.

Sparkman Sees Senate Approval Of Housing Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate administration forces predicted today they would be able to beat off all attacks on the $6.19 billion housing bill after victories in initial tests.

Sen. John Sparkman, D-Ala., floor manager for the measure, said it now was over the hump. He forecast final passage without substantial change.

The Senate finally got around to voting on major amendments Wednesday, the fourth day of debate. It turned down three proposed important Republican changes on mostly party-line divisions.

Several more amendments were pending, but Sparkman said he believed a voting pattern had been established.

Wednesday's key roll call was on an attempt by Sen. Homer E. Capehart, R-Ind., to knock out of the bill one section of the new moderate income family housing program advanced by the administration.

This was beaten 50 to 41. Sparkman said he believed this would be the bill's closest call.

The section would authorize below-market-rate government loans with interest as low as 3⅛ per cent, to non-profit groups to build rental apartments for families in the $4,000-$6,000 income bracket.

Firemen Distribute Identification Decals

Seeking a method of locating invalids in burning homes faster, the Wallkill Fire Department is distributing uniform identification stickers which will alert the first units at the scene of a fire to that fact that a helpless person resides in the building.

Fire Chief John Washburn would like to have the decals placed on the front door or some other prominent place in front of the house. The markers will prove invaluable, with new families moving in this locality and new men joining the fire department he said. Faster rescues can be made when the emblems are spotted by firemen who might not otherwise know someone is in the building.

Any family can obtain the markers by contacting Chief Washburn.

Aborigines Increasing

DARWIN, Australia (AP) — The native aborigines — often called a "dying race"—are increasing in Australia's Northern Territory. Welfare Director Harry Giese told the Legislative Council the Territory's native population is 16,000. But, he added, the birthrate indicates there would be 18,000 by 1965 and 26,000 by 1980. There are some 40,000 full blood aborigines in Australia today, compared with an estimated 350,000 when the white man arrived in 1788.

FOOD FOR AMERICANS

Barbecued Lobster Is Man's Favorite

HERE'S something for the head barbecuer of the house to try his culinary skill at: outdoor grilled rock lobster tails.

GAYNOR MADDOX
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

We've found that men like to barbecue rock lobster on the outdoor grill. Also that not only the men but the women and children like to eat them. And here's the trick: Let frozen rock lobster tails defrost in refrigerator or outdoors. When thawed, use kitchen shears to cut away thin underside membrane. Grasp tail firmly in both hands and bend backward toward shell side to "crack" shell in several places.

Or insert skewers through entire tail to prevent curling. Brush flesh with basting sauce and place on grill over hot coals. Barbecue 5 minutes on flesh side; turn; grill shell side another 5 to 10 minutes, basting top once or twice more. Lobster is done when meat has just turned creamy white and opaque. Serve with cucumber-horseradish sauce.

BASTING SAUCE FOR SOUTH AFRICAN ROCK LOBSTER

- 3 tablespoons olive oil
- ¼ pound butter, melted
- 1 teaspoon paprika
- 1 tablespoon Worcestershire sauce
- Juice 2 lemons
- Salt
- Pepper
- 2 tablespoons brandy, if desired

Blend all ingredients together and keep warm in small pan on grill.

CUCUMBER-HORSERADISH DIP SAUCE

- 2 cucumbers
- 1 cup mayonnaise
- 4 teaspoons prepared horseradish
- 2 teaspoons chopped chives
- ½ teaspoon salt
- Dash red pepper

Peel cucumbers and remove seeds. Grate or chop very fine; drain off liquid. Should be 1 cup or a little more. Mix with rest of ingredients and blend well. Stand in refrigerator in covered jar for 1 to 2 hours to blend flavors.

Why is it people never get so old they can't learn something foolish?

For men who love sharp cheddar
(and women who love them)

As far as we know, MacLaren's Imperial is the oldest brand of cheddar sold in North America, or maybe the world. In Canada, that able Scotsman, the late Mr. Alex MacLaren, started marketing this truly sharp club cheddar (in opal glass pots!) about 1891. When we bought the thriving MacLaren business in 1921 we discontinued the "pots," but never, never changed the quality of the cheddar one whit. Now we're proud to offer it, in a handy new 10-oz. stick, to all devotees of genuinely sharp cheddar. Kraft Foods, Chicago.

P.S. Please bear in mind this is natural cheese, not processed. "Club" simply means that ~~long-long aged cheddars~~ have been blended together so they're SPREADABLE.

Kennedy Suffers New Back Injury

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy has been suffering from a new back injury since May 16, the White House disclosed today.

There is no serious concern, it was said officially.

Kennedy kept the injury secret from members of his staff.

It was known, of course, to his personal physician, Dr. Janet Travell.

White House press secretary Pierre Salinger said there is no connection between Kennedy's present back trouble and that from which he had suffered previously and for which he underwent a delicate operation several years ago.

Kennedy suffered the new injury in Ottawa May 16, the first day of his Canadian trip.

It occurred when he was lifting several spades of dirt while planting a tree at Government House, residence of Canada's governor general.

Salinger called reporters into his office to tell them about the injury. He said Kennedy would appear today on crutches.

But, even as Salinger was talking with reporters, the President telephoned Salinger to say he would not use crutches today but would wait at least another day to see how he felt.

Salinger disclosed that Kennedy did use crutches for two days while at Hyannis Port, Mass. This was just prior to his trip to Paris, Vienna and London.

Salinger said Dr. Travell described the injury as a lumbosacral strain.

Roll out leftover dough from pie and cut out small circles. Fill with a mixture of currant jelly and chopped nuts and fold over and seal in turnover style. Bake in a hot oven.

Big Electric Utility Beacon Will Focus Attention on Fair

The greatest concentration of light ever beamed straight up into the sky will be generated from the proposed Tower of Light exhibit building to be erected for the 1964-65 New York World's Fair by the nation's electric utility industry.

Ernest R. Acker, board chairman of the Central Hudson Gas and Electric Corporation and president of Power and Light Exhibit, Inc., the organization that will construct and operate the industry's exhibit, told more than 3500 delegates to the 29th annual convention of the Edison Electric Institute yesterday of plans for the Tower of Light which will be visible from Washington, D. C. to Boston.

Acker told the convention delegates at the Waldorf Astoria Hotel in New York City that the 24-billion candlepower beacon eminating from the industry's 80-foot high rainbow-colored building will help focus the public mind on the exhibit and on the fair itself.

Must Meet Competition

Acker referred to Fair President Robert Moses' statement that 'the Fair will be not only a place to exhibit....but a forum in which national ambition and ideologies are....promoted. We must be prepared not only to meet the challenges of the nations of the Free World, but also the competition of Soviet Russia and its satellites who will make every effort to prove in this world forum that they are at the very forefront of progress, and that their totalitarian system is capable of doing more and better things for mankind than our democratic system of enterprise. This is the kind of competition that the ingenuity, training, energy and ability of American industry must meet.'

The utility executive stated that "as representatives of the investor-owned electric utility companies in America, we are well aware of our industry's essential role in preserving and developing our national strength and our free society, and are, therefore, particularly fitted to take up the opportunity and the challenge offered by this great promotional enterprise."

Has Seven Themes

Acker, who is a past president and is currently a director of the Edison Electric Institute, reported that the industry's exhibit will have seven general display themes. "First, a dramatic presentation will show the great abundance in electric power supply which the nation enjoys, and various aspects of the system which produces and distributes energy. Second, the story of research, development and growth will be presented from Edison's initial pioneering contributions to the great power pools of today.

"Third, displays will cover the price record indicating how the industry's development, under government regulation, has resulted over the years in a remarkable record of lower prices per kilowatt-hour despite inflation and increasing costs of labor, material and supplies. Fourth, the uses of electric energy will be shown in a major portion of the exhibit, with the exciting examples of applications in the home, on the farm, and in industry and commerce.

To Stress Financing

"Fifth, financing the industry's growth in the free market will be given significant attention. Included will be displays on the industry's annual investment in new facilities and how it affects various phases of the economy, on the ownership of the industry, and on its tax contributions to all levels of government.

"Sixth, America's power supply compared with the rest of the world will form the basis of another category of displays, showing in different ways the electrical leadership position of the United States.

"Finally, a group of displays will be concerned with the industry's plans for the future, including what is expected from research and development" in many fields.

Acker stated "our basic purpose will be to make sure that when a visitor leaves our building, he is convinced as never before that our industry is vitally concerned with his well-being and that we can be counted on to continue to provide the best in electric service for his benefit now and in the future."

Bridge Collapses At Prattsville; 6 Reported Hurt

Five workmen and another, believed to be a construction company superintendent were reported injured Tuesday afternoon when the iron and concrete bridge over Batavia Kill at Prattsville, Greene County, collapsed during reconstruction work on the short span.

News reporters experienced some difficulty in obtaining the names of those injured, however none are believed to be from Ulster County.

State Public Works Department said the bridge platform was being raised to a new support and the support may have failed causing the span to collapse and throwing a number of workmen into the creek near Red Falls.

Two of the injured in the area are Arthur Rideout of RD 2, Germantown, and Charles Hatfield of RD 1, Ghent, both Columbia County. Both were admitted to Greene County Memorial Hospital, Catskill.

'Coffin' Launcher Destroyed When Atlas Blows Up

VANDENBERG AIR FORCE BASE, Calif. (AP) —A recently completed "coffin" launcher—and the only one of its kind nearing combat readiness—was destroyed when an Atlas intercontinental missile blew up on its pad.

Observers heard two, and possibly three, sharp blasts as the powerful new "series E" Atlas disintegrated Wednesday amid sheets of orange flame. The missile was intended to soar 4,000 miles out over the Pacific.

There were no reports of injuries and the Air Force offered no detailed explanation of the blast.

The launcher was valued at $2 million. It was part of a complex of coffin-type launchers here wherein the missiles are stored underground on their sides, protected by a sliding hangar from attack or sabotage. On signal, the hangar slides back and the missile is raised for fueling and firing.

Officials said the explosion would cause an indefinite delay in making the improved type of missile launcher operational.

Downtown Man Is Held on Charges Involving Child

Police said the age of the girl involved was 15. The arrest was by Lt. Lemuel Howard, Detective Albert Hutton, and Officer Otto Short.

Credentials Returned

TEHRAN, Iran (AP) —Prime Minister Ali Amini today reinstated the working credentials of Associated Press correspondent Parvis Raein.

Raein's credentials were lifted a week ago after he quoted striking telegraph workers as saying several of them were injured when police and troops broke up their strike.

The government denied any workers were injured and accused Raein of fabrication.

PHOENICIA NEWS

Bookmobile Given To Local Library

PHOENICIA — At a regular dinner-meeting of the Phoenicia Rotary Club at the Phoenicia Hotel last Thursday evening, a new bookmobile for the Town of Shandaken was dedicated.

Samuel Goldstein, transportation superintendent for the Consolidated Laundries, handed the keys to the truck over to Rotary President Rudy Frank who, in turn presented them to Martin Rubin, president of the Phoenicia Library Association.

Mr. Rubin, who is also a Rotarian, had written to Mr. Goldstein at the request of the club, and Consolidated Laundries officers decided to donate the truck.

Prior to last Thursday's official sendoff, the donated truck had been repainted and "Phoenicia Library Bookmobile" in old English lettering had been printed on each side. The walk-in vehicle will be outfitted with cork flooring, lighting and shelves by the Phoenicia Rotary Club.

The official committees from area libraries, including Woodstock, Olive and West Hurley were guests at the dedication dinner.

Harold Harlan, director of the Mid-Hudson Libraries of which Phoenicia and other named libraries are members was the principal speaker. Mr. Harlan, who came here from Michigan where he directed a large public library, praised the library system in New York State as being "unique" and setting a "pattern" for the other states.

Harlan, who holds a master's degree in library science, said that of the 55 small libraries in the area, 43 are now members of the Mid-Hudson Libraries.

Delightful Topping

Cream cheese makes a delightful topping for hot gingerbread if you whip it with confectioners sugar, grated lemon rind and a little lemon juice. Old-fashioned American cooks often coupled the lemond flavor with spices.

Weekly Food Review

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Leg of lamb and chuck roast offer the housewife the best opportunity to beat the high cost of living this week, judging by supermarket and grocery store advertisements.

Supplies Cut Prices

Increased supplies of most meats have resulted in lower prices in many areas in recent weeks. The outlook is for further boosts in volume and more reductions at the meat counters.

This week's specials in lamb turn up in New England, the East, Midwest and Far West.

Chuck roast is a headline attraction in New England, the South and Midwest. Other beef cuts, notably top and bottom round roasts, also are featured in a number of places.

Eggs are climbing, with markups over last week of 2 to 10 cents a dozen.

Bargain hunters can find a bewildering variety of fresh fruits and vegetables at produce counters these days. This is chiefly due to an increasing number of items just in from nearby farms.

Produce men say the best vegetable buys are asparagus, corn, green onions, radishes, rhubarb, spinach, lettuce, potatoes, squash and assorted cooking greens such as collards, mustard greens and turnip tops.

Other Good Buys

Good buys included beets, cabbage, carrots, celery, escarole, mushrooms, onions, parsley, peppers and watercress.

Oranges, grapefruit, strawberries, bananas and, for a tropical flavor, mangoes are rated as outstanding buys. Good buys are watermelon, cantaloup, honeydew melons, peaches, blueberries, lemons and plums.

Good Deal Sours

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP) — A Tucson man had a two-way business deal going until police stepped in. Ceciro Rakestraw, 62, was contracted to haul farm workers to and from their jobs. On the way home each night, officers said, Rakestraw would sell his passengers wine for one dollar a pint. He had purchased the liquor for half that price. Rakestraw was charged with selling liquor without a permit.

Today's Business Mirror

By SAM DAWSON

AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — Businessmen are talking up optimism. But most of them appear to be acting with what they regard as all due caution.

Consumers in general seem to be following the same tack. They feel a lot better about the outlook for the economy and their own pocketbooks. But they are spending, and going into debt, at close to their old pace as set in more uncertain days.

Consumers Pay Debts

That's how the latest flood of statistics seems to add up after reading the host of predictions—and most forecasts are optimistic.

Retail sales have yet to respond to the new confidence most Americans are said to feel. Consumers are busier paying off old debts than taking on new instalment credit.

Businessmen are ordering better than in the dark days of winter. But so far they are building up their inventories only slightly, apparently with a keen eye for actual sales as well as for prospects. Perhaps they are waiting now to see how much of a summer lull we'll have.

Plant Expansion Slow

And in spite of all the talk about a sound recovery under way—and even talk of a possible new boom—industrialists haven't stepped up their plans for expansion of plant and equipment, trimmed when recession was the chief concern. Total spending this year still seems likely to trail 1960 by about 3 per cent.

But when you've said that—and added the somber view of international affairs that President Kennedy has expressed after his talks with Soviet Premier Khrushchev—you've about said the worst.

Steel Output Rises

Steel output, aided by auto makers' orders, has risen — although the rise is most likely to be interrupted by a summer slowdown in metal using industries.

The nation's total output of goods and services was under a $500-billion annual rate in the first three months of 1961. But the spring recovery is leading Washington pundits to forecast that the April-June figure may reach a $510-billion annual rate.

Stocks at Old Level

So far the optimism seems to have been turned into terms of cash largely in the manufacturing sector of the economy. Not only is industrial output up, but largely in the manufacturing sector of the economy. Manufacturing inventories were built up by $100 million in April. Wholesale and retail stocks were kept at the old level, on a wait-and-see basis apparently.

Much of this is natural when the economy turns from recession to recovery. Manufacturing had suffered the most, cut its stocks back the most, stood greatest in the need of building up again.

All along the line then, there is still caution—confidence, but no splurging.

We The Women

Want to Understand Women? Here's How

So you don't understand women—your wife included. Well, maybe that's because you assume a woman means exactly what she says. But a woman seldom does. For instance:

● "I'll be ready in just a minute" means "Relax, putting on my face is going to take a while—but it will be worth it."

● "She's attractive—if you like the type" implies, "Does anybody?"

● "She's so young looking for her age" isn't a compliment. It's a tip-off that she's not as young as she wants everybody to think she is.

● "I had the most wonderful luck today" nearly always leads up to the disclosure that a wife has been a bit extravagant and is building up her buy as the bargain of the year.

● "I'd love to have it, but (sigh) it's too expensive." That doesn't mean she has given up the idea. It is just a come-on that is supposed to make her husband automatically respond with, "If it's what you want, get it.

● "I'm devoted to Marcia but . . ." Pay no attention to the "I'm devoted" routine—just listen for what follows the pause after that "but" and you'll find out how she really feels about Marcia.

● "Do you really like my hat?" That isn't a question—it's a command for you to be reassuring.

● "Of course, I'm not mad. It's just that—" It is just that she is burned up at you, that's all.

● "Now don't say a word until I've finished." You'd better sit own before you hear the rest of this. It's going to be bad news, for sure.

Canine to Stay

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP) — Mrs. Dorothy Lambert has discovered that getting rid of uninvited canine guests is no easy matter—especially if the dog is a stranger in town.

After finding a stubborn Irish-setter on the front porch of her home, she called police, who referred her to the local animal shelter.

Officials there said they could not touch the dog because it wore an Albany dog license and therefore was out of their jurisdiction. Mrs. Lambert decided she might as well keep the dog until someone claimed it.

Root Is Favored For Bank Post By Rockefeller

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—Oren L. Root, a New York City lawyer, is Gov. Rockefeller's choice to be the new state superintendent of banks, it was reported today.

Root, who had been a political adviser to the governor, would succeed G. Russell Clark, whose resignation was announced yesterday—the first resignation among Rockefeller's department heads.

Clark is expected to become chairman and chief executive officer of the Commercial Bank of North America.

Root, 49, formerly served as a special assistant to Rockefeller for federal and interstate relations. He is a grandson of the late Elihu Root, who was secretary of state under President Theodore Roosevelt and a U.S. senator from New York State.

Root is a graduate of Princeton and the University of Virginia law school.

In 1940 he headed the Associated Willkie Clubs of America.

Crushed by Dozer

CAMBRIDGE, N.Y. (AP) — Albert F. Snow, 29, of Salem, Washington County, was killed Wednesday when crushed between a bulldozer he was operating and a foundation. Snow had been digging a basement under a house that had been raised up on blocks.

SNAPPY—In Japan as in our own country, the old stereotype of the farmer seems to have vanished. Tetsunobu Masaki, above, looks more like a photographer than what he is, an apprentice farmer come to the U.S. to study our methods. He was one of 58 top agricultural students selected and was photographed as he arrived in San Francisco.

AHRC Merger Is Voted at Annual Spring Session

Consolidation of the Association for the Help of Retarded Children Inc., comprised of all chapters in the state excepting New York City, and the New York Association for Retarded Children Inc., was approved at the State AHRC Southeast Regional Spring Conference on June 3.

Mrs. Donovan Buehring, of Kingston, member of the State Board of Governors of the State AHRC, represented the Ulster County Chapter at the conference held at the Carnegie International Center, New York City.

35 Chapters Unite

The merger combines the powerful New York City Chapter, first chapter founded within the state and largest in membership, with 34 other chapters.

The new name of the consolidated organization adopted by the conferees will be the New York State Association for Retarded Children, Inc., if approved by the Supreme Court. The action of the conference unifies and strengthens the 35 chapters in the state by creating one statewide organization, which will be governed by the incumbent Board of Governors of the State association.

Development Is Outlined

Highlighting the conference was a talk by Dr. Cyrus Stimson, a member of the research team at Letchworth Village, Thiells, who outlined most recent developments in the field of research in mental retardation.

The speaker noted that the latest research has centered around areas including, biology, chemistry, genetics, bacteriology, virology, physiology and drug therapy.

About 50 per cent of the known cases of mental retardation, the speaker termed "undifferentiated" — not attributed to any specific disease or cause. Based on recent strides in scientific research Dr. Stimson predicts 20 per cent of the so-called "unidifferentiated" cases will be specifically diagnosed within the near future.

Prevention Is Aim

Present emphasis in research is on the prevention of mental retardation, the speaker said. He noted that startling and hopeful fact is that some causes formerly unknown respond to relatively simple treatment.

Among numerous causes of mental retardation amenable to modern preventative measures cited by Dr. Stimson was a chemical inbalance within an infant which produces serious brain damage and can be controlled by special diet.

Writer Jumps Bail, Faced Drug Charge

NEW YORK (AP)—Police today sought a Scottish writer, Alexander Trocchi, for failure to stand trial on charges of illegally possessing narcotics.

A warrant for Trocchi's arrest was issued Wednesday on the ground he jumped $1,000 bail and fled to his native Scotland rather than face trial on the narcotics charge. He had pleaded innocent.

Trocchi, 34, wrote the novel "Cain's Book." It told of drug addicts.

A Moment Musical

Worker Laid Off While Strike On Gets Jobless Pay

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—A court decision that a worker should get immediate unemployment insurance benefits although laid off during a strike is a victory for labor, the State AFL-CIO claims.

Harold C. Hanover, president of the state labor organization, said the Court of Appeals decision 'clearly defines what is and is not a single establishment in an industrial dispute."

The state's highest court ruled recently that Charles Curatalo, who was laid off by the F. L. Heughes Co. of Rochester during a strike in 1958, was entitled to immediate benefits.

Under the unemployment-insurance law, a striking worker must wait seven weeks before collecting the jobless pay benefits.

The International Association of Bridge, Structural and Ornamental Iron Workers struck the firm June 16, 1958.

Pickets were set up at the company's construction sites but none were sent to a fabricating plant, where Curatalo and two other members of the union were employed. The three were laid off in a production cut back.

Why We Say--

MIXED UP: We use this expression to designate something that is all mixed up. Although it seems modern, "garbled" is a word that is over 100 years old. It started in London when the city appointed inspectors called garblers to see that spices and drugs were not mixed in stores.

Asks Church Action In Blighted Areas

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP)—The superintendent of the Buffalo district of the Methodist's Genesee Conference has called for church action in downtown city areas to abate the deterioration in those sections.

The Rev. Dean E. Richardson said Wednesday the modern city lacks coheson because "it no longer has a heart."

He told delegates to the conference's 152nd annual session:

"Unless we renew forces of positive, creative character at the center, our cities will continue to decay and deteriorate."

Music Hall Director Dies

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP) — Mrs. Winifred Eaton Corey, director of Kleinhans Music Hall for 21 years, died Wednesday night in Millard Fillmore Hospital after a brief illness. She was 62.

She was the widow of Fred D. Corey, president of the Niagara, Lockport and Ontario Power Co.

Mrs. Corey was the daughter of the late New Jersey Congressman Charles Aubrey Eaton.

Says Wagner Must Drop Machine to Get Liberal Help

NEW YORK (AP)—Leaders of the Liberal Party say Democratic Mayor Robert F. Wagner has no chance of getting the party's support for reelection unless he runs "independent of machine domination."

Alex Rose, state vice chairman of the Liberal Party and its chief spokesman, added:

"A new Wagner who will give hope for an independent, vigorous administration is within the realm of possibility."

Rose made the statement Wednesday night after a meeting of his party's policy committee.

Rose said the Liberal Party considers Wagner to be pro-labor and a liberal and he continued: "There is no doubt of Mayor Wagner's honesty. The question is the degree of vigor, efficiency and independence which the mayor will exercise in a future administration."

The policy committee named a subcommittee "to confer with the mayor and to find out if he is a candidate and who his running mates will be," Rose said.

A newsman asked Rose about Atty. Gen. Louis J. Lefkowitz, designated by the city's Republican leaders as the GOP candidate for mayor at the November election.

Rose replied that Lefkowitz "is a good public servant and we think well of him."

Rose added that this feeling will not change even if the Liberal Party does not support Lefkowitz in the campaign.

"Maybe we'll have our own third ticket," Rose said.

Morhouse Notes Savings to State Under GOP Rule

NEW YORK (AP)—Republican State Chairman L. Judson Morhouse said today that action by Gov. Rockefeller and the GOP-controlled legislature will produce savings of $230,700,000 this year.

Morhouse's remarks were in a statement issued prior to a series of Republican meetings today to be climaxed by the annual State Republican Committee $100-a-plate dinner in the Hotel Waldorf-Astoria.

He said $188,500,000, or 81 per cent of the total, "represents savings for income tax payers."

The saving, he said, "comes in conjunction with a balanced budget, sound pay-as-you-go financing and a record-high total of $823 million in state aid for schools in the 1961-62 school year."

$5 Million Will May Be Appealed Is Rule

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—The survivors of a Glens Falls woman had court permission today to appeal a decision that gave $5 million to the Metropolitan Museum of Art.

The Appellate Division of State Supreme Court, third department, held Wednesday that two nieces and a grand-nephew of Mrs. Helen E. Foulds may appeal her will to the Court of Appeals the state's highest.

The court decided March 28 that the museum in New York City was entitled under the will to the bulk of Mrs. Foulds's estate of $5,141,949.

Mrs. Foulds, who died in 1958, inherited her fortune from her father, Jeremiah T. Finch, a lumber and paper magnate.

Mrs. Jane Bayle Brogan of Sarasota, Fla., Mrs. Jere Finch Cleeves of Sao Paulo, Brazil, and Rolfe F. Schell of Fort Myers, Fla., asked court permission to appeal the decision.

COSMETICIAN FOR PAGEANT—Makeup for the Miss New York State Pageant 1962 scheduled here July 6, 7 and 8 by the Kingston Junior Chamber of Commerce, will again be under direction of Louise Wallace, former model who is cosmetician at the United Cut Rate Pharmacy, Wall Street. This was announced by Frank Reis, pageant producer. More than 25 contestants from throughout the state will compete for the Miss New York State crown and the $2,500 in scholarship awards to be presented by Pepsi Cola Bottlers Association.

Aims of Area Surveys Could Simulate Others

By CHARLES R. DOUGLAS
Freeman Staff Writer

Hail suppression research in Colorado, says Dr. Schleusener, who headed the program, was aimed first at determining if cloud seeding was effective in reducing hail intensity along with determining the effect of seeding on precipitation amounts, and learning something of the physical processes involved in hail occurrences.

It is to be assumed that a similar project in the Hudson Valley would have much the same objectives, and that procedure would be much the same if not identical.

Seven major phases of procedure were listed by Dr. Schleusener in his report on the 1959 research program as conducted concurrently with the hail suppression program of the Weather Modification Company.

Had Cooperation

Information was obtained, he said, in areas involved through cooperators who "were requested to report hail occurrences by mail, giving location, time of occurrence, size distribution of hail, and concurrent weather phenomena including precipitation amounts. A total of 389 reports of hail occurrences of this type were received between May 15 and September 15, 1959."

More information came through examination of some 250 hail indicating devices in and near the target area. A total of 358 indicators that had been damaged by hail over the same period were examined, and reports on daily precipitation amounts were received by mail from 92 contributors.

The Weather Modification Company supplied information on locations and times of ground generator operation, and routes and times of seeding by aircraft.

Information on the amount and type of hail damage to sugar beets between 1929 and 1958 was obtained from the Ovid, Sterling and Fort Morgan districts of the Great Western Sugar Company, and reports on precipitation and other weather phenomenon were obtained from the U. S. Weather Bureau observations in and near the area.

Got Crop Data

Other information was collected on the value of certain crops produced in the area for preliminary economic analyses of the potential benefits of hail reduction or for precipitation increases. Damage by hail to the indicators and mailed-in reports of hail occurence, he said, were interpreted in terms of energy input per unit area. This was accomplished by theoretical analysis and laboratory calibration."

At the time of the study, he said, "it was emphasized a one-year study would probably not provide irrefutable proof of effects of a given magnitude resulting from the cloud seeding program. However, it was considered likely that a one-year study would give some indication as to the probable type of effect being produced."

In dealing with analysis records from the sugar company covering periods of 1937 to 1939 and 1946 to 1958, he said, indicated an annual damage to beets of the heavy damage category of 15 per cent, and he estimated that a loss in winter wheat would be about the same. Production losses, he noted, showed an average annual loss in three Colorado counties of $15,000,000 in winter wheat in the period from 1948 to 1957. He presented figures to indicate that if the cost of a hail suppression program annually in the three counties would cost $65,000, and it cut hail damage by about 2.5 per cent, the reduction in dollar loss in wheat alone would be equal to the cost of the seeding program.

Woodstock Area News

LISA TIANO, Correspondent

Merger of Woodstock Press, Onteora Record Set June 15

The merger of the Onteora Record and the Woodstock Press, effective Thursday, June 15, was announced jointly today by Thor Krogh, publisher of the Record and Maurice F. Hamilton, publisher of the Press.

The amalgamation of the two newspapers will give the combined Record and Press the largest circulation of any weekly in Ulster County and afford greatly extended news coverage throughout the townships of Woodstock, Olive and Shandaken and as far south as Stone Ridge and High Falls.

Krogh and Hamilton will be co-publishers of the combined weekly with Mrs. Irene Krogh business manager and Paul M. Hamilton advertising manager.

The business office of the combined Record and Press will be at the present site of the Woodstock Press. The newspaper also will be printed and published in the Woodstock Press plant.

Erik Donaldson Wins 1st Prize In Science Fair

Another member of the Donaldson family of Ohayo Mountain Road in Woodstock has won first place honors at the Mid-Hudson School Study Science Fair held recently at the State College of Education at New Paltz.

Erik Donaldson, a fourth grade student at the central building, took first place in Area VI for his project illustrating the refraction of light.

Erik's older brother, Sven, won first place honors in 1959 and again in 1960.

Five other Onteora elementary students won honors at the Science Fair.

Second place honors in Area III went to Brian Walsh, a fifth grader at the central building. Brian's project illustrated the use of a safety fuse.

Brian Martin, a fourth grade student at the West Hurley School took third place for his demonstration of a telegraph key. Also a third place winner was Carol Knight, a sixth grader at the central building. Her project, in Area II, illustrated the types of body tissue.

Honorable mention awards went to Nancy Ruff, a six grader at the central building, for her exhibit on the nervous system and to Helen Turck, a fourth grader at Boiceville, for her project showing the growth process of a bean plant.

Onteora's representatives competed with some 500 children from sixty school systems in the Mid-Hudson area. Judging was done by professional engineers, scientists and college professors. Each contestant was questioned thoroughly to determine his knowledge of the science principles he illustrated with his project. Of the twelve entrants from the Onteora district, six were awarded prizes in their area.

New Bookmobile Given to Library At Phoenicia

A new "Bookmobile," a travelling library, for the Town of Shandaken was dedicated at a ceremony held at the regular dinner-meeting of the Phoenicia Rotary Club at the Phoenicia Hotel.

Samuel Goldstein, transportation superintendent for the Consolidated Laundries, handed the keys to the truck over to Rotary president, Rudy Frank, who in turn presented them to Martin Rubin, president of the Phoenicia Library.

Rubin, who is also a Rotarian, had written to Goldstein at the request of the club and Consolidated Laundries almost immediately decided to donate the truck. The firm opened a large depot in the village of Shandaken last year and had previously leased garage and other facilities in Phoenicia.

Prior to last Thursday's official sendoff, the donated truck had been repainted and "Phoenicia Library Bookmobile" in old English lettering had been printed on each side. The walk-in vehicle will be outfitted with cork flooring, lighting and shelves by the Phoenicia Rotary.

The official committees from area libraries, including Woodstock, Olive and West Hurley were guests for the dedication dinner.

Miss Epstein was awarded a scholarship to Cornell University and will enter the school of Arts and Sciences in September. She resides with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Epstein of Mt. Tremper. Says Feud Over Fund Is Settled

NEW YORK (AP)—An attorney said today that the feud between millionaire Shelby Cullom Davis and his daughter, Diana, over her refusal to sign over a $3.8 million trust, has been settled amicably.

The lawyer, James B. Donovan, issued the following statement:

"The interests of all parties, including Princeton University, will be served.

"Details of the agreement will be made public in due course, after Diana's wedding."

Diana, 22, plans to be married June 24 to John Means Spencer, a history teacher at Darrow School, New Lebanon, N.Y.

Davis, an investment banker, had asked Diana to sign over the trust fund to Princeton, his alma mater. Diana refused.

Last Sunday, Davis sent a cablegram from Scotland, where he was on business, saying "I fear what Diana needs is a good spanking."

Donovan said he worked out an agreement between Mr. and Mrs. Davis and Diana. The attorney said Davis now is in London. Diana and her mother are in this country.

Pair of Drivers Booked by Police On 2 Charges Each

Two drivers were booked by local police early today on two charges each.

George Strbich, 39, of 40 Plainfield Street, was arrested on Albany Avenue by Officers George Deyo and Thomas Kearney on charges of speeding and driving while intoxicated. He pleaded innocent today before City Judge Aaron E. Klein and the case was put over to Tuesday night for jury selection. Bail of $100 was not immediately posted.

Lloyd G. Briggs Jr., 22, of 8 Bethlehem Street, Poughkeepsie, was charged with lack of insurance and with driving an unregistered vehicle. Police said a $100 suspended fine had been imposed at Hyde Park last month on a charge dealing with lack of insurance.

Judge Klein today gave him the choice of paying a fine of $250 or spending 125 days in jail on the insurance charge and $10 or 10 days on the other. The fines were not immediately paid.

Two in Saugerties Pay Traffic Fines

Two Saugerties men paid fines Wednesday night imposed by Village Police Justice G. Thomas Rea Jr., for traffic violations in the village.

Nelson Holland of Esopus Creek Road, arrested for speeding on Tuesday by Patrolman Donald Sullivan was fined $10.

Anthony Sarcona of Box 196, Saugerties pleaded guilty to a charge of failure to yield the right of way upon entering a main highway from a driveway, and paid a $5 fine.

Sarcona was issued a summons following a traffic mishap Friday morning on Main Street near the Orpheum Theater.

Sgt. Harold Mills reported the 1959 pickup truck operated by Sarcona backed out of a driveway into Main Street and was in collision with a 1955 station wagon operated by John Pavlak of Mt. Marion Park, a town constable.

AHRC Will Cite 8 Local Groups For Program Aid

Eight organizations will be cited for "meritorious service to mentally retarded children and through them to their communities" at public recognition ceremonies to be held during the annual meeting of Ulster County Chapter, Association for the Help of Retarded Children, Inc., Monday in the library of George Washington Elementary School, 8 p. m.

According to Robert Brainard of Kingston, AHRC chapter president, the groups selected for citation will include:

Ulster County Council of Girl Scouts, Inc.; Rip Van Winkle Council, Boy Scouts of America, Inc.; Town of Ulster Kiwanis Club; Ulster County Shrine Club; The Mendelssohn Club of Kingston; United Commercial Travelers of America (local chapter); United Commercial Travelers of America, Ladies' Auxiliary, and International Business Machines Corporation Kingston.

The recognition ceremony will take place immediately following the formal opening of the meeting. A cordial invitation is extended to the public to attend.

Guest speaker of the evening will be Mrs. Sylvia Mahar, founder of Putnam County Chapter, AHRC. Her topic will be "The AHRC at Work Within the Community."

A native of Mahopac, Mrs. Mahar has been extremely active within her own community and the surrounding county in developing services for mentally handicapped individuals. Aroused by her personal situation in which as a parent she faced rearing a mongoloid child in an area that had a dearth of facilitie for such a task, Mrs. Mahar became vitally interested in the AHRC movement. Realizing the need of parents, such as herself, she organized the Putnam County Chapter, AHRC, in 1954. She also served as executive director of her chapter until the year 1959.

During that time Mrs. Mahar was instrumental in the founding of a clinic for the diagnosis and treatment of mongoloid children. In addition to her executive duties, Mrs. Mahar also served as fund-raising chairman for the county, and contributed to numerous phases of the chapter's steady development throughout the past seven years.

A general business meeting will follow Mrs. Mahar's talk. The agenda will include: committee reports, annual election of chapter officers and members of the board of directors, and programming.

Refreshments will be served in the cafeteria following the meeting. Committee in charge will be Mrs. James Pfeiffer, Glenerie; Mrs. Robert West, West Camp; and Mrs. Emil DeLuca, Kingston.

Grossinger's Is Picketed During Democrat Dinner

LIBERTY, N.Y. (AP) — Sixty union members picketed outside Grossinger's Hotel for two hours Wednesday night while the annual Jefferson dinner of Sullivan County Democrats was in progress.

The pickets, calling the hotel non-union, addressed their placards to the Democrats.

The pickets were members of Local 343 of the Hotel and Restaurant Employes and Bartenders International Union.

Dry ice is being replaced in industry by liquid carbon dioxide, which is easier to handle and reduces cost. But dry ice continues to be useful as a refrigerant in milk wagons and ice cream trucks.

Area Guardsman Among Graduates From West Point

Serving in the National Guard has proven a great advantage to a Dutchess County man, who graduated from the U. S. Military Academy, West Point on Wednesday.

Second Lieut. Laurence J. Stoneham Jr., of Millbrook, a former member of First Howitzer Battalion, 156th Artillery, with units in Kingston and Poughkeepsie is one of five former New York National Guardsmen in this year's graduating class at West Point.

Stoneham was appointed from Battery B and has been commissioned in the Signal Corps.

Brigadier General Charles G. Stevenson, adjutant general of New York and vice chief of staff to the governor presented each of the new officers with a set of lieutenant's bars and a letter of congraulations from Major General A. C. O'Hara, chief of staff to the governor and commanding general of the Guard.

Kangaroos a Menace

DARWIN, Australia (AP) — W. H. Petrick, a member of the Legislative Council, says the kangaroo menace in Central Australia is worse than ever. He told the council 14,000 'roos have been shot on his own cattle station in the past two years. "In the Alice Springs district they are well on the way to destroying the country completely," he said. "They destroy the grass before it seeds. As a result, even after good rains, there is no growth in many areas."

They're Flying at High-Heels Altitude

THE SWEET LIFE—High above the clouds, these attractive damsels toy with a meal to while away the time as their jetliner whisks them from one city of enchantment to another. That's what you might think—but look to the right.

YEAH? IT'S WORK—The dear girls were "flying" at a total altitude of the height of a pair of high heels. They weren't lolling, they were working. Those meals are samples of ones they'll soon be serving plane passengers themselves. The whole thing is a classroom for hostesses just inaugurated by TWA in its training center in Kansas City, Mo.

Paris Orders Riot Police as Farmers Pour Into Morlaix

MORLAIX, France (AP)—Some 4,000 Brittany farmers, embittered over the government's farm price structure, invaded Morlaix today aboard tractors and trucks.

The French Interior Ministry in Paris ordered a company of 130 tough riot police to move into the town. They were expected early this afternoon.

The farmers began streaming into Morlaix about dawn blocking highways around the town of 13,000 and the main streets with their vehicles. They occupied the local administrative building, held it for several hours and then withdrew and massed in the center of the town.

Sub-prefect Jacques Seron, the top local official fled with his family and aides to the police station. The scant local force of about 100 police was powerless against the mob.

One of the leaders of the invasion told a reporter, "We are not going to harm anyone." But he threatened that if the farmers did not receive immediate satisfaction, "there could be violence."

The farmers' complaint is one that has festered for many years in Brittany and elsewhere in France. Because of the complexities of the French distribution system — including many middlemen—the farmers are paid only a fraction of what their products sell for on big markets. The government has charted a long-range reform of the market system but so far has made almost no progress.

Last Sunday groups of men invaded polling places in Brittany villages and burned ballot boxes during local elections. Thirteen persons were arrested.

Authorities attributed the disorders Sunday to the farmers' discontent over prices for their produce, particularly potatoes.

Gives Up Universe Title

Beauty Puts Truth Before N.Y. Crown

LIBERTY, N. Y. (AP) — Marcia Banks has lost her beauty title by admitting she is under age. But fame, she said, doesn't compare with telling the truth.

The brown-haired, hazel-eyed Marcia last Memorial Day weekend was voted Miss New York State in the Miss Universe Contest finals at Grossinger's Hotel.

The Brooklyn girl won out over a bevy of other beauties, and impressed the judges with her frankness. When she went onstage to state her ambiton, she told them: "my ambition is to win this contest."

Marcia's conscience caught up with her Wednesday. She is 17½ years old, and the minimum age in the contest is 18.

So she called Grossinger's and told an official:

"I fibbed about my age. I hate insincere people, and here I was, betraying a trust. I had to tell the truth."

Several weeks ago Marcia was voted Miss Brooklyn. It was the first beauty contest she ever entered.

The 4-foot-10, curvaceous beauty has been modeling for some time. But she still is a student at Brooklyn's Tilden High School, although she graduates later this month.

Next weekend, Marcia goes back to the hotel, when she will crown Alexa Curry, 22, of Manhattan, who was runner-up in the original contest. Marcia has insisted that she be the one to award the crown to Alexa.

In winning the state contest, Marcia received a huge trophy. A Grossinger spokesman said: "we're going to let her keep it. We're giving a duplicate to Alexa."

St. Mary's Societies Will be Shown Film

A 45-minute film, "Operation Abolition," sponsored by the New York State Council of the Knights of Columbus, will be shown for members of St. Mary's Holy Name and Rosary Societies following the monthly meeting Sunday night.

The public is invited.

The film shows a riot at City Hall in San Francisco in May, 1960, during a House Un-American Activities public hearing on subversive activities.

J. Edgar Hoover, director of the FBI, states that the organized demonstrations were planned and directed by Communists aided by two organizations described as Communist controlled.

Judge Albert A. Axelrod, of San Francisco, agrees with Hoover that the riot was instigated by Communists. It is claimed that evidence proves that students involved were innocent dupes of Communist zealots.

The film is shown before many civic and fraternal groups to acquaint members with workings of the Communists in this country.

Keeps It in Family

ANNAHEIM, Calif. (AP) — Can B. G. make it with another generation?

You'd think so, watching Benny Goodman swing out at Disneyland. Such excitement hasn't been seen since the '30s, when the famed Pied Piper led America into a whole new world of music.

"It's amazing," says Benny, obviously pleased with this new turn in his long career.

He recently organized a big band composed of a few oldtimers but mostly young musicians. The first date was Disneyland over Memorial Day weekend, the first booking of a name attraction at the park.

The results were sensational. Crowds packed 20 deep before the bandstand and couples were jitterbugging — not rocking, not rolling—jitterbugging.

One of the amazed observers was Walt Disney himself. He told me: "Benny said it was just like the old days. His manager kept looking at his watch and warning Benny that he was going overtime. 'Don't worry—I'll pay for it,' Benny said, and he played 15 minutes longer."

B. G. was back on the bandstand last weekend, and I came on a sentimental journey to catch his music. It was indeed like the old days. Benny played the licorice stick with the same facile style, and the crowd cheered every solo.

Still youthful at 52, Benny bounced and grinned as he led the numbers. They were strictly vintage stuff—"Sing, Sing, Sing" "Jumping at the Woodside," "And The Angels Sing," "One O'Clock Jump," etc. The youngsters ate it up. And for us ex-rug cutters—wow!

Benny has stuck mostly to small combos in recent years, but he said he'll continue with the full band if the demand continues.

HONORED SENATOR—A new 4-cent stamp, honoring the late Sen. George William Norris of Nebraska, will go on sale in Washington on July 11. Left of the senator's portrait is a view of the Norris Dam near Knoxville, Tenn. Quotation on stamp was a tribute by Franklin D. Roosevelt.

POTENT INTRUDER—The U.S. Navy's newest light attack aircraft, the Grumman A2F-1 Intruder, packs a heavier punch than the B-17 Flying Fortress of World War II fame. The two-place plane carries thirty 500-pound bombs in clusters of three. The all-weather Intruder is designed to take off from an aircraft carrier with its 15,000-pound bomb load. It also carries nuclear weapons.

Zenith Airs New Stereo Programs On FCC Standard

The first stereophonic FM broadcast on the new FCC standards, which were announced on April 20 by Ben Rhymer of 421 Albany Avenue, was transmitted at midnight on June 1 by Zenith Radio Corporation's station WEFM in Chicago.

The FM stereo standards are based on a system first developed by Zenith and experimentally tested on the air during 1959 and 1960 by WEFM, the nation's oldest FM station.

Joseph S. Wright, Zenith president, described stereophonic FM as "a new dimension in FM broadcasting, and a new era for the enjoyment of FM radio listening." He added, "It is the most important thing that has happened to broadcasting since the introduction of television. As the leader in FM, Zenith is proud of this contribution to better broadcasting."

Since the new stereophonic FM broadcasting system is compatible, the Zenith president noted, Chicagoans receiving the special broadcast at home on conventional FM radios heard a fully balanced monophonic FM program.

Those attending a special press demonstration in a nearby Loop hotel listening over Zenith stereophonic FM receivers heard the broadcast with the full depth, dimension and movement that makes stereo FM such an exciting experience, Wright stated.

During the one hour broadcast, WEFM's stereophonic FM programming ranged from south of the border selections, Broadway show tunes, to concert music. WEFM concluded the broadcast with a record performance of Fritz Reiner conducting the Chicago Symphony orchestra in a recorded performance of waltzes from Richard Strauss' Der Rosenkavalier.

June 1 was the earliest time authorized by the FCC for the special stereophonic FM broadcast.

Divers Conduct Water Programs

Participating in the Long Island Sound dive were. David Lasher and Gerry Klemm of Kingston; William Parker of New Paltz; William Mills of Port Ewen and Edward Muller of Lake Katrine.

During that dive the group speared fish, found horseshoe crabs and star fish. The group used skindiving and SCUBA diving methods and reached depths of 45 feet.

Participating in the demonstration at Camp Tri-Mount were, Ted Wiands and Gerry Klemm of Kingston; Edward Muller of Lake Katrine and Richard Grant of Mt. Marion Park.

The group will take part in underwater activities at Lake George and other area lakes this summer.

Working on Devic That May Replace Radar Rotators

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Army has embarked on development of a new type of radar that holds promise of meeting some of the criticism aimed at the Nike Zeus antimissile system.

It's called phased radar and involves emitting an electronic beam to scan the skies for oncoming enemy missiles so Nike Zeus rockets can seek them out and destroy them far from targets in the United States.

Such a radar device, if proved successful, would replace the heavy rotating scanning structures now in use.

Army specialists said today the new type radar would do its job rapidly and precisely.

These specialists said it would be simpler and less costly than the models now in use.

Disclosure of the new Army approach came Wednesday in a brief statement announcing award of a nearly $5 million contract to the Western Electric Co. for work on an advanced radar "design for possible future incorporation into the Nike Zeus antimissile missile system."

The Army has been waging an uphill fight for some time to convince the Kennedy administration and top Pentagon officials that the Nike-Zeus antimissile — the only one under advanced development—is as good as the Army says it is.

The administration has asked about $300 million for the next fiscal year to push development.

School Suspends 109 Seniors for Frolic at Park

SYRACUSE, N. Y. (AP)—More than 100 seniors, nearly half the graduating class at Eastwood High School, have been suspended for supposedly skipping school Tuesday afternoon to frolic at a state park.

The suspensions were imposed Wednesday for 109 pupils who, school officials said, left after a senior breakfast in the school cafeteria and spent most of the sunny afternoon at Green Lakes. A few were reported to have visited other high schools in the city.

All except 16 returned to class by 3 p.m., hoping they would not be missed, the school said.

Parents of the truants were notified by Principal Robert Oliver that they must confer with him by Monday or their children face expulsion.

Carpenter Offer To Stop Pickets Is Turned Down

A proposal by the Hudson Valley District Council of Carpenters that pickets would be withdrawn from jobs now being picketed in the carpenter strike, provided the contractors would agree not to do carpenter work on the jobs, was rejected Wednesday afternoon at a meeting of union representatives and contractors.

Picketing continued today at the two local school jobs.

Another meeting has been scheduled between the union and contractors for Friday afternoon at 4 o'clock at The Kirkland.

The offer to withdraw pickets was made by the council in order that other trades might continue to work on the jobs after the picket lines were removed.

It was reported little progress was made yesterday in the controversy between the striking carpenters and the employers. The carpenters struck on Monday following expiration of their contract on May 31 and failure to secure a new contract. The council alleges about 2,000 men are involved in the area which includes several counties.

Asked today if Federal Mediation Service had been called in to assist in settlement of the strike, George E. Yerry Jr., president and agent of the council, said the Federal Mediation Service had been represented at the meeting Wednesday but the mediation service was "not used."

St. Philomena's first annual awards banquet was held on Sunday, May 28 in the parish hall.

The Rev. Bernard P. Gerrity, moderator of the CYO activities at St. Philomena's, presented the awards. In a brief speech, he praised the sportsmanship shown by the young parishioners. He emphasized that the purpose of the CYO is not to take up a youngsters time but to help train the youngsters in Christian virtues exemplified by the term "sportsmanship."

In closing, Father Gerrity expressed his appreciation to Mr. and Mrs. Walter Rishoff and to the many parishioners that made the program successful. He asked for continued assistance in the running of the youth program which will include many more planned activities.

Some of the activities enjoyed during the past several months included field trips to Ice Capades, New York City, Madison Square Garden to view a professional basketball game; participation in the parish basketball games for boys and girls; parish cheerleading representation at Fordham University and winning the Track Meet Trophy; formation of a parish high school club and programming of weekly socials; communion breakfasts; Christmas caroling and numerous other events.

Guests of honor were the Rev. James J. McNally, pastor of St. Philomena's Church; Alexander Banyo, supervisor of the Town of Ulster and master of ceremonies; Leo Schupp, director of Ulster County CYO; Miss Mary Leach, Girls Athletic Director; and Miss Maureen Rice, cultural director.

At the Markets

Meat—Continued liberal marketings of beef have brought about lower prices on many cuts. The popular steaks, porterhouse and sirloin, are selling for 10 cents and 11 cents per pound less than a year ago, according to the New York City Department of Markets.

Lamb supplies remain heavy. Broiler marketings get a big boost this month with production expected to be 25 per cent greater than last June.

Eggs—Egg production is now declining seasonally, but a larger supply than in 1960 is predicted for the second half of this year.

Fish — Among shellfish, sea scallops are quite plentiful as is crabmeat.

Fruit—Fruit pickings are still slender, though we can expect increased variety as the summer season begins.

Vegetables—Market volume of nearby vegetables is increasing. Locally grown lettuce—Iceberg, Big Boston and romaine—is abundant.

Summer Theatres

Playhouse To Open

The Woodstock Playhouse announced this week that it will open on June 20 for an 11 week season running through September 3.

This 11 week season will be the longest in Playhouse history and producer, M. Edgar Rosenblum, has high hopes it will prove successful. With the support of the local communities Mr. Rosenblum hopes to beat down the idea that Woodstock is only a summer community. He reports that last summer, a great deal of the patronage at the Playhouse came from the area. It was for this reason he extended the schedule.

An exciting season of plays has been put in the works and there will be many special concerts, both folk and chamber music. A new series of children's shows including a musical for children is also slated.

The season will start off with Agatha Christie's delightful mystery thriller, THE MOUSETRAP. This play has been the longest running show in history, now in its eighth year in London. It had a successful run in New York this past season and will probably be done for many years to come.

Following this thriling opening will be the rollicking comedy, THREE MEN ON A HORSE; after this will be ANDERSONVILLE TRIAL, the Civil War drama which put Broadway audiences at the edge of their seats for a long run in New York. Moss Hart's LIGHT UP THE SKY will be number three, to be followed by WATCH ON THE RHINE, by Lillian Hellman, author of The Little Foxes, Toys in the Attic and The Children's Hour.

In honor of the Civil War centennial Mr. Rosenblum will present Robert Sherwood's great historical drama, ABE LINCOLN IN ILLINOIS, a play that was a smash hit not too many years ago. This is to be followed by one of the century's funniest farces, James Barrie's THE ADMIRABLE CRICHTON. Next comes Arthur Miller's finest work, DEATH OF A SALESMAN.

Number eight will be the first for local theatre goers. M. Edgar Rosenblum, in association with Issiah Scheffer and James Antonio, will give the American premiere of Michel De Ghelderode's BARABBAS, prior to its opening in New York next season. Direct from Broadway will be FIVE FINGER EXERCISE, and the season will close with the comedy hit, UNDER THE YUM YUM TREE.

As usual, performances will be Tuesday through Saturday at 8:40, Sundays at 7:30. Prices will stay the same as last season's despite greatly increased costs. A few special matinees will be scheduled later in the season.

Mr. Rosenblum has continued with his policy of beautifying the Playhouse and its extensive grounds. New flower beds, fresh paint, new signs and equipment will adorn the property this season. Many new improvements not to be seen by the theatre public is taking place backstage for smoother productions.

The air cooling equipment has also been increased.

The Mature Parent

BY MRS. MURIEL LAWRENCE

Let Children Know Early Family Is a Co-operative

Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

The first time 14-year-old Peg baby-sat for the gay young couple who had just taken a new apartment six blocks away, they promised to get her home by 1 a. m. They didn't keep their word. At 1:25 Peg's mother phoned her to be told, "You and daddy go to bed, mom. They'll be back any minute now. Mr. Foster will drive me home."

But at 2:45 when the Fosters finally arrived, it was Peg's father who drove her home. Getting out of the car he had parked at their curb, he walked over to the inebriated Mr. Foster and said, "Kindly tell my daughter I am waiting for her." Then as his child scrambled into the seat beside him, he said, "No more Foster baby-sitting for you."

Said she argumentatively, " I don't see why, daddy. I made nearly $10 tonight. They just got stuck at their party. And I'm fine. I'm not tired at all . . . ."

Said her father, "Your mother and I are. This time the rule isn't being made for you. It's being made not to protect your health but to protect the sanity of your mother and me. We'll have no more baby-sitting for the Fosters."

And they didn't.

We parents need to learn to make rules for our open and honest advantage.

As it is, the young are so used to assuming that all our rules seek to benefit them exclusively that discovering we can make them for our own interests produces a salutary state of shock.

We are so accustomed to promoting rules as protectors of their health, developers of their responsibility, punctuality and other virtues we forget that these rules also benefit us. So anxious are we to appear loving and exclusively interested in Johnny that the child is convinced our rule for promptness at meals exists solely to insure him a hot meal. So when he breaks the rule, he can justify his disregard by protesting "But I like cold meals!"

Honesty about our own stake in the regulation ends such justification. You cannot argue with a parent who says, "I want promptness at meals because I don't want to spend the evening washing dishes."

Families are co-operative institutions. If we pretend that all the rules are made for children's benefit, we have only ourselves to blame when the children undertake to re-adapt them to their own ideas of better advantage.

Mrs. William Keith Is Elected to Head Junior Marrieds; Officers Are Installed

At the Capri on Thursday, June 1, the YW's Junior Married Women's Club met at a dinner meeting which concluded the year's activities.

Mrs. Robert Murray, retiring president, conducted the order of business. Following a precis of the year delivered by the recording secretary, Mrs. Clayton Eruck, and a fiscal statement submitted by the treasurer, Mrs. Newell Ware, annual reports of the standing committees were presented by the chairmen. Of special interest was the report of the membership chairman, Mrs. Richard Vigurs, who announced that 30 new members had joined this year bringing the total to 78, the largest since the club's inception. This indicates she said, the steadily growing popularity of the Junior Marrieds as a social outlet for wives in the community.

Mrs. E. Ronald Rifenburg, service chairman, totaled 50 birthday cake contributions to TB hospital patients. This service will continue throughout the summer. An excellent financial status of the club was reported by Mrs. Martin Keller. In addition to a chair placed in the YW main reception room, the Junior Marrieds were able to contribute a substantial sum to the Y-teen summer conference fund.

Mrs. Murray read a letter of resignation from Mrs. John Mueffelmann, newly elected treasurer. The club unanimously accepted the recommmendation of the nominating committee that Mrs. Raymond Phillips fill the vacancy.

Guests at the dinner were Mrs. Fred Port, assistant teen director of the YWCA, and Mrs. John Warren, past president of the Board of Directors. Mrs. Port explained the history of the Junior Married movement, which started early in the century in Japan, and spread to India shortly after World War I.

In Kingston, according to Mrs. Port, the Junior Married Women's Club was formed in 1950. It has stimulated cultural and community interests through its programming and fellowship.

Mrs. Warren thanked the club for its YW support and acknowledged individually the members who have contributed special services.

Mrs. Bernard Trowbridge, as past president, presented a gift to Mrs. Murray on behalf of the membership in appreciation of her outstanding personality and executive talent as president. The climatic moment of the evening was the induction of the new president, Mrs. William Keith, and her announcement of the new executive committee for 1961-1962. Enthusiastic approval was given to her selections: Mrs. Ward Ingalsbe, program; Mrs. Willard Draper, membership; Mrs. Everett Landers, Mrs. Donald English, Mrs. W. E. Schmidt, publicity; Mrs. Arthur Holmes, hospitality; Mrs. Richard Van Bramer, service; Mrs. Robert Booth, finance; and Mrs. Thomas Palmer, cheer.

A one-act play entitled "Some Women Were Talking," written by John Kirkpatrick was presented by the Coach House Players under the direction of Mrs. Louise Greenwald.

League of Women To Hear Debate On Trade Policy

A Saturday television debate by two industrialists on United States trade policy is eagerly awaited by members of the League of Women Voters of Kingston.

This was announced today by Mrs. Dorothy Gerbarg of Hurley, public relations chairman for the League, which plans discussion next fall on the nation's tariff and trade policies.

She said the women will tune in to "The Nation's Future" from 9:30 to 10:30 p. m. on NBC to hear Charles Percy, chairman of the board of the Bell and Howell Company, and Jackson Spears, vice president of Burlington Mills.

The question up for debate is "Does the United State Need a More Restrictive Trade Policy?"

Among the subjects expected to be covered in the debate are: the recent problem of U. S. dollar outflow and imbalance of payments; domestic unemployment and its relationship to foreign trade; possible adjustments for injured industries and the foreign policy implications of restrictive trade measures.

Spears, who will take the affirmative of the question on restricting trade, has served as vice president of Burlington Mills (textiles) since 1952. He came to Burlington from the National Mallinson Fabrics Corporation where he was president from 1939-1952. Educated at Southern Methodist University and Harvard Law School, he is a member of the New York Board of Trade, a director of the Textile Distributors Institute, and a director of the Foreign Policy Association.

Percy, who will uphold the liberal trade point of view, started with the Bell and Howell Company when he was 19 and a student at the University of Chicago. He was elected president of Bell and Howell in 1949 and was just recently named to his present position. He was the recipient of the World Trade Award of the World Trade Commission in 1955 and the National Sales Management Executives Award the same year. Percy is a director of the American Management Association.

RESTORATION—Historic Lee Chapel on Washington and Lee University campus at Lexington, Va., will be completely restored under a $370,000 grant from the Ford Motor Company Fund. The chapel, completed in 1868, houses Gen. Robert E. Lee's office exactly as it was when he was president of the university at the time of his death in 1870. A historical and art museum includes Edward Valentine's famous "Recumbent Statue" of Lee and there are burial crypts for Lee and members of his family.

Mao Shrugs Off Vienna Spirit, Raps JFK Anew

TOKYO (AP)—The fall of Padong and Red China's comments since Soviet Premier Khrushchev and President Kennedy agreed in Vienna that an effective cease-fire in Laos is necessary suggest that Asian Communists headed by Mao Tze-tung feel in no way bound by the sober no-ultimatum, no-threat spirit of Vienna.

The Chinese Communist boss himself has made no comment on the Vienna meeting. But his propaganda organs, after earlier wishing the conference well, now dismiss it as a handshaking session that produced little or no results.

The Chinese Reds from the beginning of Kennedy's term pictured him as worse than President Eisenhower and by implication warned Khrushchev that such a man could not be trusted.

The Chinese diatribes against the youthful American chief executive have stepped up since the Vienna meeting.

Referring to the cease-fire in Laos, the official New China News Agency charged that violations were created solely by the pro-Western government headed by Prince Boun Oum and Gen. Phoumi Nosavan.

It described the fall of Padong as a U.S. "pretext" for stalling the Geneva conference on Laos.

Poultry Now Popular Around the Globe

WASHINGTON (AP) — Five years ago, two uniquely American foods — turkey and the broiler-fryer—were little known outside this hemisphere.

These high - quality poultry products now are enjoyed around the globe.

The agriculture department says these exports are giving a significant boost to the poultry industry.

In five years, exports of U.S. poultry leaped from 28 million to 175 million pounds a year. Last year, the exports of poultry products were valued at about $80 million—described by the department as a signal contribution in helping the country maintain a favorable balance of merchandise trade.

Aces, Kings, and Skill Wins

By OSWALD JACOBY
Written for
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Raymond Balfe of New York was one of the two or three greatest auction bridge players but has confined his contract play to rubber bridge. He may be found at the Regency Club avery afternoon and while his bidding would not please a bridge scientist his play of the cards is just about as good as there is.

Ray is a firm believer in the adage that bridge is a game of aces and kings. Hence, while 18 points opposite an opening bid is not normally enough for a slam, Ray felt that since his 18 points were almost entirely made up of aces and kings, he wanted to be there.

He won the opening diamond lead and counted up tricks. He had nine tricks in high cards and needed three more. They might be produced in either clubs or spades and Ray saw that the spades could keep for a while.

He entered dummy with a heart; led the jack of clubs; and let it ride. West took his king and knocked out Ray's ace of diamonds. He had to make a discard from dummy and his choice was the correct one of the six of hearts.

Then he cashed his king of spades; went over to dummy with a heart; and discarded his losing diamonds on the ace and queen of spades. The suit failed to break, so Ray led the eight of clubs and finessed. When West showed out, Ray led dummy's last club and brought in the rest of the suit.

SPORTS

By CHARLES J. TIANO

Freeman Sports Editor

The Herdegen Memorial, the toughest test of amateur golf in this part of the world, moves into its second decade this weekend.

The most exacting test of endurance and skill, the Herdegen is, in effect, the continuing history of the development of golf to its all-time peak in Ulster County.

It is the tournament of champions like Leon Randall, Bill Van Aken and George Hughes, each of whom has won three titles; and Clarence (Dubby) Raichle, the tournament's Jim Dandy who won the second renewal in 1952.

Randall, winner of the Herdegen and Hudson River Golf Association crowns in 1960, was the first repeater last year when he carded a 72-hole 286 to finish 2 shots ahead of Hughes. He can capture an unprecedented third straight trophy and coat this time around.

Randall and Van Aken have shared six of the last 8 titles, Hughes breaking the monopoly in 1956, after earlier triumphs in 1954 and 1951, the inaugural year when he shot 278 for 544 holes, including a blazing record-equalling 63 at Woodstock Country Club.

• First to Break 280:

The first player to break "280" was Leon Randall with 277 in 1957. He had a 5-under-par 65 at Twaalfskill, finishing with five straight birdies. The next day he birdied the first hole at Woodstock for a string of six straight. His 11-stroke margin over runnerup, Bill Van Aken, also set a new record for the tournament.

But Van Aken was quick to regain his laurels. The next year he lowered the tournament record by two strokes to 275 and beat Randall, the runnerup, by 15 shots. Van Aken accomplished the feat with 67 at Ellenville, 68 at Woodstock, a 74 at Wiltwyck and 66 at Twaalfskill.

Breaking "280" in a medal tournament of 72 holes over four courses is a phenomenal achievement for an amateur golfer and Randall and Van Aken are in a niche by themselves in this respect. Amateur golfers are seldom exposed to the rigors of medal play and all factors considered there has been some remarkable shooting in this tournament over the past decade.

Raichle's 302 in 1952 is the highest winning total in the history of the tournament, but it is not to be demeaned in any sense. 1952 was the year of the crucible in Herdegen Memorial history. For one thing, the tournnament was played under strict USGA rules, no touch, please. Secondly, two of the courses in play — Wiltwyck and Rip Van Winkle at Palenville — were demanding tests of golf. Palenville was a far cry from the layout it is today under the able guidance of Ray Smith and USGA rules on that primitive 1952 layout sent scores soaring. Wiltwyck was somewhat easier, but not much, a rough, rugged 9-hole layout.

Hughes led at the end of the first day, 79-75, over Raichle, who toured Twaalfskill in 71 the next day, while Hughes dipped to 75.

Raichle led 75-79 in the opening round at Palenville and added 4 more strokes at Twaalfskill the next day, 71-75. The third round at Woodstock saw Hughes pick up five shots (73-78), slicing Raichle's margin to 3. When the finals opened at Wiltwyck (Raichle's home base in those days) everyone figured the young old timer would fold. But he didn't. As a matter of fact he added another stroke (78-79) to finish 4 shots ahead of Hughes, who in turn led Dick Davenport by two.

The Herdegen Memorial, symbolic of the Ulster County amateur championship, was conceived by this department as a memorial to the late Father Henry E. Herdegen of St. Peter's parish in Kingston. Father Herdegen was a fine golfer in his own right, having once advanced to the finals of the championship round at The Twaalfskill Club where he lost 1-up in 19 holes to John J. Van Gonsic. Ralph E. Gardner has been tournament secretary-treasurer through all these years. It's been a magnificent tournament where victory has to be earned. It's the U. S. Open of golf in our part of the country.

Mrs. de Lisio-Mrs. DeWitt Take Woodstock Tourney

Mrs. A. J. (Wiggie) de Lisio, the club champion, and Mrs. Elizabeth De Witt combined for a net score of 154 to win first place in the Blind Partners tournament for Woodstock Country Club.

Mrs. de Lisio led the field with low gross of 40-43—83 and Mrs. DeWitt had 111. They had a combined gross of 194 and 40 handicap.

Two strokes off the pace was the team of Mrs. Willy Salet and Mrs. Helen Dendy with 221-65—156.

Other leaders included: Mrs. Doris Murray-Mrs. Peg Sharpe, 210-53 — 157; Mrs. Frederick Platt-Mrs. Hulda Needes, 208-50—158; Mrs. Louise Shaeffer-Inger Walker, 222-55—167; Mrs. Louise Fitzsimmons-Mrs. Vivian Moscowitz, 236-64 — 172; Mrs. Edna Rylance-Mrs. Edith Heckeroth, 236-64—172.

Twenty-four players competed in the tournament. The special Blind Hole prize was won by Mrs. Marguerite Cantine on the 7th hole.

The club professional, J. Carson Hutchins, held a golf clinic for the women before the matches started.

Motorcade Is Slated at 6:30

The city is rallying behind the Kingston Braves with the brass band treatment for the New York-New Jersey Baseball League opener against Poughkeepsie Saturday night at Dietz Stadium.

Plans completed at a meeting of the Braves Booster Committee last night revealed that there will be a parade up Broadway to Dietz Stadium starting at 6:30 p. m. at the corner of Broadway and Delaware Avenue.

The motorcade will be escorted by a motorcycle squad furnished by the Kingston Police Department.

The motorcade will be led by the Red Devils drum corps of the Veterans of Foreign Wars and will feature Miss Claire McDonald, who is Miss Baseball of 1961, and her escorts.

City officials, members of the Braves baseball team in uniform, as well as committee members and representatives of business groups lending support to the local baseball venture will also appear in the motorcade. A group from the Old Timers Baseball Association of Kingston is also expected. Service clubs also have been invited.

Public Is Invited

The committee headed by Mayor Edwin F. Radel and Addison Jones has extended an open invitation to the general public to support the team and turn out for the game. Public participation in the parade and motorcade by all interested persons is invited by the Boosters committee.

The committee also announced that all youngsters under 15 years of age will be admitted free if chaperoned. Little League youngsters are encouraged to wear their uniforms.

Ceremonies at the stadium will include introduction of principals. Mayor Radel will throw out the first ball officially launching the NY-NJ League season in Kingston.

The Braves are off to a flying start in quest of their first league championship, having won three straight games without a defeat.

Several attractive prizes, including a television set will be awarded during the game at the stadium.

Lineups and probable pitchers for Kingston and Poughkeepsie will be announced Friday.

Pioneers Blast Wellsville 16-10 Paced by Shear

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

In a somewhat lengthy baseball massacre, the Elmira Pioneers sheared the Wellsville Braves.

Marv Shear was the weapon used to whomp the Braves 16-10 Wednesday night in Wellsville in a three-and-a-half hour New York-Penn League game.

Shear smacked two homers and a double in a six hit attack that accounted for seven rbis. Fred Mason and Bill Tomaselli caught the fever and also homered for the Pioneers.

Geneva held its top spot with a 6-4 victory over Jamestown in Geneva with catcher Greg Nash homering two runs to break a 4-4 tie in the seventh.

Batavia came up with a run in the home half of the ninth to stop Erie 8-7 and end the Sailors eight-game winning streak.

Bob Sanchez singled home the deciding run in the inning.

Auburn unloaded a 15-hit barrage for a 13-7 triumph over Olean in Olean. Stan Kowalowski's two run homer in the sixth sparked the big inning.

Leon Randall Defends

Four Former Champs Enter Herdegen Memorial Tourney

All former champions, including Leon Randall, the defender, will compete in the 11th annual Herdegen Memorial golf tournament which opens Saturday at Wiltwyck, tournament secretary Ralph E. Gardner has announced.

Ranuall, who scored the first repeat in the tournament history in 1960, will be joined by ex-champions Bill Van Aken of Woodstock Country Club, Clarence (Dubby) Raichle and George Hughes of The Twaalfskill Club.

(Pairings for the tournament will be published in Friday's issue. The first round is scheduled at Wiltwyck Saturday at 9 a. m.; the second at Shawangunk Sunday at 8).

Hughes is champion at Twaalfkskill. Other club champions are Bill Waterous of Woodstock, who dethroned Van Aken last year, and Bill Kaufman of Wiltwyck.

Field Reduced

Because of the new rule limiting entries to players with accredited club handicaps of 11 or lower, the entry will be smaller than in recent years. The tournament is also being played under USGA rules for the first time since 1952.

Listed among the early entries besides the four champions are: Alvin Boice, Supreme Court Justice Louis G. Bruhn, Charles H. Gaffney, William Merrill, Jr. of Twaalfskill.

The entire Kingston High school varsity squad of William (Buzzy) Costello is entered along with Wiltwyck golfers: Ed Strohsahl, William McCullen, Charles J. Turck, Herb Waterous, Thomas Stenson, Andy Petruski, Harvey Bostic, Harold Van Aken, Ronnie Marks, Bill Marks.

The early Shawangunk (Ellenville) contingent includes club president Robert Stapleton, Dick Van Keuren and George Barthel.

Henry (Bud) Leininger and Brian Smith, two former Wiltwyck members now playing out of Red Hook, are also entered.

Deadline for entries is midnight tonight.

Legal Battle Is Underway By Two for Decision Nine

WESTMINSTER, Md. (AP) — A little five-year-old mare, once marked for destruction because of a leg injury, may face the same fate again very shortly.

Decision Nine is her name, but despite her famous heritage—she was by Ponder, one of a line of five consecutive Kentucky Derby winners—the little filly failed to make the grade. Then in May 1959 at Pinlico, she suffered a leg injury and was ordered destroyed by her owner, Miss Crystelle Waggoner of Decatur, Tex.

Somehow the instructions were never carried out.

The horse went through a series of owners after that. Then late in the same year, Ernest C. Rogers Jr., answered an ad in a Baltimore newspaper.

The 26-year-old Baltimore County man fell in love with the horse at first sight, and purchased her for $250.

For him, she was just what he wanted. She made an excellent hunter and family pet.

"I've never been to a race track in my life," Rogers said. "I wouldn't know a start from a finish. But for a hunter and a pet —they don't come any better."

Trouble developed when Rogers decided to try and obtain papers on the mare. He wrote to Miss Waggoner. Legal proceedings were immediately begun, and now Rogers has lost the first round of a court battle for the mare's possession.

A jury ruled that the animal still belongs to Miss Waggoner, who flew here from Texas for the trial.

Both Rogers and his father have said Miss Waggoner told them she wanted the horse only to destroy it, as she had originally ordered.

Rogers and his father, who now has the mare on his 80-acre Carroll County farm, both insist they will take the case as "high as we have to" before relinquishing ownership.

They have 30 days in which to appeal.

Meanwhile, Decision Nine remains contentedly in her pasture, completely unaware of the struggle being waged around her.

9 Straight Victories For Tribe

By ED WILKS
Associated Press Sports Writer

The Cleveland Indians won their ninth in a row and gained a half-game lead over idle Detroit in the American League race with an 11-0 breeze at Washington Wednesday night as unbeaten Jim (Mudcat) Grant won his seventh with a six-hitter.

The Indians open a four-game series at Detroit tonight.

New York beat Minnesota 5-1 behind a two-hit job by Ralph Terry that plunked the Twins into the cellar with their 13th straight loss. The Los Angeles Angels beat Baltimore 4-0, on Ted Bowsfield's five-hitter, and Boston defeated Kansas City 6-2.

Willie Kirkland and Woodie Held hammered solo home runs in an 11-hit attack for the Indians who scored twice in the first off Pete Burnside 1-4. Grant walked but one and struck out six.

Two in First

Both Minnesota hits off Terry (3-0) came in the first inning, when Billy Martin tripled and scored on a double by Lennie Green. The Yankees then exploded for all five runs in the third against Pete Ramos (3-7), tagging the right-hander with his fifth straight loss on a three-run homer by Roger Maris and a two-run homer by Yogi Berra. It was No. 17 for Maris, tops in the majors, as the Yanks set an AL record with 31 home runs in 16 consecutive games

Bowsfield (2-1) walked three, struck out three and allowed only one hit over the last seven innings. Three runs in the first inning, capped by Ken Aspromonte's two-run double, beat Billy Hoeft (1-3) and handed the Orioles their sixth defeat in eight games. Steve Bilko homered for the Angels, who took the series 3-1.

Rookie Don Schwall won his fourth without defeat for the Red Sox, allowing nine hits. Boston beat the A's and Bud Daley (4-7) with four unearned runs in the fifth inning, scoring two on Jackie Jensen's double

Tigers Blast NI. Pirates

The Tigers scored 9 runs in the third inning and went on to trounce the Pirates, 13 to 5, in the National Little League.

Warren Kelder and Steve Van Dyke collaborated on a 4-hitter for the Tigers, who picked up 11 hits off Jim Henry and Joe Mannello.

Kelder led the Tiger hitters with two doubles and a single and Bill Knox, Pirates shortstop, had a home run and single. Wendell Scherer tripled for the losers.

In the two-hit bracket were Walt Perhamus, Chip Grover and Tony Darwak with a single-double. Van Dyke was credited with the victory.

Chick Hurls 2nd No-Hitter

Julius Chick of Glasco-East Kingston Little League Giants pitched his second no-hit, no-run game in succession in blanking the Dodgers, 7 to 0, on the Light Aggregate diamond in Glasco.

In accomplishing the feat for the first time in area Little League history, the East Kingston youth struck out 14 batters, personally tossed out three others and issued only one walk.

As usual, Chick also proved a potent batsman, with a pair of doubles among the seven Giants hits off Carl Legregni, who struck out 11. They were the only extra base hits in the game.

The Giants scored in four of their five turns at bat, including a 3-run cluster in the first inning.

John Bonnelli, John Nagy hit singles and Henry Rua had a pair for the winners.

Boyle Wins Fifth

Anchorage, Yallum's, Hilltop Take City League Contests

Mike Boyle of Anchorage Rest beat Armstrong Rest, 8-7, with a 5-hitter in which most of the action was crammed into the first three innings, in the City Softball League Wednesday.

In other games, Yallum's Kings toppled Subway Grill, 9 to 5, and Hilltop Rest drubbed Chez Emile, 9 to 2, behind the 3-hit pitching of George Norton.

Anchorage staked Boyle to a 6-3 lead in the first two innings, but Armstrong's rallied with four runs in the third to move ahead, 7-6. Boyle then tightened up to pitch shutout ball the rest of the way, as Anchorage won it with single markers in the fifth and sixth.

Two of the Anchorage safeties were home runs by Charlie Williams and R. Gray. Rod Whittaker tripled for the winners. Roy Casella had two doubles and Boyle helped his own cause with a single and double.

Hobart Hits Homers

Don Hobart's two-run homer robbed Norton of a shutout in the fifth inning. Hilltop gleaned 11 hits off Bob Coisson, including triples by Charlie Marable and Bon Dunn. Clyde Carter had a single and double. A five-run sixth inning settled the issue.

Trailing 5-4, Yallum's Kings scored five runs in the fifth and sixth innings to turn back Subway, as Mike Amato survived a 12-hitter. The winners had 10 off Bob Lasher.

Mel Williams stroked a homer and single for Yallum's. Ron Secreto stroked a double and two singles. Jack Houghtaling had a triple and two singles. Bob Slover and Jim Amato also rapped three baggers.

Little League Week Slated by Governor

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Gov. Rockefeller today proclaimed next week as "Little League Baseball Week" in New York State.

"Baseball is one of our best American heritages. With the disappearance of the sand-lot in even our smaller towns, an organization such as that which provides the Little League games is actually a necessity," Rockefeller said.

Dodgers Regain 1st Place

By ED WILKS
Associated Press Sports Writer

Milwaukee knocked off Cincinnati 3-1 and the Los Angeles Dodgers regained first place by a half-game over the Reds by beating Pittsburgh 7-3 Wednesday night as Sandy Koufax became the first pitcher to win eight games in the National League this season.

Third place San Francisco defeated Philadelphia 4-3 in 11 innings, and St. Louis rapped the Chicago Cubs 8-6 on a pair of two run homers by Stan Musial, who was 4-for-4.

The Dodgers came from behind with four runs in the second inning, beating Earl Francis in his first major league start on a two-run homer by John Roseboro and a clinching two-run double by Willie Davis. They added three unearned runs in the fifth, making it easy for Koufax (8-2). Homers by Roberto Clemente, in the first inning, and Don Hoak, with a man on in the ninth, scored the Bucs runs.

Nottebart Wins

The Braves beat the Reds behind the four-hit pitching of right-hander Don Nottebart, 3-3. The Reds scored in the second on a walk, Gene Freese' single and a passed ball, but the Braves then scored three in the third, two on Ed Mathews' double, against rookie Ken Hunt (5-3).

Stan Musial's pair of two-run homers giving him six for the season, built the Cards' winning cushion in the third and seventh innings. Larry Jackson (2-5) was the winner, but needed relief. Maury McDermott finally saved it, coming on when Ernie Banks hit a two-run homer off reliever Al Cicotte in the ninth. Bob Anderson (2-5) was the loser.

The Giants nailed their victory on two walks and a single by Orlando Cepeda in the 11th off losing reliever Chris Short (1-2). Held to one run and two hits for seven innings by Art Mahaffey, San Francisco tied it in the eighth on consecutive doubles by Matty Alou and Harvey Kuenn, both pinch-hitters, and Willie Mays. Jim Duffalo and Stu Miller shut out the Phils on four hits over the last six innings, with Miller winning his fifth without defeat.

Apaches Score In Knot Hole

The Apaches made hay early to nip the Navahos, 12-11, in the Metropolitan Knot Hole League Wednesday.

The winners scored all their runs in the first three innings to lead 12-8. Navahos scored three in the fourth and neither team scored in the fifth.

The winners managed 12 runs on 5 hits, including a double and two singles by B. Godby. Charlie Higgins slammed two triples and J. Staccio had a double and two singles for the losers.

Wynn Stays Home While White Sox Make 5-Day Trip

CHICAGO (AP)—Early Wynn's magic number is 12 and he doesn't know if he can make it this season.

The rugged 41-year-old right-hander needs a dozen more victories to reach a major league career total of 300 — something only 12 pitchers have done in baseball history.

But the durable Wynn is having arm miseries. The Chicago White Sox left him home as they departed Wednesday for four games in Washington and three in Baltimore during a five-day trip.

Wynn is undergoing treatment from club physician, Dr. Joseph Coyle, who describes the ailment as bursitis in the right elbow.

"The doctor says he doesn't know how long the misery is going to last," said Wynn. "I hope I'm ready by the time the team gets back home."

"If I'm laid up a couple of weeks, it's sure going to hurt my chances of reaching that 300 mark this year."

Manager Al Lopez said he wouldn't be surprised if Wynn had to rest two weeks before getting an okay from the doctors.

Wynn has a 4-1 record for the season and a total of 288 victories.

Indians, Tigers To Open 4-Game Series Tonight

DETROIT (AP) — The war-whooping Cleveland Indians, on a nine-game rampage, and the wavering Detroit Tigers open a four-game series tonight in the American League's first showdown of the season.

First place is at stake in this modern-day Battle of Lake Erie which is expected to attract 100,000 fans to Tiger Stadium.

The Indians come to town as new occupants of first place, holding a half-game and 13 percentage point lead over the Tigers.

Cleveland is riding a nine-game winning streak, longest in the league this season, and has 21 victories in 25 games.

The Tigers, whose 39-day reign in first ended Tuesday, had five players in the top ten when they raced to a five-game lead in May. Now there is one, Norm Cash with a .345 average. Slumps have sent the Tigers reeling to two straight defeats in which they totaled only one run.

Manager Bob Scheffing has named his two aces, Don Mossi (6-0) and Frank Lary (8-3), to open the series. Jimmie Dykes, who a year ago was managing the Tigers and never figured he'd be in a pennant battle, has nominated Jim Perry (3-4) and Wynn Hawkins (5-2) to start for the Indians.

HAPPY INDIANS—Cleveland Indians manager Jimmy Dykes is hugged in Washington dressing room by first baseman Vic Power, left, and catcher John Romano, right, after the Indians defeated Senators, 14-3, to take first place in the American League standings. Ingemar, Moore Bout Could Edge Liston Contest

By MURRAY ROSE
Associated Press Sports Writer

MONTICELLO, N.Y. (AP) — If Archie Moore gets by Giulio Rinaldi Saturday night, as he is favored to, the old gent may take off for Sweden this fall for a joust with Ingemar Johansson.

"That would go real big over there," said Jack (Doc) Kearns, who handles Archie's bookings. "I've discussed the fight with Eddie Ahlquist (Johansson's adviser) and he thinks it would be great.

"First of all it would make a lot of money for everyone," added Doc, who says he's only slightly older than his meal-ticket. "Then if Archie wins it, and I'm confident he can, he'll be right in line for another shot at the heavyweight title.

"Archie still thinks he can beat (Floyd) Patterson and he'd like to get that heavyweight title before he quits in maybe six or seven years."

A Johansson-Moore fight could elbow Sonny Liston, top-ranking heavy contender, out of the picture. There's been plenty of dickering for the Liston-Johansson fight but it may not occur this year because Moore thinks he can lick Johansson and Ingo feels the same way about Archie. And both think it could be easy—and easy money.

Northrup, Wilson Lose in Mat Final

YOKOHAMA, Japan (AP) — America's last two contestants—Ben Northrup of San Francisco and Dick Wilson of Toledo, Ohio—were eliminated today in the final round of the World Greco-Roman Wrestling Championships.

Northrup, a lightweight, was thrown by Imre Polyak of Hungary before being eliminated on points by losing to Aviandi Koridze of the Soviet Union.

Wilson, a flyweight, went out when he lost to Armaez Saiadov of the Soviet Union on points.

The first two championships decided went to Oleg Karavayev of the Soviet Union in the bantamweight and to Hamed Mustafa of the United Arab Republic in the featherweights.

World Mat Champs May Meet in Ohio

YOKOHAMA, Japan (AP)—The world amateur freestyle and Greco-Roman wrestling championships will be held in the United States next year, the International Amateur Wrestling Federation decided Wednesday.

Toledo, Ohio, is the probable site.

Red Roses Edge Springfield in Two Games 6-5

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Suddenly Springfield's bubble was burst and the Williamsport Grays are flashing the form that brought them the Eastern League pennant last year.

The last-place Lancaster Red Roses last night handed Springfield its first doubleheader loss of the season by identical 6-5 scores, thus snapping the five-game winning streak of the league-leading Giants.

Williamsport, meanwhile, won its fifth straight with a 7-4 victory over Reading and strengthened its hold on third place. The Grays are 8½ games out of first and 1½ ahead of fourth-place Reading.

Trips Bounce Back

In other action, Johnstown beat Binghamton 1-0 in the opener of a doubleheader but the Trips bounced back to take the nightcap 5-2 in 10 innings. As a result, second-place Binghamton gained a full game on Springfield and now trails by 3½.

Lancaster took the opener with a six-run fourth inning and rallied for three runs in the ninth to win the nightcap. Reliever Art Mehuron starred in both games. He pitched two hitless innings in the seven-inning opener for his third victory against no defeats. Then he came back to set the Giants down in the ninth inning of the nightcap to preserve the victory for Mike Lee (3-2). Gerry Thomas (7-2) and Ken Bracey (4-1) were the losers. Bracey had won three games in a row in relief in Springfield's five-game winning streak.

Grays Snap Deadlock

The Grays broke a 4-4 deadlock with a pair of runs in the sixth inning. Lou Vassie, who has been hitting over .400 since joining the Grays, drove home the tie-breaker with a double and later scored on Jim Guinn's single. Ed Lunsford (2-0), who took over for starter Jack Kerrigan and pitched four hitless innings, got credit for the victory. The loss was charged to Tom Gansauer (2-2).

Bill Thom, making his first start for Johnstown, shutout Binghamton in the opener on a four-hitter. A homer by Archie Skeen in the fifth provided the winning run which ended a five-game Johnstown losing streak. Pete Mikkelson (0-2) was the loser. Elvio Jiminez's single drove home the clinching run for Binghamton in the nightcap.

Griffith Starts Talks of Change In Twins Roster

ST. PAUL - MINNEAPOLIS, Minn. (AP)—It will be some fishing and golf for Calvin Griffith and Cookie Lavagetto before they start to talk about what can be done with their slumping Minnesota Twins, now in a 13-game losing streak.

"I hope to get Cookie's mind off baseball for a while," said Griffith as he greeted the manager, recalled from New York for a week's vacation, at the airport Wednesday.

"Of course, we plan to do some serious talking about possible personnel changes on the team but the relaxing comes first."

The warmth of Griffith's greeting for his field boss dismissed any rumors of animosity between the two. Neither would reveal where they plan to carry on their relaxing and chatting.

Lavagetto arrived only shortly before word came that the Twins had dropped their third in a row to the New York Yankees, carrying them into the American League cellar. They were tied for second before losing 18 of their last 19 games.

Marlins Defeat Syracuse 3 to 1 With Hal Dietz

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The battle for the International Baseball League lead is suddenly becoming a personal war between the Columbus Jets and Charleston Marlins.

Each has won seven of their last 10 games, and the Marlins' lead has see-sawed back and forth between two games to a half game edge since they regained the top late last month. Charleston now has a 2½ game edge and if it wasn't for Ray Mejias' 10th inning homer Wednesday night the Jets might be 3½ behind today.

Mejias cracked his second homer of the game against Buffalo in the 10th inning for a 7-6 victory by the Jets while Charleston got a fine pitching job from Hal Deitz in a 3-1 victory over Syracuse.

Rochester bombarded Jersey City 10-4 while Richmond and Toronto were rained out.

Deitz, winning his fourth in five decisions, gave only four hits as the Marlins made it eight in a row over Syracuse. Ed Olivares homered and had two singles for Charleston, which handed Syracuse its fifth straight loss.

Rochester racked five pitchers for 16 hits. Bob Johnson had four of them, including a pair of run-producing doubles as Gordon Jones won on a six-hitter.

Guerrilla Ways Of War Displayed By Army Forces

FT. EUSTIS, Va. (AP) — The Army today put on display some of the spectacular transportation tools and techniques it would use in guerrilla warfare.

The spotlight played on:

Hooking a rocket to the back of a man so he can be shot limited distances. There have been more than 30 tests of this still experimental device.

A "marsh buggy" for moving men and supplies through swamp too thick for boats and too thin for vehicles or foot travel.

A "helicycle," a miniature helicopter to carry a soldier over enemy-held strips of land or across impassable terrain.

They are part of the Transportation Corps' "operation mobility" program. Its object: To show the corps' capability in both limited and full-scale battlefield action.

By coincidence, today's demonstration came two days after President Kennedy, in a nationwide radio-television talk, again emphasized the priority Communists give to waging "sub-limited" warfare. That is the planned conquest of a country through guerrillas or insurgents.

Actions Settled

Two automobile negligence actions commenced before Justice William Deckelman and a jury in Supreme Court Wednesday have been settled. Davis Williams and another and Antoinette Castano brought actions against Vernon J. Decker and others. Michael Nardone and Rosen and Rosen appeared for plaintiffs and Cook and Cook and Hirschberg, Levinson and Jenkins for defendants. Another automobile negligence action brought by Mary Boston against Chester Craig and another, arising out of an accident at St. James and Clinton Avenue, was resumed today. Francis J. Vogt appears for plaintiff and Spitz and Levine and Cook and Cook appear for defendants.

Monroney Cites Difficulties in Censorship Try

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. A. S. Mike Monroney, D-Okla., says President Kennedy and leaders of the newspaper profession have found it difficult if not impossible to apply a workable formula for voluntary press censorship.

He told a meeting Wednesday night of Sigma Delta Chi, national journalism fraternity, that he is certain "no one in this administration has in mind this type of censorship—but baby tigers have a habit of growing from kittens into man-eaters."

Monroney said that once news is in the public domain "it is like trying to sweep back the sea to manage it or control it by voluntary censorship."

"I likewise think that it would be grossly unfair," he said.

Monroney said that a rereading of President Kennedy's April 27 speech to the Bureau of Advertising of the American Newspaper Publishers Association shows the President is opposed to any type of censorship.

"His only plea was for self-restraint and a sense of sacrifice in the publication of news that might be helpful to our enemies," Monroney said.

The Oklahoma senator, a former newspaperman, said some of the worst examples of security leaks come from the military services themselves, through misunderstanding and carelessness.

Sullivan Pair Hurt in Crash

Two persons were hospitalized early this morning after their car was in collision with a tractor-trailer on Route 52 about 400 feet east of Route 17 near Liberty.

They are:

Myrel Gripper, 40, driver of the 1955 sedan, and his passenger, Miss Calissie Moore, 31, both of Liberty. Both suffered multiple lacerations, contusions and shock and were admitted to the Maimonides Hospital, Liberty.

A charge of driving while intoxicated is pending against Gripper.

Sgt. Nicholas G. Lecakes of the Ferndale state police told The Freeman that a tractor-trailer operated by John Hymel, 43, of Penn Yan, was proceeding east upgrade when Gripper, traveling west, failed to negotiate a curve, crossed the mall and smashed into the side of the tractor-trailer. The time of the accident was about 2:30 a. m.

Elsie Livingstone, 27, wife of Trooper Alfred Livingstone Jr., admitted the shootings, State Police Detective Lt. John Fitzsimmons said, but she gave no reason.

Mrs. Livingstone and her son, Alfred III, 6, were in serious condition at Chilton Memorial Hospital in Pompton Plains. They both were shot twice in the chest. Killed instantly was Nancy Lou.

Dredging Bids Due

Congressman J. Ernest Wharton today announced that the U.S. Army Engineer District, New York, will shortly issue an invitation for bids for dredging in Area 2 of the Hudson River. This proposed work is in the $700,000 price range and calls for the removal and "satisfactory disposal" of approximately 1,900,000 cubic yards, place measurement, of all material except ledge rock lying above the plane 32 feet below mean low water. The location of the project includes the area in the Hudson River between Kingston and North Germantown, opposite the counties of Dutchess, Ulster, Columbia and Greene.

S. C. Girl Found In Shock, Taken From Auto by 3

ANDERSON, S.C. (AP)—An 18-year-old girl who was reported abducted from a parked car near here Wednesday night was found today. The Anderson County sheriff's office said the girl was taken to a hospital in a state of shock.

No other details were available immediately.

Charles Gambrell, 20, of near Anderson, told authorities the girl was dragged from their parked car by two and perhaps three Negro men and put into another car. Gambrell was slashed about the abdomen and left arm.

Deputy Sheriff Jim Williams said Gambrell, nearly incoherent, ran to the home of the Rev. Fred L. Bremmer, a Presbyterian minister shortly after 11 p.m. He was bleeding, the minister reported, and said he had been cut by the assailants and the girl was spirited away.

At Anderson County Memorial Hospital Gambrell was treated in the emergency room for lacerations of the abdomen and left arm and then was released.

A sheriff's office spokesman said the boy and girl were parked on a dirt road five or six miles north of the Anderson city limits.

Anderson County, in western South Carolina, borders partly on Georgia.

Blaze Near Store

Firemen checked a blaze in a shed at the rear of the Morris Stone grocery store, 105 Abeel Street, Wednesday night before it caused serious damage. Units from Cornell and Central stations answered a call at 11:50 p. m. Pressurized water was used. An alarm, sounded from Box 1411, St. Joseph's School, Wall and Pearl Streets, at 8:13 p. m., was attributed to a mechanical defect in the sprinkler system.

Vote Power Restored

LISBON, Portugal (AP)—Portugal has decided to restore to restive Angola and other overseas provinces of Portugal the right to elect municipal councils. The government has appointed the councils since 1940.

Overseas Minister Andriano Moreira, in announcing the decision, said the switch will restore old traditional principles that were suspended due to special conditions in World War II.

Nikita Louder at West Berlin Mention

Geneva Conference on Laos Is Off Indefinitely

Cease-Fire Violation Is Blamed

Word Comes After Decision by U. S.

GENEVA (AP)—Britain today announced indefinite postponement of the conference on Laos because of "apparent serious violation" of the cease-fire.

Britain and the Soviet Union are cochairmen of the 14-nation conference on Laos.

Awaits Nikita's Word

The United States had previously announced it was boycotting the conference until Soviet Premier Khrushchev makes good on his agreement with President Kennedy that an effective cease-fire is necessary in the Southeast Asian kingdom.

Malcolm MacDonald, head of the British delegation, saw Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Georghi Pushkin for an hour this morning. Afterward, MacDonald issued a statement that some delegations informed him they could not attend further meetings until they have finished consulting their governments.

The delegations were identified as those of the United States, Britain and France.

An American source said Wednesday night that the U.S. delegation would not attend any further sessions of the conference called to chart the future of Laos until the pro-Communist rebels stop their attacks and a real truce is achieved.

Gromyko on Way

Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko is flying from Moscow to Geneva tonight. Western delegates hoped he would bring instructions for the Communist bloc to get behind the U.S. demand for more power for the international truce commission in Laos.

The American delegates to the Geneva conference forced cancellation of Wednesday's session after the Pathet Lao rebels captured the government-held village of Padong with a violent artillery barrage and an infantry charge. The rebel artillery, silent at Padong since Thursday, resumed Monday in what looked like a pointed rebuff to the Kennedy-Khrushchev declaration at Vienna.

Will Stand By

For a time the Americans talked of packing up and going home, but Washington ordered them to stand by in hopes the Communists would modify their previous opposition to discussing ways of preventing cease-fire violations.

State Department press officer Lincoln White said in Washington that the United States is not going to bring about a collapse of the Geneva conference "through any obstructive tactics or otherwise."

The Communist delegations have been contending that the cease-fire violations in Laos are inconsequential and that the truce commission needs no further powers or instructions.

Latins Open to Aid, Wary of Fidel Acts

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina (AP)—Adlai E. Stevenson is finding Latin Americans anxious to talk about U.S. aid for their economy but shy on any kind of action against Fidel Castro's regime.

The United States' chief U.N. delegate, making a goodwill tour of South America for President Kennedy, was told bluntly by Argentine officials Wednesday that it would be impossible to get unanimous Latin-American support for action against Cuba's strongman.

'Live and Let Live'

Instead Stevenson was advised that the United States should adopt a policy of "live and let live" toward the Castro regime.

Stevenson met for three hours with Argentine President Arturo Frondizi on the second stop of a tour that began in Venezuela.

He is meeting again today with Frondizi and other Argentine officials mainly on economic problems.

Neither Stevenson nor Argentine leaders would give details of the discussions on the Cuban situation, but what emerged was understood to be this:

Argentine Foreign Minister Adolfo Mugica expressed a belief the Cuban situation would solve itself if left alone.

Rules Out Force

Stevenson gave assurances that the U.S. government has ruled out force as a means of ending the Castro regime.

Hearing Is Set Tonight at 7:30 On School Budget

A public hearing on the proposed budget for the school year 1961-62 will be held at 7:30 p. m. today in the Kingston High School auditorium.

A tentative budget of $5,621,907 was appproved by the Kingston Board of Education (Consolidated) at a special meeting last month, an increase of $358,689 over the current fiscal year.

A total of $3,108,789 must be raised by tax levy with a tentative tax rate of $39.27 compared to $37.94 during the current year —an increase of $1.33 per thousand dollars of assessed value.

The largest item in the proposed budget is for instructional services—$2,958,900. During the current fiscal year this item amounted to $2,778,358.

A total of $1,324,300 is allocated for teachers (kindergarten through grade 6) and $1,153,595 for teachers (grades 7 through 12).

The tentative budget is for the fiscal year July 1, 1961 to June 30, 1962.

Censure Move Due For Meeting of Supervisor Board

A resolution seeking to censure Ulster County Commissioner of Welfare Joseph Fitzsimmons for failure to move the Ulster County Welfare offices to the Cornell Building, is expected to be presented at the meeting of the board of supervisors tonight.

The resolution, without a sponsor, has been filed with the clerk of the board by Supervisor James T. McCardle (D), 9th Ward.

The Cornell Building on Ferry Street was acquired by the county some time ago for county office use. To date no department has been moved to the location. It has repeatedly been suggested that the Welfare Department be moved downtown from its present location at 240 Fair Street.

Other than the resolution filed by Supervisor McCardle in relation to moving the Welfare Department downtown, there appears to be little controvertial matter to come before the board.

Reaction to Plea For 50,000 Peace Corps Seen Good

CHICAGO (AP)—A plea to lend 50,000 skilled Americans to work with the Peace Corps in underdeveloped nations has drawn prompt endorsement from most organized labor and generally favorable reaction from industry.

But many business leaders qualified their support of Wednesday's appeal by R. Sargent Shriver Jr., director of the Peace Corps.

Shriver, in a commencement address at De Paul University, said the Peace Corps has 10,000 applicants and that almost 4,000 of them had taken their first round of qualification tests. But, (Continued on Page 10, Col. 5)

Mayone Is Chosen Young GOP Head, May Head Ticket

John Ray Mayone of the 10th Ward of the City of Kingston was last evening elected as the president of the Ulster County Young Republican Club.

Mayone, city marshal and long active in veterans and other community activities, is being prominently mentioned as a possible candidate for the Republican nomination for mayor in the fall elections. Previous to last night's meeting, Mayone had served the Young Republican organization as its first vice president.

Donald MacCollam, the outgoing presiding officer, declined to seek re-election, MacCollam, in March of this year, was elected chairman of the Third Judicial District Republican Clubs. The district is comprised of seven counties Albany, Columbia, Greene, Rensselaer, Schoharie, Sullivan and Ulster.

Bolivia Rounds Up Reds, Under Siege

Stems From Disputes

Airline passengers arriving here from La Paz said President Victor Paz Estenssoro declared the emergency after a series of Communist-urged strikes swept the country. The strikes apparently stemmed from a dispute between the government and workers in the nationalized tin mines.

The travelers said the government appeared in control and La Paz was calm when they left.

Private sources in Buenos Aires Argentina, said that Communists made an attempt to seize power, but this was denied by travelers from La Paz. They said strikers were the root of the trouble.

President Kennedy's special envoy, Adlai E. Stevenson, now in Buenos Aires, is scheduled to visit Bolivia June 15 on his South American tour. Stevenson's aides said he has made no changes in his itinerary.

Airline passengers brought copies of Tuesday's edition of the La Paz morning newspaper El Diario which told of the arrest of Communist leaders.

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla. (AP)—Fourteen persons who identified themselves as anti-Castro underground members arrived here in a 23-foot boat, hungry and thirsty after a three-day trip.

Eleven men, two women and a young girl were in the party. They asked not to be identified because of a fear of reprisals against relatives in Cuba.

Castro Is Unstable, He Says

Topics Discussed At Vienna Listed

Editors Note — What information, in addition to that included in his televised address to the nation, has President Kennedy given congressional leaders about his conference with Soviet Premier Khrushchev? At what point did Khrushchev raise his voice? Jack Bell, veteran chief of the Alsop Senate staff, discusses the following article the report Kennedy gave influential members of both parties.

By JACK BELL

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy has informed congressional leaders that Premier Khrushchev raised his voice when he told him in Vienna that West Berlin is a bone that must come out of the Soviet throat.

The President also reported Khrushchev indicated he regards Cuban Prime Minister Fidel Castro as unstable—and not a Communist.

Talks to Both Parties

Kennedy briefed influential members of both parties at a 90-minute White House conference Tuesday before he told the nation in a television-radio broadcast a few hours later that the West is ready to maintain its rights in Berlin "at any risk."

The briefing, during which the President read from his translator's transcript of some of the conversations, was said to have disclosed that Khrushchev was vitally interested in only two subjects at this time—Berlin and a change in the secretariat direction of the United Nations.

Some of Topics Reported

So reported by responsible sources, these were some of the major topics discussed and the positions taken in the 12 hours of conversations between the two leaders:

Berlin — Khrushchev has not changed his position of more than two years' standing that he intends to sign a separate peace treaty with East Germany. He fixed no date for this action. He told Kennedy that nobody but the United States still believes East and West Germany can be reunited.

No Discourtesy

The only time Khrushchev raised his voice in the entire period of discussion was when he talked about Berlin and used the bone in the throat phrase he has employed before. (Kennedy said in his broadcast to the nation "there was no discourtesy, no loss of temper, no threats or ultimatums by either side" during the Vienna conference.)

The Soviet premier offered again to give Soviet and East German guarantees of access for Allied access to West Berlin. He proposed that U.S., French, British and Soviet troops remain in the city, and suggested stationing U.N. troops there.

Kennedy replied that the West is in Berlin legally, not merely by sufferance, and intends to stay there. He said Berlin is a free (Continued on Page 10, Col. 2)

Tax Protests Abate, Rocky in N.Y. Race

NEW YORK (AP)—Gov. Rockefeller was back in the New York City political arena today after an Upstate foray in which Republicans found portents of future election victories.

GOP leaders in Onondaga County, site of the two-day Rockefeller visit, said the trip had demonstrated that opposition to the governor because of 1959 tax increases had abated markedly.

GOP concern that public reaction in the area to tax, highway and other problems could endanger party chances in local elections this year and state balloting next year led to the Rockefeller visit.

The governor, who made more than 20 public appearances in two days, stressed in several talks that state spending for education and other services had risen faster than taxes.

GOP strategists said evidence the tax protests had abated was seen in the fact that few questions on the issue were raised at a "town meeting" at which Rockefeller answered questions from an audience of more than 1,000.

The meeting was the finale of the visit.

Members of the audience were much more concerned with education — problems of their local school systems and how to get their children into college.

One man complained that the State Education Department was high-handed in dealing with local school boards.

The governor suggested that boards obtain legal advice on how far the Education Department's control over local education goes.

Earlier Wednesday, Rockefeller expressed confidence that a controversy between himself and the State Board of Regents, governing body of education in the state, would be resolved shortly.

The governor had criticized plans of the Regents to pay directly to colleges grants under a new state program to aid college students.

Returning from the tax and education issues, Upstate, Rockefeller prepared to plunge back into the New York City mayoral race.

He was instrumental in shaping the GOP ticket and was expected to give a major speech on its behalf tonight at the annual, $100-a-plate dinner of the Republican State Committee.

A Republican victory in this heavily Democratic city in November would be a major boost to the governor's chances of winning re-election next year by a sizable majority. This would put him in good position to bid for the Republican presidential nomination in 1964.

Health Parley Is Told Air Is Used Like Garbage Can

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP) — Air pollution was described today as the use of our atmosphere as a "sort of open sewer or garbage can" by one of three experts discussing the problem at the 57th annual New York State Health Conference.

William H. Megonnell, air pollution consultant for the U.S. Public Health Service, said serious attention must be devoted to the preservation of "this most vital resource."

He said Americans were amazed to learn that their still are some backward countries where garbage is thrown into the streets and sewage is dumped into open ditches. But, he said, we take for granted the constant deterioration of the air.

Alexander Rihm Jr., executive secretary of the State Air Pollution Control Board, outlined the duties and powers of the board in his prepared speech.

"Progressive public health personnel are concerned not only with the absence of disease, but with all factors which interfere with the physical and mental well-being of the population," he said.

In a prepared talk, the secretary of the New York City department of Air Pollution Control suggested that pollution agencies have a duty to keep the public informed as to their activities in the fight against atmospheric spoilage.

Kenneth Kowald said "In the City of New York, we consider that the public has a right to know that we are doing in the fight for cleaner air and that we x x x have a duty to tell it."

ROCKET MAN—For the first time man has used a rocket (carried on his back) to achieve controlled free flight over the ground. Shown here is a successful test of the experimental rocket belt, built and tested by the Bell Aerosystems Co., Buffalo, N. Y., for the U. S. Army Transportation Research Command. (NEA Telephoto)

Rocket Belt Permits Flight by Individual

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP)—A practical, working rocket belt, torn from the pages of science-fiction, today was made a reality of mankind's age-old dream of flying with the birds.

A twist of a throttle, a turn of a lever, and man leaps from the ground, his own personal rocket belt strapped to his back. He hovers in the air, he flies over rivers, he flits up a hill that would leave him breathless to climb.

His support is a twin-nozzle thrust of hydrogen peroxide steam.

All this was revealed today by Bell Aerosystems Co., which developed the belt—called a small rocket lift device (SRLD) — for the Army Transportation Research Command.

For those still doubting, the first public demonstration was set later today at Transportation Research Command headquarters, Ft. Eustis, Va.

In 30 successful test flights this spring, Bell said, test engineer Harold M. Graham achieved a speed of about 20 miles an hour. His longest horizontal flight was 360 feet. He did not try for any great altitude, but the belt carried him up a steep, 30-foot high hill with ease.

Bell has held the Army Development contract since last summer, but Wendell F. Moore, director of Bell's man-rocket research program, has been dabbling with the idea since 1954.

The rocket belt is powered by hydrogen peroxide. When fed into a gas generator where it meets a catalyst, it decomposes into steam. Discharged through two nozzles directed toward the ground, this steam provides the thrust.

The position of the nozzles, set out from the sides of the device, plus the low temperature of the steam, eliminate the need for protective clothing for the operator.

The propulsion system is mounted on a fiberglass corset moulded to fit the wearer's back and hips. It is secured in front by two quick-release safety belts.

Two control tubes extend forward on each side so the wearer can reach them easily. One tube carries the throttle by which the operator controls the rate of power. The other is for a control level leading to jet deflectors on the nozzles which control the direction of flight.

Glancing Over TV Bill of Fare

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP TV-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—Mike Wallace, a broadcasting veteran who started—and remains the principal practitioner of — the "tough question" school of TV interviewing, is on the threshhold of a new career.

Starting next Monday night, Mike will be star of a new, syndicated late - evening television program which may become the first real competition Jack Paar and vintage movies have yet encountered.

The new, taped program is called "PM," and really consists of two parts: "PM East," an hour-long program of varied themes from New York presided over by Mike, assisted by Joyce Davidson, a pretty Canadian girl who has appeared often on the Dave Garroway Show, and "PM West," a half hour show hosted by Terrence O'Flaherty, a San Francisco newspaper columnist.

Mike insists he is not inviting Paar to a late-evening ratings battle similar to the old Ed Sullivan-Steve Allen fray.

"PM" will not imitate the format of Paar's sit-around-and-make-jokes show.

"We're going to build our program around themes, subjects or sometimes around one person," he explained.

Wallace himself will, of course, do some interviewing, but he will also so some commenting and talking.

It's hard to find a word for NBC's nighttime version of "It Could Be You." "Dreadful" is probably the most accurate one.

The program made its after-dark debut Wednesday night and proved to be an incredible distillation of the worst features of "Queen for a Day" and "This Is Your Life"—surprise guests, reunions plus hard luck stories.

Recommended tonight: CBS Reports, 10-11 (Eastern Daylight Time)—repeat of "A Real Case of Murder," documentary on the murder trial of a New York boy; "Silents Please," ABC, 10:30-11—"Girls in Danger," perilous adventures of the heroines of the Pearl White period of movies.

Pushed Her, But Not Off Bridge, Amesse to Court

POUGHKEEPSIE, N.Y. (AP)—David Amesse testified at his trial Wednesday that he did give his girl friend a push on the Mid-Hudson Bridge, but he denied having pushed her into the water.

Amesse told the court that, although he gave 18-year-old Rachel Perry a push, he didn't "push her over."

The 20-year-old Amesse is charged with second degree murder and first degree manslaughter in the drowning of Miss Perry in the Hudson River last Dec. 21.

Authorities said Amesse first told them that Miss Perry was pregnant and that he entered a suicide pact with her but that he "chickened out" at the last moment.

In a statement taken by Dutchess County Dist. Atty. Raymond Baratta, Amesse is quoted as saying he wanted to get rid of the girl because she was three months pregnant and she wanted to go to Children's Court.

An autopsy showed, however, that the girl was not pregnant. On the witness stand, Amesse has admitted he knew she wasn't.

Amesse also testified Wednesday that he had been rushed into reading and signing a 19½-page statement. He contended that he read only 1½ pages of the statement, and that he was hindered by blindness in one eye and that he had a hangover from drinking.

CP TOTS LEARN IN SAFETY—Protection from falling while developing hand skills through play is the purpose of this special table at the nursery school of the Cerebral Palsy Treatment Center, 400 Broadway. The CP Treatment Center's annual fund raising drive continues through this week.

Deaths

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

PORT CHESTER, N.Y. (AP)—Robert E. Griffith, 53, of the theatrical producing team of Griffith and Prince, died Wednesday of a heart attack. He was co-producer of such Broadway musicals as "The Pajama Game," "Damn Yankees," "West Side Story," and the current hit "Fiorello."

CLIFFSIDE PARK, N.J. (AP)—Roscoe Parke McClave, 80, Republican state committeeman and former speaker of the New Jersey Assembly, died Wednesday of a heart attack.

CHICAGO (AP) — Roderick M. Grant, 60, editor of Popular Mechanics magazine from 1958 until his retirement in 1960, died Tuesday of a stroke. Grant had been a member of The Associated Press news staff in Topeka, Kan., and Chicago for 10 years before he joined the magazine in 1935.

Larceny, Forgery Charges Faced by Leader in Council

BINGHAMTON, N.Y. (AP) — Joseph P. Mangan, 41, Republican majority leader of the city council, today is charged with misappropriating $31,462 from estates and forging checks.

Mangan was indicted Wednesday by a Broome County grand jury on 10 counts of first-degree grand larceny and forgery. He remained in $10,000 bail, pending arraignment.

Mangan allegedly obtained the money while attorney for the estates and other clients. He has submitted his resignation as a lawyer to the Appellate Division of State Supreme Court.

A member of the council since 1956, Mangan was council president last year.

Among the charges against him, Dist. Atty. Louis M. Greenblott said, were:

Theft of $13,659 from the estate of a former Binghamton school teacher, misappropriating $3,669 entrusted to him in the name of a mentally incompetent person who since has died, misappropriating $4,400 Elizabeth Leonard had left to charities and forging two checks for $1,666 each, in the name of Mrs. Jean Boice for her two sons.

Bridge Stolen

RANSOMVILLE, N. Y. (AP) —Someone has stolen James E. Foster's bridge. Foster says the bridge consisted of four 10-foot steel beams weighing 140 pounds each. He values the bridge — which spanned a small stream on his farm—at $40.

Warning to Drivers

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A constituent of State Rep. Terry Drake of Galion thinks Drake should introduce a measure to put a mark on drinking drivers. His suggestion is that the car, truck or other vehicle of a person convicted of drunk driving be painted with alternate vertical black and white stripes—five inches wide—from front to rear. The vehicle could not be sold, and the driver would be examined by the sheriff six months later to see if repainting in normal colors should be permitted.

Veterans Advised Of Changes Under New Albany Laws

The recent session of the New York State Legislature passed several bills affecting the Empire State's veteran population which Gov. Rockefeller signed into law. Each piece of this recent legislation can change in some way the rights of many veterans and servicemen.

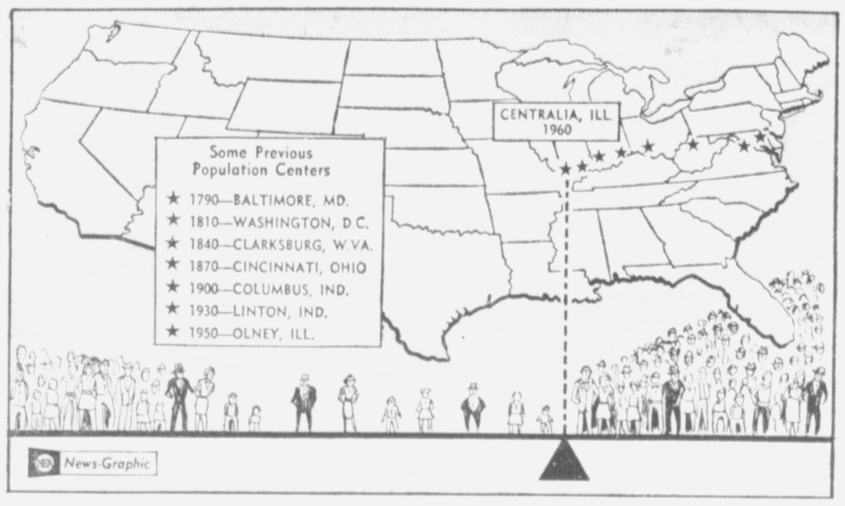
"The rights of many veterans vary from year to year from factors other than the many new laws and regulations," noted Charles L. Culver, counselor, New York State Division of Veterans' Affairs and John B. Tyler, director of the Ulster County Veterans Service Agency. For instance, "changes in income might materially affect the pension entitlements of some survivors and dependents. There are many changing circumstances including age, health or unemployment," Culver and Tyler continued, "that point up the advisability of keeping well informed on veterans' affairs."

The New York State Division of Veterans' Affairs and the Ulster County Veterans' Service Agency counsels thousands of veterans each year on their status under Federal and State laws. All veterans, survivors, and servicemen in this area are invited to bring questions, and problems relating to pensions, loans, insurance, tax exemption or other veteran entitlements to the New York State Division of Veterans' Affairs and the Ulster County Veterans Service Agency located at 32 Main Street, over the Motor Vehicle office.

Watervliet Gambler Is Fined $2,500

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—Gambler Frank Cocca, of Watervliet, has been fined $2,500 for failing to buy federal gambling tax stamps. Cocca pleaded guilty before Judge Stephen W. Brennan in Federal District Court to charges of failure to purchase the $50 stamps in 1958 and 1959.

Cocca was arrested in a gambling raid in 1959. He was indicted on the stamp charges after he was released from jail after serving one year for violation of probation.



GO WEST, YOUNG NATION—Final figures of the 1960 census put the new center of U.S. population at a point near Centralia, Ill. The "population center" is defined as the geographic point where perfect balance would result if the nation were a plane and all citizens weighed the same. News-Graphic shows how the heavily populated east counterbalances the west. The new center is 57 miles farther west and 16½ miles farther south than it was in 1950, largely due to the admission of Alaska and Hawaii. It is also farther south than at any other time. Some experts believe the center will eventually stabilize near St. Louis, Mo.

Veep Busy, Likes It

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson has become the ice-cream man of the Kennedy administration.

He travels into all kinds of neighborhoods, spreading good cheer.

Busy, busy, busy. That was his life until he became vice president last January.

Job Made to Order

He wanted to be busy. He wanted to run things. And, as boss of the Senate Democrats, Johnson had a job made to order for him.

He stayed busy for years running the Senate. Then, suddenly, when he became vice president, he had to take a back seat.

He had a boss now, Kennedy, who was younger, and strong-willed, and had beaten him for the presidency. And Kennedy left no doubt who was No. 1 man.

And even in the Senate there was a new boss: Mike Mansfield of Montana, majority leader of the Democrats.

Johnson couldn't, if he wanted to, push Mansfield around, or interfere, or kibitz, without an explosion.

Yet Johnson, full of fierce energy, was—like a lot of politicians—full of ego.

How to make the best use of him? This was a problem for Kennedy. What would you have done if you were Kennedy? Probably what he did. It was a natural.

He found a way to keep Johnson happy while making use of him. He kept him busy.

Startling Pace

Although Johnson had a severe heart attack in 1955, just a few weeks before President Eisenhower had his, he's been hitting a startling pace for months.

He hit it during the presidential race, campaigning hard. And right after the election he lit out for Europe and a NATO conference.

Then there was a lull, right after Kennedy and Johnson took office Jan. 20, when the vice president, with nothing much to do, seemed in total eclipse.

It didn't last long. Kennedy sent him on a 13,000-mile tour of Africa and Europe as a goodwill spreader.

In May he sent him on a 29,000-mile journey through Southeast Asia and the Middle East to spread more of the same.

Sets Dizzy Pace

And, since his return toward the end of May, Johnson has been in a dizzy spin of speechmaking and reporting on his latest trip abroad.

For example: On the day he returned, May 24, he reported to Kennedy and then held a news conference for some public reporting.

That night he made a speech to the National Committee for Children and Youth. The next day he provided a fill-in for Kennedy's cabinet and, later the same day, for 57 senators.

At a big news conference May 26 he revealed that in Hong Kong he bought 82 shirts (4 apiece) for those who traveled to Asia with him.

(On June 3 an aide denied Johnson had just bought a house here for $265,000 and said the cost was under $200,000.)

Thrilling Some Say

On June 5 Johnson gave the House Foreign Affairs Committee such a hearty report on his trip that members called it thrilling, brilliant, wonderful.

One member even called him "the wonder boy of the age."

Meanwhile: He addressed the graduating class at his alma mater, Southeast Texas State College; the senior class at Eastern Kentucky State College; and the graduating class at Gallaudet, the world's only college for the deaf.

On June 6 Johnson reportedly wowed the advertising council with the same meet-the-folks technique he had used in Asia. And Wednesday he gave the West Point graduating class a pep talk.

Whether or not Johnson accomplished anything on his journeys abroad remains to be seen. But if Kennedy was looking for a salesman, he found him.

THEY ASKED FOR IT

Not all of us who have income and social security taxes withheld from our pay checks can be sure the federal government will get the money as it should.

Probably there are at least several hundred thousand employers who fail to pay over this money on time—or perhaps at all. The Internal Revenue Service has no sound basis for estimating, since its agents examine only 3.5 million of some 61 million individual and corporate tax returns.

These agents do unearth many delinquents through review of employer returns and occasional random door-to-door checks. As of Jan. 1, 1961, government books listed 270,000 employers owing some $237 million for taxes collected but not handed over.

All employers are required to file quarterly returns on taxes withheld, and to make full payment at such times.

Experience shows some employers never file these returns. If discovered, they can be criminally prosecuted, though the government has had poor luck getting convictions.

More commonly, employers simply delay their payments. Some are just careless, but others put the tax refunds to personal or business use until revenue authorities enforce collection. Lately, a new variation on this has been devised.

Some employers, fully intending to pay up in their own sweet time, invest the tax money for three or four months to pick up a little extra profit. They feel safe because they have learned it takes that long for the revenue service to process their returns, send them a couple of dunning notices, and finally dispatch an agent to demand the money.

Obviously the employer has no right to the use of even a single penny of such funds for as much as a day. They are to be held in trust for the government, say revenue officials.

Bills pending in Congress are expected to give the revenue bureau at least 3,300 additional agents to widen the attack on this and other aspects of tax delinquency. Meantime, the agency has plans to nip quickly those employers who file returns but don't pay up in full at the same time.

Nobody loves the tax collector. But most of us would cheer a broad crackdown on delinquent employers. There is something extraordinarily unattractive about individuals who are delinquent with other people's tax money.

The fellow who made a business of helping other people prepare their tax returns and failed to file his own may have been afraid he might be tempted to cheat.

NIKITA THE AUTHOR

Who is the world's most translated author? Not, says UNESCO in its annual compendium, Shakespeare or any other literary great. Not even Mickey Spillane.

The world's most translated author is that well known desk pounder, Nikita Sergeyevich Khrushchev. This by no means accurately gauges the popularity of his writings. The Soviet government likes to make sure that no one will miss his gems, so they are translated into the two dozen major tongues used in Russia.

As Khrushchev also has been translated into many other languages—again, mostly thanks to the diligence of government translators—the total number in which his works may be read comes to 198. This beats the previous record holder, Lenin.

Shakespeare? Fairly high on the list, though he's slipped a bit the past couple of years. He might have done better in the translation sweepstakes if he had had the Soviet propaganda machine behind him.

Heart specialist Dr. Paul Dudley White says today's American is a flabby weakling compared to his predecessor of 30 years ago. Well, thirty years ago we had to be tough to survive the depression.

'These Days'

LEST WE FORGET

In the current excitement over Europe and President Kennedy's visits to Paris, Vienna, and London we lose sight of Cuba which is of equal if not greater importance at this moment. It is astonishing how those who accept a doctrine will not give up no matter what the historic evidence provides. This becomes particularly dangerous when great influences are brought to bear upon public opinion to promote a doctrine rather than historic truth. Herbert Matthews of "The New York Times" raised this issue when on May 3, he told students at the University of Michigan:

". . . once Fidel Castro's regime was labeled Communistic, for the most part it became almost impossible for the American journalists and editors to go against the overwhelming public opinion, although it was the press that created the hostile opinion — like Frankenstein's monster."

In a word, Fidel Castro and his associates were converted to Marxism by the American press! But were not many of them Marxists before the American press ever heard of their names? Herbert Matthews's viewpoint is worth looking at, for if applied to other countries, it could be said that Khrushchev was not a Communist until we accused him of being the head of the Communist Party by the American press, particularly by those who are nastily anti-Communist. On this theory, it could be said that Hitler was really not a Nazi but was manufactured into one by "The New York Times"!

Matthews adds a very interesting moral factor to his philosophy. In his Ann Arbor speech, he admitted that Cuba was becoming more and more dangerous to the United States. But he holds that it did not have to be that — that Cuba did not have to develop toward socialist and totalitarian lines. Regarding a Communist regime as one whose leaders are Communists and which takes orders from the Kremlin, Matthews holds that Cuba was not such — that is until the American press made it wicked.

But what about all the People's Republics? They started as coalition governments containing non-Communist elements. Czechoslovakia was an example of that until Jan Masaryk was either murdered or committed suicide. An effort was made to form such a coalition People's Republic in China during the days when "Vinegar Joe" Stilwell and General George Marshall were active there.

In a word, Herbert Matthews adopts a very narrow definition of a Communist regime — one that cannot be supported by the history of Communist growth either in Europe or in Asia. Even in Russia, when Lenin took control in the Smolny Institute in Petrograd, he was associated with non-Bolshevik elements. Leon Trotzky, for instance, was a Menshevik at the start and he became the second man in command.

Matthews said:

"The American press made the mistake in trying to interpret the Cuban revolution in terms of our Anglo-Saxon, mature, democratic, and capitalistic way of life."

But that precisely is what Herbert Matthews has done, and it is interesting that he is so correct in analyzing the American attitude toward Leninist movements. Americans try to avoid regarding Communists as Communists on the assumption that no one can be quite so wicked. But there are now many Communists in the world and there are Communists in many governments. And one needs only to look at the fact squarely without apology. Certainly, those who are now in charge of Cuba call their government Socialistic, which is the most that Khrushchev says about his.

According to "Editor and Publisher," Matthews ended his speech at Ann Arbor with a statement that:

"The intense emotionalism with which the American press covered the executions following Castro's triumph has had a lasting adverse impact on American-Cuban relations."

Now precisely what emotions other than were expressed should the American press have exhibited during the murders which Castro's revolution — social or political — committed? As a people, we do not usually enjoy wholesale murders. In fact, we do not enjoy them even retail. Perhaps that is why bull-fighting never took hold in this country. Murder is very unpopular except on TV and there nothing is real. Perhaps we would have liked Castro better, had he killed fewer Cubans.

It would seem that Herbert Matthews is too defensive of an actual and manifest evil and that history unfortunately is giving his ideas a raw deal.

'Nest Egg' Could Come Back In Favor With Eggs, Butter

By HAROLD T. HYMAN, M.D.
Written for
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

In a previous column I gave the results of a nine-year study conducted on the effects of diet on blood fat levels at the Rockefeller Institute.

Briefly stated, these studies suggested that the level of blood fats (lipemia) was most often dependent on the manner in which the body converted carbohydrates (sugars) into fat, and least often on the presence in the body of an inherited enzyme capable of digesting body fat. In neither instance was the level due to the relative amount of fat in the diet or to the kind of fat that was ingested.

Fitting in with this laboratory study was an experiment conducted by Dutch physicians on Trappist and Benedictine monks.

Now the Trappists live on a food intake of milk and vegetables (lactovegeterians). The Benedictines favor a mixed diet. Here then was an ideal opportunity to observe the effects of diet on such conditions as arterial hardening (arteriosclerosis), angina pectoris, hyptertension and disturbances of heart muscle (myocardium) due to obstruction of the coronary arteries.

Here in summary are the results:

There were no significant differences in the blood pressure levels of the monks of the two orders.

The average blood cholesterol levels were considerably higher in the Benedictines (who were also considerably heavier).

The incidence of myocardial infarction and of angina pectoris was about the same in the two groups but considerably lower than that of middle-aged men of the same age in the general population.

The higher level of blood cholesterol in the Benedictines suggested that the mixed diet might somewhat favor the development of arteriosclerosis, but that mycardial infarction was more likely the result of strains and stresses against which monks of both orders were protected by their monastic lives.

I don't for a moment imagine that these pronouncements will influence greatly the American public that has learned to look on eggs and butter as accomplices to the No. 1 killer. And I haven't the vanity to hope that they will restore the price of eggs to a level comparable to that of other foods.

But maybe I can get an "A" for Effort.

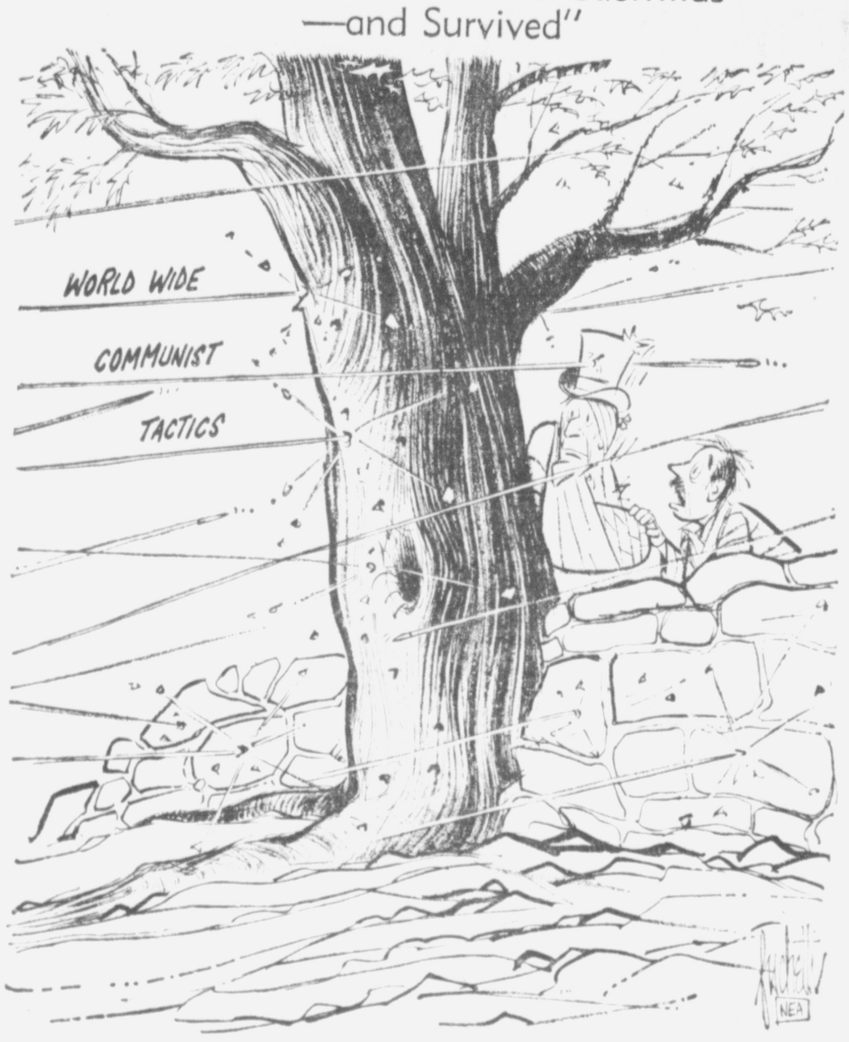
"Our Minutemen Were Guerrillas —and Survived"



Washington News

By PETER EDSON
Washington Correspondent
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — Mail from readers shows more misunderstanding and opposition to the proposed 20 per cent withholding tax on interest and dividend payments than on any other phase of the Kennedy administration's tax reform program.

Treasury Secretary C. Douglas Dillon has explained that the principal reason for the withholding on interest payments proposal is to close a tax gap estimated at $2.8 billion.

This is the amount which people cheat the government out of in a year by not reporting and not paying taxes on interest payments they receive. It represents a little over a third of the $8.2 billion due the Treasury in taxes on interest.

MOST OF THE CHISELING is believed to be done by big investors. They simply don't report on their income tax returns all the interest payments they receive.

There is far more tax cheating on interest received than on dividends received. Internal Revenue Service believes it collects taxes on about 92 per cent of all dividends received, with only 8 per cent, or about $600 million, getting away.

The proposed 20 per cent withholding tax on both interest and dividend payments would of course give the Internal Revenue Service good information on where this money is going and who is not reporting it as income.

People who receive dividends are squawking a little about this. Businessmen claim it would curb private investment. But the big beef comes from the people who get interest from savings accounts, loans, mortgages and investment type bonds.

THE PROTEST MAIL ON THIS reveals a certain amount of ignorance on the part of the taxpayers. Their letters indicate they do not know that such interest payments are taxable income.

This problem was fully appreciated by former commissioner of internal revenue Dana Latham in the Eisenhower administration. He started an educational campaign to inform interest receivers of their tax liability.

Internal Revenue Service asked banks, savings and loan associations and others paying interest on investments to inform people of their tax liability. Printed slips were sent out with interest and dividend checks suggesting that the recipients pay up.

But this educational campaign didn't work. One trouble was that corporations are required to advise Internal Revenue Service of all dividend payments of $10 or more while information on interest is limited to payments of $600 or more.

The latter figure lets most people with small savings accounts escape, since $600 in interest, at 4 per cent, represents a principal of $15,000, larger than the average account.

Various proposals are being considered to change this in the new law, which hasn't yet been drafted. It is admitted that the $600 figure is too high.

It has been suggested that information be required and withholding be applied on interest payments of $10 or more. This would make it apply to every savings account or investment of $250 or more, if the interest rate were 4 per cent.

But this might be too low, for it would require tax withholdings on the $500-to-$1,000 savings accounts of children preparing for college, retired people dependent on interest for living expenses, small investors and all lower income groups with a few bucks saved up for rainy days.

TO TAKE CARE OF THESE hardship cases, where withholding of a few dollars in interest payments might mean serious financial embarrassment, treasury tax experts are trying to develop a system for making rapid refunds. They would apply also to tax-free educational and charitable organizations.

But the amount of bookkeeping and paper work and check writing on small accounts might be tremendous.

Congress will of course write the ticket on this, if it approves the withholding principle, which now seems somewhat doubtful.

Congress Is Seen Confused By Kennedy Vienna Report

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON — President Kennedy by his television address has left many members of Congress puzzled. What did he really tell Soviet Premier Khrushchev? Is the United States now committed to go to war over the defense of West Berlin? Did Mr. Kennedy threaten war, or did he imply that America would not take any military steps if the Soviet Union makes a peace treaty with East Germany and leaves the matter of Allied access to West Berlin up to the East Germans?

The President was abstract and general in his statements on the air. He did not reveal exactly what he said or what Mr. Khrushchev told him on these vital issues.

Mr. Kennedy, moreover didn't tell the American people on Tuesday night about the two memoranda on the Berlin, disarmament, and nuclear test problems which Mr. Khrushchev brought to the conference. Only after news dispatches from Bonn disclosed this today did the State Department confirm that such memoranda had been given to Mr. Kennedy.

In his television address, Mr. Kennedy said the "no new aims were stated in private that have not been stated in public on either side."

No Record Available

Who is to be the judge of the meaning of that statement, especially when there is no record available even to Congress on what was said by either Mr. Kennedy or Mr. Khrushchev. If nothing new was stated and, as Mr. Kennedy now says, "no major decisions were either planned or taken," then what were the several hours of private discussion about? Why was the trip undertaken?

The President gave as his reason that he wanted to find out firsthand what Mr. Khrushchev thinks. He did not care to rely on what his ambassadors or what President Eisenhower told him after many years of experience with the Soviets. Also, Mr. Kennedy says he wished to "present our views directly, precisely, realistically, and with an opportunity for discussion and clarification."

Yet hardly any details of what went on during that "discussion" have thus far been revealed. If Mr. Kennedy says he sought to state America's position "precisely," it is important that the Congress be told just what those "precise" positions are today. The few members of the House or Senate who were "briefed" on Tuesday afternoon at the White House learned little more than what was said by Mr. Kennedy in his television address.

Adds to the Mystery

The President added to the mystery of why the meeting with the Soviet Premier was ever undertaken when he said in his Tuesday night speech:

"Neither of us was there to dictate a settlement or to convert the other to a cause, or to concede our basic interests."

One wonders now whether the President really felt beforehand, too, that there was no trying to "convert" the Soviet leader to a belief in peace—or anything else.

It is evident, however, that the issue of peace or war was discussed. In fact, there is a hint or threat of possible war in the following section of Mr. Kennedy's speech:

"But our most sober talks were on the subject of Germany and Berlin. I made it clear to Mr. Khrushchev that the security of Western Europe and, therefore, our own security are deeply involved in our presence and our access rights to West Berlin, that those rights are based on law and not on sufferance, and that we are determined to maintain those rights at any risk, and thus meet our obligation to the people of West Berlin, and their right to choose their own future.

Can't Shun Obligations

"Mr. Khrushchev in turn presented his views in detail and his presentation will be the subject of future communications, but we are not seeking to change the present situation. A binding German peace treaty is a matter for all who were at war with Germany, and we and our allies cannot abandon our obligations to the people of West Berlin."

Does this mean that while the Allies are naturally advocating no change "in the present situation," they are fully aware that the Soviets intend to sign a peace treaty with East Germany, thereby passing the responsibility to that country for handling "access rights" to West Berlin?

There are rumors already that while Mr. Kennedy made no "concessions," he gave the impression that the Allies would not go to war merely over the signing of a peace treaty between the Soviet and East Germany. This impression, if conveyed by Mr. Kennedy, could have caused Mr. Khrushchev to do his "dancing" stand in Moscow on his return there. But then, it will be asked, what was meant by the firm statements in the President's speech that the Allies "are determined to maintain those rights at any risk and thus meet our obligation to the people of West Berlin"?

The contradiction may be due to a desire on the President's part not to meet the issue militarily until an overt act by East Germany challenges Allied rights in West Berlin.

Can Hold Aloof

Meanwhile, congressional committees will not have the opportunity to interrogate the President in the same comprehensive way they could cross-examine a Secretary of State at the Capitol. Although Mr. Kennedy conducted the conversation alone with Mr. Khrushchev for lengthy periods during the meeting in Vienna, Mr. Kennedy can hold himself aloof from revealing to a congressional committee everything that happened.

This means that the representatives of the American people will not get all the facts about any commitments or promises made by the President when he became his own ambassador and presented his views to Mr. Khrushchev "directly, precisely, realistically." There is no "precise" record, therefore, or detailed statement of the American position available today either to the Congress or to the American people as a result of the Vienna meeting.

Do You Remember by Sophie Miller

I have a book covering the Reformed Church of Flatbush, N. Y., 1807-1907, and an excellent history is written by Benjamin M. Brink editor and publisher of "Olde Ulster." This book and "Olde Ulster" magazines were printed by R. W. Anderson and Son, 15 and 17 West Strand, Kingston, in 1907. The Flatbush Reformed Church history was compiled by the Rev. P. S. Beekman.

I thought those living in that section may be interested in some of the following: On February 13, 1688, Governor Thomas Dongan granted 600 acres north of the Maines patent to Jan Mattysoon & Co., which was sub-divided into three equal sections. This came from the north as far south as Kalkoen Hoeck (Turkey Point.)

Brink writes further that this section was not settled as early as other parts of the town of Saugerties, or as early as neighboring localities. The Esopus Creek cut it off from its neighbors to the north and west. There were no bridges over this stream before 1800. When the stream was low in mid-summer a rift just north of Glenerie was found available; and a scow ferry crossed at Stony Point, near the spot where now resides George W. Washburn, in the village of Saugerties. (This book was written in 1907.) A few families were Dutch with a sprinkling of Huguenots, a few from the palatines of Katsbaan and West Camp. "Kalkoen Hoeck" or Turkey Point was known from the days when the earliest Dutch skippers reached up the river.

The present Flatbush Avenue out of Kingston appears on very early maps as "Het Kalkoen pot," the turkey road, or road to Turkey Point. As Dutchmen pushed over the high hill on the road and passed beyond the Kingston City Almshouse, they saw the wooded valley extending to the Hudson. They caught the view from a height which lifted them above its trees and, like the aborigines before their day, it was a place of low flat woods. They called it "vlakke bosch," flat woods, as the Indians had done before them. The name survives in the name of this church. The trustees' map of 1804 is in this book. It locates every parcel at that time, by number and name. Such names as P. Van Keuren, Benj. York, Jacobus Van Gaasbeek, Cornelius Legg, B. DeWitt's Children, and many others, covering over 100 parcels of land. "Large tracts of land were conveyed, all to farmers able to settle upon their acres and cultivate." Another item reads: "The lands about the three successive falls in Esopus at Glenerie had been granted to Arent Teunis Pier as early as 1688. Except in a very modest way this great privilege had never been put to service, and was not until Colonel Edward Clark established white lead works there about 1835." For the enjoyment of their religious privileges the settlers of this region drove to Kingston. Those within a short distance of the mouth of the Escpus crossed with the scow ferry and went to Katsbaan.

Fast-Moving, Dramatized Approach

By ROBERT T. GRAY

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP) — Gov. Rockefeller plans a unique, blitzkreig-type of operation to deal with political and governmental problems throughout the state.

This fast-moving, dramatized approach is in line with the Rockefeller personality and methods of operating.

The governor, with a wide range of political, governmental, national and international interests, has shown little inclination for the normal channels of state-local relationships and routine government activity.

Dislikes Usual Procedures

Ordinarily, representatives of communities with highway and other problems would bring them to the State Captiol. The governor or his top aides would deal with them on a piecemeal basis.

But, except for the annual legislative session and bill-signing period, Rockefeller moves so fast that he finds usual procedures not to his liking.

In recent weeks he has helped form a Republican ticket for the New York City mayoral race, has been to Washington twice, has travelled to New Jersey to help that state's Republican candidate for governor, has met with several international visitors, and has spoken at a series of political events.

Discussions with New Jersey over mammoth projects involving the Port of New York Authority also have taken much of his time recently.

To Gain Attention

The type of political forays he now plans into Upstate areas will engender far more attention and publicity in the areas involved than the governor would realize by dealing with the same problems from his desk in Albany or New York City.

The on-the-scene visits are designed to help allay claims that Rockefeller is concentrating too much on New York City affairs and not paying enough attention to the Republican strongholds Upstate.

The first of the new-style expenditions went this week to Syracuse. A general pattern for future operations was established.

First, the governor's staff and local officials reviewed a long list of problem areas. Decisions, to be announced by the governor on the scene, were reached.

A schedule that would take the governor into many parts of the area and into touch with a cross-section of the community was drafted.

Finally, at an all-day meeting, the governor reviewed the arrangements with his staff. Local political leaders handled advance publicity and plans for receptions, private meetings and conferences with VIPs.

Good at Grass Roots

Arriving at the head of a group of state officials, Rockefeller moved quickly from one area to another — highways, schools, urban renewal, industrial development, local political problems and other issues.

At his request, the general public was invited to a mass meeting to ask questions. Rockefeller considers himself especially capable of dealing with voters at the grass-roots level and looked upon this meeting as a means of easing opposition to his tax-increase or other programs that have cost him support among voters.

The new-type Rockefeller operation sounds much like a political campaign and closely resembles one.

The pointing with pride to things accomplished, the promises of future achievements, the speeches of local candidates and the smiling, waving governor greeting voters on sidewalks will all be repeated in 1962, when Rockefeller will be running for re-election.

Girl Gets Prison For 20 Years in Robbery Slaying

TROY, N.Y. (AP) — Betty Joy Ebert, a girl her father said was driven from home by his drinking, bankruptcy and drugs, has been sentenced to 20 years to life in prison for killing a married man in a lovers' lane.

Betty Joy, 16, ran away last August from her Chicago home and went to New Orleans. Then she moved to New York City and decided to stage a series of holdups to obtain $1,000 bail for a boy friend who was in jail there.

She bought a revolver in Bennington, Vt., and took a bus to Albany.

In Albany, while walking near the bus station March 3, truck-driver James M. Kilduff, offered her a ride.

He had sex in mind, she said, while she had robbery. They struggled. She shot him, stole $12 from the body and made off in his automobile.

But Betty Joy did not know how to drive. Police arrested her in Watervliet.

She was charged with first-degree murder but pleaded guilty Wednesday to second-degree murder. Judge DeForrest C. Pitt of Rensselaer County Court sentenced her to the state women's prison at Bedford Hills, Westchester County.

Her father, Raymond C. Ebert, 46, a machinist, pleaded that his daughter was a "mixed up little girl" driven from home by his drinking and other family difficulties.

Church Council Endorses Stand On School Aid

Herbert O. Frost, president of the Kingston Area Council of Churches recently announced the Area Council suports the National Council of Churches pronouncement of policy statement regarding "Public Funds for Public Schools."

He reported the National Council recently reaffirmed its unqualified support of the public school system; that it is opposed to grants from tax funds for non-public elementary and secondary schools. That it is opposed to payment from public funds for "tuition or "scholarships" for children who attend private or church related elementary or secondary schools and that it is opposed to tax credits and exemptions from school taxes or other taxes for parents whose children attend non-public elementary or secondary schools.

Frost announced further that the Area Council of Churches at its last executive committee meeting authorized contributions in the respective amounts of $100 to the Mid-Hudson Area Migrant Committee toward the support of a child care center at the Clintondale School, Town of Plattekill, during the 1961 growing and harvesting season, and $175 to the Rip Van Winkle Council of Boy Scouts toward the support of a chaplain at the Scout Camp Tri-Mount, East Jewett, this summer.

Frost announced also there will be an executive committee meeting of the Kingston Area Council of Churches 7:45 tonight at St. James Methodist Church Fair and Pearl Streets.

No Files on Gassed, Shot

None 'Killed' At Auschwitz, Survivor Says

By THOMAS A. REEDY

JERUSALEM, Israel (AP) — A woman survivor of the Auschwitz death camp testified today at the Adolf Eichmann trial that persons gassed or shot were not recorded —or their files were destroyed— so that camp registry books showed only disease as a cause of death.

"According to the files, nobody was killed in Auschwitz —not one," said Raya Kagan, who worked in the camp as a clerk and now is an official in the Israeli foreign ministry.

The Lithuanian-born woman told the trial court she was sent to Auschwitz as a young girl from France, where she had been studying. She said in Auschwitz she was chosen "haphazardly" as a clerk because she could speak German. She said she and a few other Jewish women worked in the camp administration office which registered the deaths and the live prisoners of Auschwitz.

Mrs. Kagan said there were forms even for punishment of inmates, listing how many whip lashes were given to a prisoner or how much time he spent in a tiny arrest cell in which he could only stand.

"We received certificates of death," she continued, "and in a short time it became clear to us that this was a camouflage. We had to record in the forms all sorts of diseases as cause of death such as pneumonia, general weakness, syphilis and so on."

She said the files also recorded "the number of gold teeth, artificial teeth, anything of value."

Miss Kagan said she did not recall a single case of a Jew being freed from Auschwitz by the Nazis.

Could Halt Flight

WASHINGTON (AP)—When the first U.S. astronaut is rocketed into orbit, a chain of doctors will be checking his pulse, heart and other reactions by radio as he sweeps through space.

If the astronaut seems to be in trouble, the doctors can recommend that the flight be termnated.

The plans were outlined by Maj. Gen. O. K. Neiss, Air Force surgeon general, and by Air Force Col. Vance H. Marchbanks.

Marchbanks is one of 20 armed services and Public Health Service doctors who will make radio diagnoses of the astronaut's condition.

4 Former Cage Stars Seized in Spreading Scandal

NEW YORK (AP)—Four former college basketball players were arrested on charges of conspiracy and bribery in the latest development of the spreading basketball scandals, it was announced today.

The four, previously named as coconspirators, in connection with the indictments of Aaron Wagman and Joseph Hacken, are Dave Budin, former Brooklyn College captain, Jerry Vogel and Dan Quindazzi, former Alabama players, and Lou Brown of North Carolina.

The announcements were made by Dist. Atty. Frank S. Hogan, who broke open the latest basketball fixing scandals last March 17.

Wagman, 28, a convicted football fixer from New York, was indicted last April 27 on 37 counts of bribery and attempts to bribe college basketball players.

Hacken, 49, New York, was indicted May 24 on 17 counts of bribery and attempted bribery.

Twenty-nine players from 17 colleges from coast to coast have been involved in the current disclosures.

THE PRESIDENT KEEPS A PROMISE — President Kennedy keeps a 15-month-old promise by greeting the senior class of Tomah, Wis., High School in the White House Rose Garden just before he flew to Annapolis to speak at the Naval Academy commencement exercises. OAS Opens Up Trujillo Probe

CIUDAD TRUJILLO, Dominican Republic (AP)—A commission from the Organization of American States begins investigating today to see if Generalissimo Rafael L. Trujillo's heirs are making good on their promise to end oppression.

President Joaquin Balaguer, the slain dictator's hand-picked chief executive, named Leland Rosemberg as the Dominican Republic's liaison man with the OAS mission.

Rosemberg Optimistic

Rosemberg talked at length Wednesday night with one of the OAS team, Carlos A. Culow of Uruguay. The two had been in Bonn together until 1958 as their governments' ambassadors to West Germany.

Rosemberg was optimistic later, saying: "We will develop a few things, they will develop a few things and then matters will materialize."

Augusto Arango, Panamanian ambassador in Washington and head of the 13 OAS investigators, said there was no time limit and he did not know when the investigation would be finished. His group is from Panama, Colombia, Uruguay and the United States.

The investigators will determine whether OAS sanctions imposed last summer — economic boycotts and breaks in diplomatic relations—are still justified. The Dominican government insists they are not.

Successors Busy

Since Trujillo's assassination May 30 after 31 years of rule, Balaguer and Gen. Rafael L. Trujillo Jr., made armed forces chief upon his father's death, have been busy trying to convince the rest of the Western Hemisphere that the Dominican Republic is now worthy of restored fellowship in the American community.

A government spokesman reported today that the once powerful and dreaded chief of military intelligence, John Abbes Garcia, left the country Wednesday after his army lieutenant colonelcy had been taken from him. Garcia was removed as intelligence chief some time ago. His destination was not disclosed.

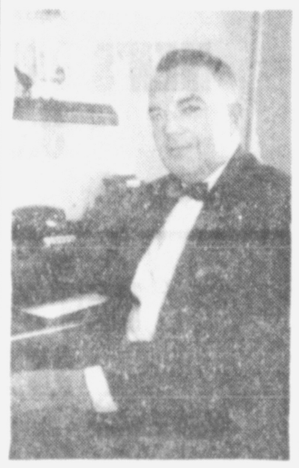
The government also freed the first prisoner under a new political amnesty plan. Sources said that once their legal papers have been signed, others would follow Jose Bosch Hermano out of prison. He is the brother of Juan Bosch, a well known opposition leader now living outside the country.

Elevator Anyone?

NEWPORT NEWS, Va. (AP) —You aren't crowded on the elevators of the Navy's new atomic-powered carrier Enterprise. Each of the four elevators has a surface more than 4,000 square feet in area—large enough for two average city lots. Built of aluminum to save weight, each weighs 105 tons and contains one and a quarter miles of aluminum beams one to ten feet deep.

St. David, the patron of Wales, kept himself alive during long periods of fasting by eating leeks, an onion-like plant. The leek is now the national emblem of Wales.

The average baby uses about 5,000 diapers a year; some may use as many as 7,000.



HOWARD I. SPAULDING

Awarded Patent For Controlled Pouring Spout

Experiencing some trouble while trying to fill a power mower with gas two years ago has led to a U. S. Patent for a Kingston man.

Howard I. Spaulding of Lakeview Avenue told The Freeman today he has been notified that U. S. Patent No. 2,986,310, was issued to him as of May 30, 1961, for his controlled flow pouring spout product.

Spaulding, who has a legion of friends in the sports circles of Kingston, explains his product as one that will allow a person to transfer liquids of any consistency from a larger container of any size to even a small bottle, drop by drop, if necessary, with a free flow and no air interference.

The local inventor reports that his product, cost-wise, should be in a class with the 5 and 10 cent store trade. He evisions a demand exceeding at least 150 million annually when it is firmly established.

Signer of the U. S. Patent, with full protection for 17 years, was David L. Ladd, U. S. Commissioner of Patents.

Spaulding is a former president of the Kingston Bowling Association and is now a life member of that organization.

Driver Suspended

VERNON, N.Y. (AP)—Edward Miller of The Bronx drew a three-day suspension today from judges at Vernon Downs harness track for alleged carless driving in the fifth race Wednesday night.

While driving Contour, the judges said, Miller veered out and forced Daydream, driven by Richard Huber, to go off gait.

Contour finished third and Daydream sixth in the race, won by Abbe Run.

Miller, suspended from today through Saturday, will be eligible to drive again Monday night.

'Rock' Dehumanized

MARQUETTE, Mich. (AP)— Stannard Rock lighthouse, often referred to as the "loniest" outpost in the United States, will be converted to automatic operation shortly after the opening of the 1961 navigation system.

Resident personnel no longer will be required to man the lighthouse which is 45 miles north of here in Lake Superior.

The Coast Guard now assigns two men to the "rock."

Over Tractor Swap

Reply to Castro Coming Despite Dirksen Warning

DETROIT (AP)—The Tractors for Freedom Committee replies today to the terms under which Cuban Prime Minister Fidel Castro would trade 1,200 men for 500 machines despite a congressional leader's warning that it "will be getting on tenuous ground" if it attempts to negotiate wih Casro.

Walter P. Reuther, committee co-chairman and president of the United Auto Workers Union, said Wednesday the committee expected to have a reply ready to a cable from Castro in which the Cuban leader outlined his terms for the proposed tractors for prisoners trade. Reuther said no reply was made Wednesday because it was physically impossible to get the committee together.

Reuther said the committee felt Castro's terms "leave the way open for negotiations."

The committee was formed after Castro made an ofier May 17 to trade prisoners captured in the ill-fated April invasion of Cuba for tractors.

Reuther said no decision had been made as to whether the committee would send a delegation to Cuba for a personal meeting as Castro specified in his message but observed later that it was doubtful he or any of the other leading committee members would travel to Havana for such a discussion.

Sees 'Tenuous Ground'

Senate Republican leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois said at Washington Wednesday night the committee members "will be getting on tenuous ground" if they go to Havana to discuss the deal.

Castro had said "the raising and negotiation of this problem cannot be made only by cable, and it is better that a delegation should be sent to Cuba. In this there should be one of the principal members of the committee, preferably Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt or Milton Eisenhower, whose names, because they are better known in the political spheres, would contribute to the solution of the matter."

Dirksen said that if the persons concerned accepted the Castro invitation they might run afoul of the Logan Act. The act bars individuals from dealing with foreign governments under specified circumstances. Kennedy administration officials contend the act is not involved in the tractor matter.

The committee was organized at the suggestion of President Kennedy. But the President also has said the U.S. government would take no part in any exchange, and Reuther has emphasized that Castro's cable has not been discussed with the President.

Memoriam

In loving memory of William J. Reardon who passed away three years ago today, June 8:

What would I give to clasp his hand,
His happy face to see,
To hear his voice and see his smile,
That meant so much to me.

WIFE AND FAMILY

Memoriam

In memory of my dear husband, Raymond Barley, who left us one year ago, June 8, 1960:

Though his smile is gone forever,
And his face I cannot touch;
I shall ever lose sweet memories
Of one I loved so much.
The one I love was taken away,
God took him home; it was His will.
He is gone to his home in Heaven above,
But here on Earth I love him still.

Think It Through

WHAT HAPPENED TO WHALE OIL?

It is generally a mistake for politicians to try to bolster up depressed areas or industries. History proves this over and over.

If an area or industry is depressed because of previously mistaken legislation, the law should be repealed. But if they become depressed for economic reasons, the politicians should keep hands off.

Take whale oil. That industry was a great and necessary one down to about 1850. Whaling ships searched every sea. There was "no climate that was not witness to their toil; no sea not vexed with their ships."

Then came coal oil, or kerosene, and New Bedford and Nantucket became depressed areas. Government, however, kept hands off and whaling men and their sons found other jobs.

With the coming of natural gas, kerosene for lighting started a long decline despite more millions of homes. The smelly lamp gave way to the gas jet, which was soon obsoleted by electric light.

E. F. Hutton

Suppose all these new industries had been taxed to keep the dying ones alive! Government kept hands off, and the free competition of better and cheaper products caused the most rapid technological progress in history.

Congress is now urged to legislate increased coal consumption by 100 million tons a year to relieve unemployment in the coal industry which has pushed wage scales to the highest levels in America. Congress can do that only at the cost of other industries and their employees.

Wilkin Rebukes Freedom Riders

JACKSON, Miss. (AP) — Nine more "Freedom Riders" sit idle in Jackson jails today following unsuccessful attempts to desegregate terminal facilities at an airport and a bus station.

For 16 days segregation-defying Freedom Riders have converged on Mississippi's capital with no intention of letting up. And Jackson city police have promptly arrested 81 Negroes and whites on breach of peace charges.

3 Come by Plane

Wednesday's airport terminal integration attempt was the first here and adds to one similar attempt on the train terminal and numerous attempts at bus terminals.

The latest group of arrivals were three airborne riders from the St. Louis area Wednesday. They were arrested almost immediately after their arrival by Delta Airline. All were Negroes.

Only hours earlier three whites and three Negroes were arrested following their arrival by bus from Nashville, Tenn., via Memphis.

The airborne integrationists were arrested after attempting to use dining and restroom facilities at Municipal Airport. The terminal waiting room isn't segregated, but the other facilities are.

Gwendolyn Jenkins, 21, of St. Louis, was arrested as she attempted to enter the white women's rest room, while Robert Jenkins, 27, also of St. Louis (no relation) was arrested when he sat down at a table in the for-whites-only restaurant. The third rider, Ralph Washington, 25, of the Webster Grove community near St. Louis, was standing at the door of the white men's restroom when arrested.

The first claim of open integration in Jackson was made Wednesday night by Charles Jones, dean of Campbell (Negro) College. He said seven Negro students Tuesday used whites-only seating and white drinking fountains at the city zoo.

NAACP Official Critical

In two separate statements Wednesday Roy Wilkins, executive secretary of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, indirectly rebuked the Freedom Riders.

Wilkins told newsmen in the afternoon that unconstitutional laws could not be overthrown by going to jail.

At a NAACP meeting Wednesday night Wilkins spelled out differences with other Negro organizations.

"We know that shock troops are necessary," he said. "We know that testing and challenging are necessary, but affirmative action by judicial, legislative and executive means is indispensable. This is still a nation of law."

Earlier in Chicago, the Rev. Richard Gleason, 24, white Baptist minister, denied published reports he intended to quit the Freedom Rides or that he said the movement was dominated by Communists and atheists.

The Rev. Mr. Gleason was arrested in Jackson last week. He was convicted on breach of peace charges and paid a fine of $197. At that time he said he was through with Freedom Riders.

Mayone Is Chosen

mas, Kingston, was elected secretary; Patricia Bender, Kingston, assistant secretary and Norman Eckert of Wallkill, was re-elected as the club's treasurer.

Criticize Kennedy

In a lively session marked by several contests for office, the Republican group in a strongly worded resolution, criticized President Kennedy by asserting he "has willingly played into the conniving hands of the ruthless Castro, by encouraging American citizens to submit to undisguised blackmail by sending tractors and or bulldozers, to strengthen the insulting Cuban nation in return for the release of political prisoners."

The resolution further indicated that the Young Republicans found such actions difficult to reconcile with the nation's recent Memorial Day tribute to those of many wars who fought to make the nation great. Copies of the resolution are to be sent to United States Senators Javits and Keating and to Congressman Wharton.

Commend Rockefeller

The group in another resolution, commended Governor Nelson A. Rockefeller for the recent appointment of Robert C. Shantz to the Advisory Council on Pensions to the State Civil Service Commission and further praising the Governor for his interest in bringing young people into the government of the State of New York.

Schantz is an active member of the Young Republicans and has served in several capacities with that group.

Trooper Robert Vasisko of the Wurtsboro state police was driving along Route 209 on night patrol about 5:30 a. m. today when he saw flames near fuel tanks at the Wurtsboro Oil Co.

Clues Are Slim In Strangulation Of Georgia Women

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP) — Authorities worked today on slim clues to the apparent strangulation slaying of two Georgia women who dropped from sight early on Memorial Day. They had driven to Jacksonville to make a hunch bet on the dog races.

The partly unclothed bodies of Althea Ottavio, 43, and Patricia Ann Hewett, 25, were seen Wednesday from a helicopter in a palmetto and pine woods area southwest of the city.

The women had been dead several days.

Investigators from the sheriff's office said it appeared the women were throttled with their own clothing.

When the Valdosta, Ga., women drove the 122 miles to Jacksonville May 29, it was to be a lark celebrating Mrs. Ottavio's 43rd birthday that day and Mrs. Hewett's 26th birthday June 10.

Mrs. Ottavio, who was widowed in World War II, had a dream that led her to believe the 2-5 daily double would win at the Orange Park Kennel Club and planned to bet it.

The 2-5 daily double did win that night and paid $177 for $2. Investigators haven't learned if the women were there and bet on it.

Although Mrs. Ottavio often visited race tracks, it was a new experience for Mrs. Hewett, a native of Detroit, Mich.

She had never been on a long trip away from her husband, William Charles Hewett, since they were married in 1952. They had four children—the oldest 5 and the youngest 3 months.

Mrs. Ottavio's car was found May 31 along an unpaved road southwest of Jacksonville. It was stuck in soft sand.

Officers pulled the car in but then had no report of the women being missing.

It was not until Mrs. Hewett's husband came to Jacksonville Monday of this week that an intensive search began.

President Says U.S. Will Push For Neutral Laos

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy today declared this nation's intention to keep bargaining with the Soviet Union for a neutral and independent Laos under a cease-fire, and to strive further for a nuclear test ban.

Kennedy told a newspaper group this country has no intention of resuming atomic tests despite the disappointing outcome of his talks on that subject with Soviet Premier Khrushchev.

"For the present we are going to stay in Geneva (at the nuclear test negotiations), and stand by the draft treaty we have presented," Kennedy said.

Addressing a meeting of editor and publisher clients of United Press International, Kennedy said he wants the world to know that if a nuclear test ban, first step toward a more general disarmament, cannot be arrived at, it is not the fault of the United States.

As for Laos, Kennedy said if it is impossible to reach agreement on the relatively simple matter of working out an effective cease-fire, "then how difficult—if not impossible—it would be to reach agreement on any other question."

Duke of Kent, Commoner Wed

YORK, England (AP) — The dashing Duke of Kent today brought Miss Katharine Worsley —a country girl and a commoner —into the British royal family as his bride in Britain's wedding of the year.

Forty-six TV cameras recorded the service at the 1,334-year-old Anglican Cathedral, known as York minster. The service was attended by Queen Elizabeth II and a glittering guest list of foreign royalty.

The ceremony was performed by the Archbishop of York, Dr. William Ramsey.

It was the second consecutive wedding of a member of the royal family to a commoner. Princess Margaret, the queen's younger sister, married a commoner—Antony Armstrong-Jones—last year. The Duke of Kent, 25, is a cousin of the queen.

Preliminaries were plagued by intermittent rain and the wedding service had hardly been concluded when a hailstorm broke.

Outside the church a crowd suffered stoically through both the rain and the hail, determined to see as much as possible.

The bride, a fair-haired former tomboy with a turned-up nose, is the daughter of a well-to-do Yorkshire squire, Sir William Worsley. She is 28, three years senior to the duke.

Stevenson is understood to have told associates that whether the United States would move for a political meeting of the Organization of American States at this time depends upon the reaction of the countries he visits on his 18-day tour. The coolness to any action against Castro that he met in Venezuela an dhere in Argentina appears to have dimmed chances for any such meeting in the immediate future.

Khrushchev Gift From JFK Gentle Reminder as Well

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy has given Soviet Premier Khrushchev something to remember him by—a model of the historic U.S. frigate Constitution, a symbol of the nation's determination.

The ship, dubbed "Old Ironsides," played an important part in the War of 1812.

The White House disclosed that Kennedy, an old sailor and history buff, gave the 2½-foot model to Khrushchev during their talks at Vienna.

Nikita Louder

dation stone in American security.

Contends Dag Biased

United Nations — Khrushchev contended the U.N. actions in the Congo, under the direction of Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold, were not neutral but were pointed against Soviet interests. Never again, he said, would the Soviet Union be placed in a position where its national security policies could be interfered with by the international organization.

This was the beginning, he indicated of the "troika" policy under which the Soviets would insist that the unanimous vote of a three-man board—on which the East, West and a neutral would be represented—direct the actions of international commissions, including the United Nations.

Says Castro Not Communist

Cuba—Khrushchev does not regard Castro as a Communist. But he told Kennedy "you are well on the way to making him a good one." The Soviet leader indicated he regards Castro as unstable.

Laos — Khrushchev said he wasn't interested in trying to make the Laotian government Communist. He would be glad to settle for a neutral regime. Kennedy asked if the Soviet leader would help get the Geneva conference on Laos off the ground and he promised to do so.

Talks About Wars

Wars — Khrushchev said there were three kinds. He predicted that there will never be a nuclear war. He drew a rough map of the Soviet Union's land mass, fringed with satellites. If it is a conventional war, he said, "we will put five divisions where you put one."

The third kind was a "holy" war of peoples trying to overthrow tyrannical governments. Though he denied that the Soviet Union would give active backing in these, he said the Soviets will support such movements.

Nuclear Testing — Khrushchev stuck firmly by his demand for "troika" control. Kennedy got the definite impression the Soviet leader is not interested in having any test ban and shows no alarm about the possible proliferation of weapons to other nations, including Communist China.

Reports on DeGaulle

Kennedy also reported, more briefly, on his "very satisfactory" conversations with French President Charles de Gaulle. They talked in frank and cordial language.

De Gaulle wants his own nuclear force because he fears that in a showdown the United States might not defend Paris. He argued that times have changed radically since the North Atlantic Treaty Organization was formed.

Then, he said, the United States had a monopoly on nuclear weapons. Now, he went on, that monopoly is gone and the United States is committed to defend Kennedy replied that the United States is commited to defend France and would do so. He could accept that so far as Kennedy was concerned, De Gaulle said, but what about the American President's successor? He said he had to take the long range view in thinking of France's safety.

Reaction to Plea

he said, the Peace Corps already has requests for more than 4,000 Americans to work in just eight countries.

He added: "I am convinced that 50,000 jobs need filling—and they need filling now—in the 103 underdeveloped areas of the world."

Would Fill Them Now

He urged business and industry leaders to clear the way for "trained and aggressive people" — from top-level administrators and technicians to secretaries—to take two-year leaves of absence to work with the Peace Corps and assure them of re-employment benefits on their return.

He urged labor unions to provide the skilled manpower from its ranks without penalizing their re-employment rights.

ROGER E. SPEAR

Q) "Because of my broker's recommendation, I made a nice short term profit in a stock. Does he deserve a 'tip' for his advice? If so, how much?" H. L.

A) Brokers are definitely not to be tipped for their services. Regulations of the investment business forbid the acceptance of gratuities as well as the sharing of profits in customers' accounts. The normal commission is ample payment for your broker's help. Anything extra might mean the loss of his job.

Q) "I am now alone—in my 60's and own my home free of mortgage. I have income of $190 a month. Unable to work, I am struggling to pay from present dividends $3,000 borrowed to pay for my husband's last illness. I own General Motors, Sinclair, Texas Gulf Sulphur, Socony, Kennecott, McCrory, 100 A. T. & T. and some Consolidated Edison. I'd like to increase my capital by selling some stock—say Kennecott or Texas Gulf—and purchase a low-cost stock with good possibilities of appreciation. What do you advise?" L. I.

A) With one exception, I advise you to sit tight. I have the very deepest sympathy and understanding for your lonely position, but I don't believe you should try for gains in low-priced stocks at the possible risk of your capital.

Your list as it is now constituted is a pretty good one, with better than average yield and moderate appreciation prospects. Kennecott is an excellent stock in its group; the price of copper has been raised and will probably be raised again; and these shares appear to me to be headed for higher prices. I believe your capital invested in Kennecott will increase in value substantially over the next 12 months, and I would not switch at present levels.

Texas Gulf Sulphur is a different story. There is a limited outlook here, in my opinion, and I think you might well switch this stock into California Electric Power at about the same price level. Your yield would be little impaired and I believe your growth outlook would be definitely improved. From the standpoint of security, you'd be better off, too.

Sparkman Sees Senate Approval Of Housing Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate administration forces predicted today they would be able to beat off all attacks on the $6.19 billion housing bill after victories in initial tests.

Sen. John Sparkman, D-Ala., floor manager for the measure, said it now was over the hump. He forecast final passage without substantial change.

The Senate finally got around to voting on major amendments Wednesday, the fourth day of debate. It turned down three proposed important Republican changes on mostly party-line divisions.

Several more amendments were pending, but Sparkman said he believed a voting pattern had been established.

Wednesday's key roll call was on an attempt by Sen. Homer E. Capehart, R-Ind., to knock out of the bill one section of the new moderate income family housing program advanced by the administration.

This was beaten 50 to 41. Sparkman said he believed this would be the bill's closest call.

The section would authorize below-market-rate government loans with interest as low as 3⅛ per cent, to non-profit groups to build rental apartments for families in the $4,000-$6,000 income bracket.

Aborigines Increasing

DARWIN, Australia (AP) — The native aborigines — often called a "dying race"—are increasing in Australia's Northern Territory. Welfare Director Harry Giese told the Legislative Council the Territory's native population is 16,000. But, he added, the birthrate indicates there would be 18,000 by 1965 and 26,000 by 1980. There are some 40,000 full blood aborigines in Australia today, compared with an estimated 350,000 when the white man arrived in 1788.

Tree owners can protect their trees from lightning by making them into living lightning rods. It's done by extending copper mesh cable down the trunk and imbedding it 6 to 8 feet into the ground well beyond the branch spread.

FOOD FOR AMERICANS

Barbecued Lobster Is Man's Favorite

HERE'S something for the head barbecuer of the house to try his culinary skill at: outdoor grilled rock lobster tails.

GAYNOR MADDOX
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

We've found that men like to barbecue rock lobster on the outdoor grill. Also that not only the men but the women and children like to eat them. And here's the trick: Let frozen rock lobster tails defrost in refrigerator or outdoors. When thawed, use kitchen shears to cut away thin underside membrane. Grasp tail firmly in both hands and bend backward toward shell side to "crack" shell in several places.

Or insert skewers through entire tail to prevent curling. Brush flesh with basting sauce and place on grill over hot coals. Barbecue 5 minutes on flesh side; turn; grill shell side another 5 to 10 minutes, basting top once or twice more. Lobster is done when meat has just turned creamy white and opaque. Serve with cucumber-horseradish sauce.

BASTING SAUCE FOR SOUTH AFRICAN ROCK LOBSTER

3 tablespoons olive oil
¼ pound butter, melted
1 teaspoon paprika
1 tablespoon Worcestershire sauce
Juice 2 lemons
Salt
Pepper
2 tablespoons brandy, if desired

Blend all ingredients together and keep warm in small pan on grill.

CUCUMBER-HORSERADISH DIP SAUCE

2 cucumbers
1 cup mayonnaise
4 teaspoons prepared horseradish
2 teaspoons chopped chives
½ teaspoon salt
Dash red pepper

Peel cucumbers and remove seeds. Grate or chop very fine; drain off liquid. Should be 1 cup or a little more. Mix with rest of ingredients and blend well. Stand in refrigerator in covered jar for 1 to 2 hours to blend flavors.

Why is it people never get so old they can't learn something foolish?

For men who love sharp cheddar

(and women who love them)

As far as we know, MacLaren's Imperial is the oldest brand of cheddar sold in North America, or maybe the world. In Canada, that able Scotsman, the late Mr. Alex MacLaren, started marketing this truly sharp club cheddar (in opal glass pots!) about 1891. When we bought the thriving MacLaren business in 1921 we discontinued the "pots," but never, never changed the quality of the cheddar one whit. Now we're proud to offer it, in a handy new 10-oz. stick, to all devotees of genuinely sharp cheddar. Kraft Foods, Chicago.

P.S. Please bear in mind this is natural cheese, not processed. "Club" simply means that long-long aged cheddars have been blended together so they're SPREADABLE.

Kennedy Suffers New Back Injury

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy has been suffering from a new back injury since May 16, the White House disclosed today.

There is no serious concern, it was said officially.

Kennedy kept the injury secret from members of his staff.

It was known, of course, to his personal physician, Dr. Janet Travell.

White House press secretary Pierre Salinger said there is no connection between Kennedy's present back trouble and that from which he had suffered previously and for which he underwent a delicate operation several years ago.

Kennedy suffered the new injury in Ottawa May 16, the first day of his Canadian trip.

It occurred when he was lifting several spades of dirt while planting a tree at Government House, residence of Canada's governor general.

Salinger called reporters into his office to tell them about the injury. He said Kennedy would appear today on crutches.

But, even as Salinger was talking with reporters, the President telephoned Salinger to say he would not use crutches today but would wait at least another day to see how he felt.

Salinger disclosed that Kennedy did use crutches for two days while at Hyannis Port, Mass. This was just prior to his trip to Paris, Vienna and London.

Salinger said Dr. Travell described the injury as a lumbosacral strain.

Roll out leftover dough from pie and cut out small circles. Fill with a mixture of currant jelly and chopped nuts and fold over and seal in turnover style. Bake in a hot oven.

Big Electric Utility Beacon Will Focus Attention on Fair

The greatest concentration of light ever beamed straight up into the sky will be generated from the proposed Tower of Light exhibit building to be erected for the 1964-65 New York World's Fair by the nation's electric utility industry.

Ernest R. Acker, board chairman of the Central Hudson Gas and Electric Corporation and president of Power and Light Exhibit, Inc., the organization that will construct and operate the industry's exhibit, told more than 3500 delegates to the 29th annual convention of the Edison Electric Institute yesterday of plans for the Tower of Light which will be visible from Washington, D. C. to Boston.

Acker told the convention delegates at the Waldorf Astoria Hotel in New York City that the 24-billion candlepower beacon eminating from the industry's 80-foot high rainbow-colored building will help focus the public mind on the exhibit and on the fair itself.

Must Meet Competition

Acker referred to Fair President Robert Moses' statement that "the Fair will be not only a place to exhibit....but a forum in which national ambition and ideologies are....promoted. We must be prepared not only to meet the challenges of the nations of the Free World, but also the competition of Soviet Russia and its satellites who will make every effort to prove in this world forum that they are at the very forefront of progress, and that their totalitarian system is capable of doing more and better things for mankind than our democratic system of enterprise. This is the kind of competition that the ingenuity, training, energy and ability of American industry must meet."

The utility executive stated that "as representatives of the investor-owned electric utility companies in America, we are well aware of our industry's essential role in preserving and developing our national strength and our free society, and are, therefore, particularly fitted to take up the opportunity and the challenge offered by this great promotional enterprise."

Has Seven Themes

Acker, who is a past president and is currently a director of the Edison Electric Institute, reported that the industry's exhibit will have seven general display themes. "First, a dramatic presentation will show the great abundance in electric power supply which the nation enjoys, and various aspects of the system which produces and distributes energy. Second, the story of research, development and growth will be presented from Edison's initial pioneering contributions to the great power pools of today.

"Third, displays will cover the price record indicating how the industry's development, under government regulation, has resulted over the years in a remarkable record of lower prices per kilowatt-hour despite inflation and increasing costs of labor, material and supplies. Fourth, the uses of electric energy will be shown in a major portion of the exhibit, with the exciting examples of applications in the home, on the farm, and in industry and commerce.

To Stress Financing

"Fifth, financing the industry's growth in the free market will be given significant attention. Included will be displays on the industry's annual investment in new facilities and how it affects various phases of the economy, on the ownership of the industry, and on its tax contributions to all levels of government.

"Sixth, America's power supply compared with the rest of the world will form the basis of another category of displays, showing in different ways the electrical leadership position of the United States.

"Finally, a group of displays will be concerned with the industry's plans for the future, including what is expected from research and development" in many fields.

Acker stated "our basic purpose will be to make sure that when a visitor leaves our building, he is convinced as never before that our industry is vitally concerned with his well-being and that we can be counted on to continue to provide the best in electric service for his benefit now and in the future."

Bridge Collapses At Prattsville; 6 Reported Hurt

Five workmen and another, believed to be a construction company superintendent were reported injured Tuesday afternoon when the iron and concrete bridge over Batavia Kill at Prattsville, Greene County, collapsed during reconstruction work on the short span.

News reporters experienced some difficulty in obtaining the names of those injured, however none are believed to be from Ulster County.

State Public Works Department said the bridge platform was being raised to a new support and the support may have failed causing the span to collapse and throwing a number of workmen into the creek near Red Falls.

Two of the injured in the area are Arthur Rideout of RD 2, Germantown, and Charles Hatfield of RD 1, Ghent, both Columbia County. Both were admitted to Greene County Memorial Hospital, Catskill.

'Coffin' Launcher Destroyed When Atlas Blows Up

VANDENBERG AIR FORCE BASE, Calif. (AP)—A recently completed "coffin" launcher—and the only one of its kind nearing combat readiness—was destroyed when an Atlas intercontinental missile blew up on its pad.

Observers heard two, and possibly three, sharp blasts as the powerful new "series E" Atlas disintegrated Wednesday amid sheets of orange flame. The missile was intended to soar 4,000 miles out over the Pacific.

There were no reports of injuries and the Air Force offered no detailed explanation of the blast.

The launcher was valued at $2 million. It was part of a complex of coffin-type launchers here wherein the missiles are stored underground on their sides, protected by a sliding hangar from attack or sabotage. On signal, the hangar slides back and the missile is raised for fueling and firing.

Officials said the explosion would cause an indefinite delay in making the improved type of missile launcher operational.

Downtown Man Is Held on Charges Involving Child

David Matthew Whispell Sr., 52, of 31 East Pierpont Street, was arrested Wednesday afternoon by local police on charges of incest and endangering the life and health of a child.

A plea of innocent was entered for him today by Attorney Thomas F. Saccoman and City Judge Aaron E. Klein put over to Friday hearing on the incest charge. Bail was fixed at $10,000 cash or $20,000 property on the incest charge and $500 cash on the other. It was not posted.

Police said the age of the girl involved was 15. The arrest was by Lt. Lemuel Howard, Detective Albert Hutton, and Officer Otto Short.

Credentials Returned

TEHRAN, Iran (AP)—Prime Minister Ali Amini today reinstated the working credentials of Associated Press correspondent Parvis Raein.

Raein's credentials were lifted a week ago after he quoted striking telegraph workers as saying several of them were injured when police and troops broke up their strike.

The government denied any workers were injured and accused Raein of fabrication.

Bookmobile Given To Local Library

PHOENICIA — At a regular dinner-meeting of the Phoenicia Rotary Club at the Phoenicia Hotel last Thursday evening, a new bookmobile for the Town of Shandaken was dedicated.

Samuel Goldstein, transportation superintendent for the Consolidated Laundries, handed the keys to the truck over to Rotary President Rudy Frank who, in turn presented them to Martin Rubin, president of the Phoenicia Library Association.

Mr. Rubin, who is also a Rotarian, had written to Mr. Goldstein at the request of the club, and Consolidated Laundries officers decided to donate the truck.

Prior to last Thursday's official sendoff, the donated truck had been repainted and "Phoenicia Library Bookmobile" in old English lettering had been printed on each side. The walk-in vehicle will be outfitted with cork flooring, lighting and shelves by the Phoenicia Rotary Club.

The official committees from area libraries, including Woodstock, Olive and West Hurley were guests at the dedication dinner.

Harold Harlan, director of the Mid-Hudson Libraries of which Phoenicia and other named libraries are members was the principal speaker. Mr. Harlan, who came here from Michigan where he directed a large public library, praised the library system in New York State as being "unique" and setting a "pattern" for the other states.

Harlan, who holds a master's degree in library science, said that of the 55 small libraries in the area, 43 are now members of the Mid-Hudson Libraries.

Delightful Topping

Cream cheese makes a delightful topping for hot gingerbread if you whip it with confectioners sugar, grated lemon rind and a little lemon juice. Old-fashioned American cooks often coupled the lemond flavor with spices.

Leg of lamb and chuck roast offer the housewife the best opportunity to beat the high cost of living this week, judging by supermarket and grocery store advertisements.

Supplies Cut Prices

Increased supplies of most meats have resulted in lower prices in many areas in recent weeks. The outlook is for further boosts in volume and more reductions at the meat counters.

This week's specials in lamb turn up in New England, the East, Midwest and Far West.

Chuck roast is a headline attraction in New England, the South and Midwest. Other beef cuts, notably top and bottom round roasts, also are featured in a number of places.

Eggs are climbing, with markups over last week of 2 to 10 cents a dozen.

Bargain hunters can find a bewildering variety of fresh fruits and vegetables at produce counters these days. This is chiefly due to an increasing number of items just in from nearby farms.

Produce men say the best vegetable buys are asparagus, corn, green onions, radishes, rhubarb, spinach, lettuce, potatoes, squash and assorted cooking greens such as collards, mustard greens and turnip tops.

Other Good Buys

Good buys included beets, cabbage, carrots, celery, escarole, mushrooms, onions, parsley, peppers and watercress.

Oranges, grapefruit, strawberries, bananas and, for a tropical flavor, mangoes are rated as outstanding buys. Good buys are watermelon, cantaloup, honeydew melons, peaches, blueberries, lemons and plums.

Good Deal Sours

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP) — A Tucson man had a two-way business deal going until police stepped in. Ceciro Rakestraw, 62, was contracted to haul farm workers to and from their jobs. On the way home each night, officers said, Rakestraw would sell his passengers wine for one dollar a pint. He had purchased the liquor for half that price. Rakestraw was charged with selling liquor without a permit.

Today's Business Mirror

By SAM DAWSON

AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — Businessmen are talking up optimism. But most of them appear to be acting with what they regard as all due caution.

Consumers in general seem to be following the same tack. They feel a lot better about the outlook for the economy and their own pocketbooks. But they are spending, and going into debt, at close to their old pace as set in more uncertain days.

Consumers Pay Debts

That's how the latest flood of statistics seems to add up after reading the host of predictions—and most forecasts are optimistic.

Retail sales have yet to respond to the new confidence most Americans are said to feel. Consumers are busier paying off old debts than taking on new instalment credit.

Businessmen are ordering better than in the dark days of winter. But so far they are building up their inventories only slightly, apparently with a keen eye for actual sales as well as for prospects. Perhaps they are waiting now to see how much of a summer lull we'll have.

Plant Expansion Slow

And in spite of all the talk about a sound recovery under way—and even talk of a possible new boom—industrialists haven't stepped up their plans for expansion of plant and equipment, trimmed when recession was the chief concern. Total spending this year still seems likely to trail 1960 by about 3 per cent.

But when you've said that—and added the somber view of international affairs that President Kennedy has expressed after his talks with Soviet Premier Khrushchev—you've about said the worst.

Steel Output Rises

Steel output, aided by auto makers' orders, has risen — although the rise is most likely to be interrupted by a summer slowdown in metal using industries.

The nation's total output of goods and services was under a $500-billion annual rate in the first three months of 1961. But the spring recovery is leading Washington pundits to forecast that the April-June figure may reach a $510-billion annual rate.

Stocks at Old Level

So far the optimism seems to have been turned into terms of cash largely in the manufacturing sector of the economy. Not only is industrial output up, but largely in the manufacturing sector of the economy. Manufacturing inventories were built up by $100 million in April. Wholesale and retail stocks were kept at the old level, on a wait-and-see basis apparently.

Much of this is natural when the economy turns from recession to recovery. Manufacturing had suffered the most, cut its stocks back the most, stood greatest in the need of building up again.

All along the line then, there is still caution—confidence, but no splurging.

We The Women

Want to Understand Women? Here's How

So you don't understand women—your wife included. Well, maybe that's because you assume a woman means exactly what she says. But a woman seldom does. For instance:

● "I'll be ready in just a minute" means "Relax, putting on my face is going to take a while—but it will be worth it."

● "She's attractive—if you like the type" implies, "Does anybody?"

● "She's so young looking for her age" isn't a compliment. It's a tip-off that she's not as young as she wants everybody to think she is.

● "I had the most wonderful luck today" nearly always leads up to the disclosure that a wife has been a bit extravagant and is building up her buy as the bargain of the year.

● "I'd love to have it, but (sigh) it's too expensive." That doesn't mean she has given up the idea. It is just a come-on that is supposed to make her husband automatically respond with, "If it's what you want, get it.

● "I'm devoted to Marcia but . . ." Pay no attention to the "I'm devoted" routine—just listen for what follows the pause after that "but" and you'll find out how she really feels about Marcia.

● "Do you really like my hat?" That isn't a question—it's a command for you to be reassuring.

● "Of course, I'm not mad. It's just that—" It is just that she is burned up at you, that's all.

● "Now don't say a word until I've finished." You'd better sit own before you hear the rest of this. It's going to be bad news, for sure.

Canine to Stay

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP) — Mrs. Dorothy Lambert has discovered that getting rid of uninvited canine guests is no easy matter—especially if the dog is a stranger in town.

After finding a stubborn Irish-setter on the front porch of her home, she called police, who referred her to the local animal shelter.

Officials there said they could not touch the dog because it wore an Albany dog license and therefore was out of their jurisdiction. Mrs. Lambert decided she might as well keep the dog until someone claimed it.

Root Is Favored For Bank Post By Rockefeller

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—Oren L. Root, a New York City lawyer, is Gov. Rockefeller's choice to be the new state superintendent of banks, it was reported today.

Root, who had been a political adviser to the governor, would succeed G. Russell Clark, whose resignation was announced yesterday—the first resignation among Rockefeller's department heads.

Clark is expected to become chairman and chief executive officer of the Commercial Bank of North America.

Root, 49, formerly served as a special assistant to Rockefeller for federal and interstate relations. He is a grandson of the late Elihu Root, who was secretary of state under President Theodore Roosevelt and a U.S. senator from New York State.

Root is a graduate of Princeton and the University of Virginia law school.

In 1940 he headed the Associated Willkie Clubs of America.

Crushed by Dozer

CAMBRIDGE, N.Y. (AP) — Albert F. Snow, 29, of Salem, Washington County, was killed Wednesday when crushed between a bulldozer he was operating and a foundation. Snow had been digging a basement under a house that had been raised up on blocks.

SNAPPY—In Japan as in our own country, the old stereotype of the farmer seems to have vanished. Tetsunobu Masaki, above, looks more like a photographer than what he is, an apprentice farmer come to the U.S. to study our methods. He was one of 58 top agricultural students selected and was photographed as he arrived in San Francisco.

AHRC Merger Is Voted at Annual Spring Session

Consolidation of the Association for the Help of Retarded Children Inc., comprised of all chapters in the state excepting New York City, and the New York Association for Retarded Children Inc., was approved at the State AHRC Southeast Regional Spring Conference on June 3.

Mrs. Donovan Buehring, of Kingston, member of the State Board of Governors of the State AHRC, represented the Ulster County Chapter at the conference held at the Carnegie International Center, New York City.

35 Chapters Unite

The merger combines the powerful New York City Chapter, first chapter founded within the state and largest in membership, with 34 other chapters.

The new name of the consolidated organization adopted by the conferees will be the New York State Association for Retarded Children, Inc., if approved by the Supreme Court. The action of the conference unifies and strengthens the 35 chapters in the state by creating one statewide organization, which will be governed by the incumbent Board of Governors of the State association.

Development Is Outlined

Highlighting the conference was a talk by Dr. Cyrus Stimson, a member of the research team at Letchworth Village, Thiells, who outlined most recent developments in the field of research in mental retardation.

The speaker noted that the latest research has centered around areas including, biology, chemistry, genetics, bacteriology, virology, physiology and drug therapy.

About 50 per cent of the known cases of mental retardation, the speaker termed "undifferentiated" — not attributed to any specific disease or cause. Based on recent strides in scientific research Dr. Stimson predicts 20 per cent of the so-called "unidifferentiated" cases will be specifically diagnosed within the near future.

Prevention Is Aim

Present emphasis in research is on the prevention of mental retardation, the speaker said. He noted that startling and hopeful fact is that some causes formerly unknown respond to relatively simple treatment.

Among numerous causes of mental retardation amenable to modern preventative measures cited by Dr. Stimson was a chemical inbalance within an infant which produces serious brain damage and can be controlled by special diet.

Writer Jumps Bail, Faced Drug Charge

NEW YORK (AP)—Police today sought a Scottish writer, Alexander Trocchi, for failure to stand trial on charges of illegally possessing narcotics.

A warrant for Trocchi's arrest was issued Wednesday on the ground he jumped $1,000 bail and fled to his native Scotland rather than face trial on the narcotics charge. He had pleaded innocent.

Trocchi, 34, wrote the novel "Cain's Book." It told of drug addicts.

A Moment Musical

BUFFALO, N. Y. (AP) — It was a warm night and John Dominiak was thirsty. When Hillary Szkotnicki entered his apartment, he found Dominiak drinking beer and playing "How Dry I Am" on the piano. Police charged Dominiak with third-degree burglary.

Worker Laid Off While Strike On Gets Jobless Pay

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—A court decision that a worker should get immediate unemployment insurance benefits although laid off during a strike is a victory for labor, the State AFL-CIO claims.

Harold C. Hanover, president of the state labor organization, said the Court of Appeals decision "clearly defines what is and is not a single establishment in an industrial dispute."

The state's highest court ruled recently that Charles Curatalo, who was laid off by the F. L. Heughes Co. of Rochester during a strike in 1958, was entitled to immediate benefits.

Under the unemployment-insurance law, a striking worker must wait seven weeks before collecting the jobless pay benefits.

The International Association of Bridge, Structural and Ornamental Iron Workers struck the firm June 16, 1958.

Pickets were set up at the company's construction sites but none were sent to a fabricating plant, where Curatalo and two other members of the union were employed. The three were laid off in a production cut back.

Why We Say--

MIXED UP: We use this expression to designate something that is all mixed up. Although it seems modern, "garbled" is a word that is over 100 years old. It started in London when the city appointed inspectors called garblers to see that spices and drugs were not mixed in stores.

Asks Church Action In Blighted Areas

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP)—The superintendent of the Buffalo district of the Methodist's Genesee Conference has called for church action in downtown city areas to abate the deterioration in those sections.

The Rev. Dean E. Richardson said Wednesday the modern city lacks cohesn because "it no longer has a heart."

He told delegates to the conference's 152nd annual session:

"Unless we renew forces of positive, creative character at the center, our cities will continue to decay and deteriorate."

Music Hall Director Dies

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP) — Mrs. Winifred Eaton Corey, director of Kleinhans Music Hall for 21 years, died Wednesday night in Millard Fillmore Hospital after a brief illness. She was 62.

She was the widow of Fred D. Corey, president of the Niagara, Lockport and Ontario Power Co.

Mrs. Corey was the daughter of the late New Jersey Congressman Charles Aubrey Eaton.

Says Wagner Must Drop Machine to Get Liberal Help

NEW YORK (AP)—Leaders of the Liberal Party say Democratic Mayor Robert F. Wagner has no chance of getting the party's support for reelection unless he runs "independent of machine domination."

Alex Rose, state vice chairman of the Liberal Party and its chief spokesman, added:

"A new Wagner who will give hope for an independent, vigorous administration is within the realm of possibility."

Rose made the statement Wednesday night after a meeting of his party's policy committee.

Rose said the Liberal Party considers Wagner to be pro-labor and a liberal and he continued: "There is no doubt of Mayor Wagner's honesty. The question is the degree of vigor, efficiency and independence which the mayor will exercise in a future administration."

The policy committee named a subcommittee "to confer with the mayor and to find out if he is a candidate and who his running mates will be," Rose said.

A newsman asked Rose about Atty. Gen. Louis J. Lefkowitz, designated by the city's Republican leaders as the GOP candidate for mayor at the November election.

Rose replied that Lefkowitz "is a good public servant and we think well of him."

Rose added that this feeling will not change even if the Liberal Party does not support Lefkowitz in the campaign.

"Maybe we'll have our own third ticket," Rose said.

Morhouse Notes Savings to State Under GOP Rule

NEW YORK (AP)—Republican State Chairman L. Judson Morhouse said today that action by Gov. Rockefeller and the GOP-controlled legislature will produce savings of $230,700,000 this year.

Morhouse's remarks were in a statement issued prior to a series of Republican meetings today to be climaxed by the annual State Republican Committee $100-a-plate dinner in the Hotel Waldorf-Astoria.

He said $188,500,000, or 81 per cent of the total, "represents savings for income tax payers."

The saving, he said, "comes in conjunction with a balanced budget, sound pay-as-you-go financing and a record-high total of $825 million in state aid for schools in the 1961-62 school year."

$5 Million Will May Be Appealed Is Rule

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—The survivors of a Glens Falls woman had court permission today to appeal a decision that gave $5 million to the Metropolitan Museum of Art.

The Appellate Division of State Supreme Court, third department, held Wednesday that two nieces and a grand-nephew of Mrs. Helen E. Foulds may appeal her will to the Court of Appeals the state's highest.

The court decided March 28 that the museum in New York City was entitled under the will to the bulk of Mrs. Foulds's estate of $5,141,949.

Mrs. Foulds, who died in 1958, inherited her fortune from her father, Jeremiah T. Finch, a lumber and paper magnate.

Mrs. Jane Bayle Brogan of Sarasota, Fla., Mrs. Jere Finch Cleeves of Sao Paulo, Brazil, and Rolfe F. Schell of Fort Myers, Fla., asked court permission to appeal the decision.

COSMETICIAN FOR PAGEANT—Makeup for the Miss New York State Pageant 1962 scheduled here July 6, 7 and 8 by the Kingston Junior Chamber of Commerce, will again be under direction of Louise Wallace, former model who is cosmetician at the United Cut Rate Pharmacy, Wall Street. This was announced by Frank Reis, pageant producer. More than 25 contestants from throughout the state will compete for the Miss New York State crown and the $2,500 in scholarship awards to be presented by Pepsi Cola Bottlers Association.

Aims of Area Surveys Could Simulate Others

By CHARLES R. DOUGLAS
Freeman Staff Writer

Hail suppression research in Colorado, says Dr. Schleusener, who headed the program, was aimed first at determining if cloud seeding was effective in reducing hail intensity along with determining the effect of seeding on precipitation amounts, and learning something of the physical processes involved in hail occurrences.

It is to be assumed that a similar project in the Hudson Valley would have much the same objectives, and that procedure would be much the same if not identical.

Seven major phases of procedure were listed by Dr. Schleusener in his report on the 1959 research program as conducted concurrently with the hail suppression program of the Weather Modification Company.

Had Cooperation

Information was obtained, he said, in areas involved through cooperators who "were requested to report hail occurrences by mail, giving location, time of occurrence, size distribution of hail, and concurrent weather phenomena including precipitation amounts. A total of 389 reports of hail occurrences of this type were received between May 15 and September 15, 1959."

More information came through examination of some 250 hail indicating devices in and near the target area. A total of 358 indicators that had been damaged by hail over the same period were examined, and reports on daily precipitation amounts were received by mail from 92 contributors.

The Weather Modification Company supplied information on locations and times of ground generator operation, and routes and times of seeding by aircraft.

Information on the amount and type of hail damage to sugar beets between 1929 and 1958 was obtained from the Ovid, Sterling and Fort Morgan districts of the Great Western Sugar Company, and reports on precipitation and other weather phenomenon were obtained from the U. S. Weather Bureau observations in and near the area.

Got Crop Data

Other information was collected on the value of certain crops produced in the area for preliminary economic analyses of the potential benefits of hail reduction or for precipitation increases. Damage by hail to the indicators and mailed-in reports of hail occurence, he said, were interpreted in terms of energy input per unit area. This was accomplished by theoretical analysis and laboratory calibration."

At the time of the study, he said, "it was emphasized a one-year study would probably not provide irrefutable proof of effects of a given magnitude resulting from the cloud seeding program. However, it was considered likely that a one-year study would give some indication as to the probable type of effect being produced."

In dealing with analysis records from the sugar company covering periods of 1937 to 1939 and 1946 to 1958, he said, indicated an annual damage to beets of the heavy damage category of 15 per cent, and he estimated that a loss in winter wheat would be about the same. Production losses, he noted, showed an average annual loss in three Colorado counties of $15,000,000 in winter wheat in the period from 1948 to 1957. He presented figures to indicate that if the cost of a hail suppression program annually in the three counties would cost $65,000, and it cut hail damage by about 2.5 per cent, the reduction in dollar loss in wheat alone would be equal to the cost of the seeding program.

Merger of Woodstock Press, Onteora Record Set June 15

The merger of the Onteora Record and the Woodstock Press, effective Thursday, June 15, was announced jointly today by Thor Krogh, publisher of the Record and Maurice F. Hamilton, publisher of the Press.

The amalgamation of the two newspapers will give the combined Record and Press the largest circulation of any weekly in Ulster County and afford greatly extended news coverage throughout the townships of Woodstock, Olive and Shandaken and as far south as Stone Ridge and High Falls.

Krogh and Hamilton will be co-publishers of the combined weekly with Mrs. Irene Krogh business manager and Paul M. Hamilton advertising manager.

The business office of the combined Record and Press will be at the present site of the Woodstock Press. The newspaper also will be printed and published in the Woodstock Press plant.

Erik Donaldson Wins 1st Prize In Science Fair

Another member of the Donaldson family of Chayo Mountain Road in Woodstock has won first prize honors at the Mid-Hudson School Study Science Fair held recently at the State College of Education at New Paltz.

Erik Donaldson, a fourth grade student at the central building, took first place in Area VI for his project illustrating the refraction of light.

Erik's older brother, Sven, won first place honors in 1959 and again in 1960.

Five other Onteora elementary students won honors at the Science Fair.

Second place honors in Area III went to Brian Walsh, a fifth grader at the central building. Brian's project illustrated the use of a safety fuse.

Brian Martin, a fourth grade student at the West Hurley School took third place for his demonstration of a telegraph key. Also a third place winner was Carol Knight, a sixth grader at the central building. Her project, in Area II, illustrated the types of body tissue.

Honorable mention awards went to Nancy Ruff, a six grader at the central building, for her exhibit on the nervous system and to Helen Turck, a fourth grader at Boiceville, for her project showing the growth process of a bean plant.

Onteora's representatives competed with some 500 children from sixty school systems in the Mid-Hudson area. Judging was done by professional engineers, scientists and college professors. Each contestant was questioned thoroughly to determine his knowledge of the science principles he illustrated with his project. Of the twelve entrants from the Onteora district, six were awarded prizes in their area.

New Bookmobile Given to Library At Phoenicia

A new "Bookmobile" a traveling library, for the Town of Shandaken was dedicated at a ceremony held at the regular dinner-meeting of the Phoenicia Rotary Club at the Phoenicia Hotel.

Samuel Goldstein, transportation superintendent for the Consolidated Laundries, handed the keys to the truck over to Rotary president, Rudy Frank, who in turn presented them to Martin Rubin, president of the Phoenicia Library.

Rubin, who is also a Rotarian, had written to Goldstein at the request of the club and Consolidated Laundries almost immediately decided to donate the truck. The firm opened a large depot in the village of Shandaken last year and had previously leased garage and other facilities in Phoenicia.

Prior to last Thursday's official sendoff, the donated truck had been repainted and "Phoenicia Library Bookmobile" in old English lettering had been printed on each side. The walk-in vehicle will be outfitted with cork flooring, lighting and shelves by the Phoenicia Rotary.

The official committees from area libraries, including Woodstock, Olive and West Hurley were guests for the dedication dinner.

Says Feud Over Fund Is Settled

NEW YORK (AP)—An attorney said today that the feud between millionaire Shelby Cullom Davis and his daughter, Diana, over her refusal to sign over a $3.8 million trust, has been settled amicably.

The lawyer, James B. Donovan, issued the following statement:

"The interests of all parties, including Princeton University, will be served.

"Details of the agreement will be made public in due course, after Diana's wedding."

Diana, 22, plans to be married June 24 to John Means Spencer, a history teacher at Darrow School, New Lebanon, N.Y.

Davis, an investment banker, had asked Diana to sign over the trust fund to Princeton, his alma mater. Diana refused.

Last Sunday, Davis sent a cablegram from Scotland, where he was on business, saying: "I fear what Diana needs is a good spanking."

Donovan said he worked out an agreement between Mr. and Mrs. Davis and Diana. The attorney said Davis now is in London, Diana and her mother are in this country.

Pair of Drivers Booked by Police On 2 Charges Each

Two drivers were booked by local police early today on two charges each.

George Strbich, 39, of 40 Plainfield Street, was arrested on Albany Avenue by Officers George Deyo and Thomas Kearney on charges of speeding and driving while intoxicated. He pleaded innocent today before City Judge Aaron E. Klein and the case was put over to Tuesday night for jury selection. Bail of $100 was not immediately posted.

Lloyd G. Briggs Jr., 22, of 8 Bethlehem Street, Poughkeepsie, was charged with lack of insurance and with driving an unregistered vehicle. Police said a $100 suspended fine had been imposed at Hyde Park last month on a charge dealing with lack of insurance.

Judge Klein today gave him the choice of paying a fine of $250 or spending 125 days in jail on the insurance charge and $10 or 10 days on the other. The fines were not immediately paid.

Two in Saugerties Pay Traffic Fines

Two Saugerties men paid fines Wednesday night imposed by Village Police Justice G. Thomas Rea Jr., for traffic violations in the village.

Nelson Holland of Esopus Creek Road, arrested for speeding on Tuesday by Patrolman Donald Sullivan was fined $10.

Anthony Sarcona of Box 196, Saugerties pleaded guilty to a charge of failure to yield the right of way upon entering a main highway from a driveway, and paid a $5 fine.

Sarcona was issued a summons following a traffic mishap Friday morning on Main Street near the Orpheum Theater.

Sgt. Harold Mills reported the 1959 pickup truck operated by Sarcona backed out of a driveway into Main Street and was in collision with a 1955 station wagon operated by John Pavlak of Mt. Marion Park, a town constable.

AHRC Will Cite 8 Local Groups For Program Aid

Eight organizations will be cited for "meritorious service to mentally retarded children and through them to their communities" at public recognition ceremonies to be held during the annual meeting of Ulster County Chapter, Association for the Help of Retarded Children, Inc., Monday in the library of George Washington Elementary School, 8 p. m.

According to Robert Brainard of Kingston, AHRC chapter president, the groups selected for citation will include:

Ulster County Council of Girl Scouts, Inc.; Rip Van Winkle Council, Boy Scouts of America, Inc.; Town of Ulster Kiwanis Club; Ulster County Shrine Club; The Mendelssohn Club of Kingston; United Commercial Travelers of America (local chapter); United Commercial Travelers of America, Ladies' Auxiliary, and International Business Machines Corporation, Kingston.

The recognition ceremony will take place immediately following the formal opening of the meeting. A cordial invitation is extended to the public to attend.

Guest speaker of the evening will be Mrs. Sylvia Mahar, founder of Putnam County Chapter, AHRC. Her topic will be "The AHRC at Work Within the Community."

A native of Mahopac, Mrs. Mahar has been extremely active within her own community and the surrounding county in developing services for mentally handicapped individuals. Aroused by her personal situation in which as a parent she faced rearing a mongoloid child in an area that had a dearth of facilitie for such a task, Mrs. Mahar became vitally interested in the AHRC movement. Realizing the need of parents, such as herself, she organized the Putnam County Chapter, AHRC, in 1954. She also served as executive director of her chapter until the year 1959.

During that time Mrs. Mahar was instrumental in the founding of a clinic for the diagnosis and treatment of mongoloid children. In addition to her executive duties, Mrs. Mahar also served as fund-raising chairman for the county, and contributed to numerous phases of the chapter's steady development throughout the past seven years.

A general business meeting will follow Mrs. Mahar's talk. The agenda will include committee reports, annual election of chapter officers and members of the board of directors, and programming.

Refreshments will be served in the cafeteria following the meeting. Committee in charge will be Mrs. James Pfeiffer, Glenerie; Mrs. Robert West, West Camp; and Mrs. Emil DeLuca, Kingston.

Area Guardsman Among Graduates From West Point

Serving in the National Guard has proven a great advantage to a Dutchess County man, who graduated from the U. S. Military Academy, West Point on Wednesday.

Stoneham was appointed from Battery B and has been commissioned in the Signal Corps.

Brigadier General Charles G. Stevenson, adjutant general of New York and vice chief of staff to the governor presented each of the new officers with a set of lieutenant's bars and a letter of congraulations from Major General A. C. O'Hara, chief of staff to the governor and commanding general of the Guard.

Kangaroos a Menace

DARWIN, Australia (AP) — W. H. Petrick, a member of the Legislative Council, says the kangaroo menace in Central Australia is worse than ever. He told the council 14,000 'roos have been shot on his own cattle station in the past two years. "In the Alice Springs district they are well on the way to destroying the country completely," he said. "They destroy the grass before it seeds. As a result, even after good rains, there is no growth in many areas."

Paris Orders Riot Police as Farmers Pour Into Morlaix

MORLAIX, France (AP) — Some 4,000 Brittany farmers, embattled over the government's farm price structure, invaded Morlaix today aboard tractors and trucks.

The French Interior Ministry in Paris ordered a company of 140 tough riot police to move into the town. They were expected early this afternoon.

The farmers began streaming into Morlaix about dawn, blocking highways around the town of 14,000 and the main streets with their vehicles. They occupied the local administrative building and, after several hours, and then withdrew and massed in the center of the town.

Sub-prefect Jacques Seron, the top local official fled with his family and aides to the police station. The scant local force of about 100 police was powerless to the farmers' disagainst the mob.

One of the leaders of the invaders, Jean Lemoine, said the farmers would not leave Morlaix until they received satisfaction on their demands.

"We are not going to harm anyone," he told a reporter. "But we will not leave Morlaix until we get what we want. We have been patient long enough. We have been fooled too many times. We have had enough promises. We want action."

Lemoine said the farmers are demanding higher prices for their products, a reduction in taxes and a reform of the system of distribution.

Lemoine threatened that if the farmers did not receive immediate satisfaction, "there could be violence."

Lemoine threatened that if the farmers did not receive immediate satisfaction, "there could be violence."

The farmers' complaint is one that has festered for many years in Brittany and elsewhere in France. Because of the complexities of the French distribution system, including many middlemen, the farmers are paid only a fraction of what their products sell for on big markets. The government has started a long-range reform of the market system but so far has made almost no progress.

Last Sunday groups of men invaded polling places in Brittany villages and burned ballot boxes during local elections. Thirteen persons were arrested.

Authorities attributed the disorders to the farmers' discontent over prices for their produce, particularly potatoes.

Gives Up Universe Title

Beauty Puts Truth Before N.Y. Crown

LIBERTY, N. Y. (AP) — Marcia Banks has lost her beauty title by admitting she is under age. But fame, she said, doesn't compare with telling the truth.

The brown-haired, hazel-eyed Marcia last Memorial Day weekend was voted Miss New York State in the Miss Universe Contest finals at Grossinger's Hotel.

The Brooklyn girl won out over a bevy of other beauties, and impressed the judges with her frankness. When she went onstage to state her ambiton, she told them: "my ambition is to win this contest."

Marcia's conscience caught up with her Wednesday. She is 17½ years-old, and the minimum age in the contest is 18.

So she called Grossinger's and told an official:

"I fibbed about my age. I hate insincere people, and here I was, betraying a trust. I had to tell the truth."

Several weeks ago Marcia was voted Miss Brooklyn. It was the first beauty contest she ever entered.

The 4-foot-10, curvaceous beauty has been modeling for some time. But she still is a student at Brooklyn's Tilden High School, although she graduates later this month.

Next weekend, Marcia goes back to the hotel, when she will crown Alexa Curry, 22, of Manhattan, who was runner-up in the original contest. Marcia has insisted that she be the one to award the crown to Alexa.

In winning the state contest, Marcia received a huge tropny. A. Grossinger spokesman said "we're going to let her keep it. We're giving a duplicate to Alexa."

St. Mary's Societies Will be Shown Film

A 45-minute film, "Operation Abolition," sponsored by the New York State Council of the Knights of Columbus, will be shown for members of St. Mary's Holy Name and Rosary Societies following the monthly meeting Sunday night.

The public is invited.

The film shows a riot at City Hall in San Francisco in May, 1960, during a House Un-American Activities public hearing on subversive activities.

J. Edgar Hoover, director of the FBI, states that the organized demonstrations were planned and directed by Communists aided by two organizations described as Communist controlled.

Judge Albert A. Axelrod, of San Francisco, agrees with Hoover that the riot was instigated by Communists. It is claimed that evidence proves that students involved were innocent dupes of Communist zealots.

The film is shown before many civic and fraternal groups to acquaint members with workings of the Communists in this country.

ANNAHEIM, Calif. (AP) — Can B. G. make it with another generation?

You'd think so, watching Benny Goodman swing out at Disneyland. Such excitement hasn't been seen since the '30s, when the famed Pied Piper led America into a whole new world of music.

"It's amazing," says Benny, obviously pleased with this new turn in his long career.

He recently organized a big band composed of a few oldtimers but mostly young musicians. The first date was Disneyland over Memorial Day weekend, the first booking of a name attraction at the park.

The results were sensational. Crowds packed 20 deep before the bandstand and couples were jitterbugging — not rocking, not rolling—jitterbugging.

One of the amazed observers was Walt Disney himself. He told me: "Benny said it was just like the old days. His manager kept looking at his watch and warning Benny that he was going overtime. 'Don't worry—I'll pay for it,' Benny said, and he played 15 minutes longer."

B. G. was back on the bandstand last weekend, and I came on a sentimental journey to catch his music. It was indeed like the old days. Benny played the licorice stick with the same facile style, and the crowd cheered every solo.

Still youthful at 52, Benny bounced and grinned as he led the numbers. They were strictly vintage stuff—"Sing, Sing, Sing," "Jumping at the Woodside," "And The Angels Sing," "One O'Clock Jump," etc. The youngsters ate it up. And for us ex-rug cutters—wow!

Benny has stuck mostly to small combos in recent years, but he said he'll continue with the full band if the demand continues.

HONORED SENATOR—A new 4-cent stamp, honoring the late Sen. George William Norris of Nebraska, will go on sale in Washington on July 11. Left of the senator's portrait is a view of the Norris Dam near Knoxville, Tenn. Quotation on stamp was a tribute by Franklin D. Roosevelt.

POTENT INTRUDER—The U.S. Navy's newest light attack aircraft, the Grumman A2F-1 Intruder, packs a heavier punch than the B-17 Flying Fortress of World War II fame. The two-place plane carries thirty 500-pound bombs in clusters of three. The all-weather Intruder is designed to take off from an aircraft carrier with its 15,000-pound bomb load. It also carries nuclear weapons.

Zenith Airs New Stereo Programs On FCC Standard

The first stereophonic FM broadcast on the new FCC standards, which were announced on April 20 by Ben Rhymer of 421 Albany Avenue, was transmitted at midnight on June 1 by Zenith Radio Corporation's station WEFM in Chicago.

The FM stereo standards are based on a system first developed by Zenith and experimentally tested on the air during 1959 and 1960 by WEFM, the nation's oldest FM station.

Joseph S. Wright, Zenith president, described stereophonic FM as "a new dimension in FM broadcasting, and a new era for the enjoyment of FM radio listening." He added, "It is the most important thing that has happened to broadcasting since the introduction of television. As the leader in FM, Zenith is proud of this contribution to better broadcasting."

Since the new stereophonic FM broadcasting system is compatible, the Zenith president noted, Chicagoans receiving the special broadcast at home on conventional FM radios heard a fully balanced monophonic FM program.

Those attending a special press demonstration in a nearby Loop hotel listening over Zenith stereophonic FM receivers heard the broadcast with the full depth, dimension and movement that makes stereo FM such an exciting experience, Wright stated.

During the one hour broadcast, WEFM's stereophonic FM programming ranged from south of the border selections, Broadway show tunes, to concert music. WEFM concluded the broadcast with a record performance of Fritz Reiner conducting the Chicago Symphony orchestra in a recorded performance of waltzes from Richard Strauss' Der Rosenkavalier.

June 1 was the earliest time authorized by the FCC for the special stereophonic FM broadcast.

Divers Conduct Water Programs

Participating in the Long Island Sound dive were, David Lasher and Gerry Klemm of Kingston; William Parker of New Paltz; William Mills of Port Ewen and Edward Muller of Lake Katrine.

During that dive the group speared fish, found horseshoe crabs and star fish. The group used skindiving and SCUBA diving methods and reached depths of 45 feet.

Participating in the demonstration at Camp Tri-Mount were, Ted Wiands and Gerry Klemm of Kingston; Edward Muller of Lake Katrine and Richard Grant of Mt. Marion Park.

The group will take part in underwater activities at Lake George and other area lakes this summer.

Working on Devic That May Replace Radar Rotators

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Army has embarked on development of a new type of radar that holds promise of meeting some of the criticism aimed at the Nike Zeus antimissile system.

It's called phased radar and involves emitting an electronic beam to scan the skies for oncoming enemy missiles so Nike Zeus rockets can seek them out and destroy them far from targets in the United States.

Such a radar device, if proved successful, would replace the heavy rotating scanning structures now in use.

Army specialists said today the new type radar would do its job rapidly and precisely.

These specialists said it would be simpler and less costly than the models now in use.

Disclosure of the new Army approach came Wednesday in a brief statement announcing award of a nearly $5 million contract to the Western Electric Co. for work on an advanced radar "design for possible future incorporation into the Nike Zeus antimissile missile system."

The Army has been waging an uphill fight for some time to convince the Kennedy administration and top Pentagon officials that the Nike Zeus antimissile — the only one under advanced development—is as good as the Army says it is.

The administration has asked about $300 million for the next fiscal year to push development.

SYRACUSE, N. Y. (AP)—More than 100 seniors, nearly half the graduating class at Eastwood High School, have been suspended for supposedly skipping school Tuesday afternoon to frolic at a state park.

The suspensions were imposed Wednesday for 109 pupils who, school officials said, left after a senior breakfast in the school cafeteria and spent most of the sunny afternoon at Green Lakes. A few were reported to have visited other high schools in the city.

All except 16 returned to class by 3 p.m., hoping they would not be missed, the school said.

Parents of the truants were notified by Principal Robert Oliver that they must confer with him by Monday or their children face expulsion.

Carpenter Offer To Stop Pickets Is Turned Down

A proposal by the Hudson Valley District Council of Carpenters that pickets would be withdrawn from jobs now being picketed in the carpenter strike, provided the contractors would agree not to do carpenter work on the jobs, was rejected Wednesday afternoon at a meeting of union representatives and contractors.

Picketing continued today at the two local school jobs.

Another meeting has been scheduled between the union and contractors for Friday afternoon at 4 o'clock at The Kirkland.

The offer to withdraw pickets was made by the council in order that other trades might continue to work on the jobs after the picket lines were removed.

It was reported little progress was made yesterday in the controversy between the striking carpenters and the employers. The carpenters struck on Monday following expiration of their contract on May 31 and failure to secure a new contract. The council alleges about 2,000 men are involved in the area which includes several counties.

Asked today if Federal Mediation Service had been called in to assist in settlement of the strike, George E. Yerry Jr., president and agent of the council, said the Federal Mediation Service had been represented at the meeting Wednesday but the mediation service was "not used."

At the Markets

Meat—Continued liberal marketings of beef have brought about lower prices on many cuts. The popular steaks, porterhouse and sirloin, are selling for 10 cents and 11 cents per pound less than a year ago, according to the New York City Department of Markets.

Lamb supplies remain heavy. Broiler marketings get a big boost this month with production expected to be 25 per cent greater than last June.

Eggs—Egg production is now declining seasonally, but a larger supply than in 1960 is predicted for the second half of this year.

Fish — Among shellfish, sea scallops are quite plentiful as is crabmeat.

Fruit—Fruit pickings are still slender, though we can expect increased variety as the summer season begins.

Vegetables—Market volume of nearby vegetables is increasing. Locally grown lettuce—Iceberg, Big Boston and romaine—is abundant.

Playhouse To Open

The Woodstock Playhouse announced this week that it will open on June 20 for an 11 week season running through September 3.

This 11 week season will be the longest in Playhouse history and producer, M. Edgar Rosenblum, has high hopes it will prove successful. With the support of the local communities Mr. Rosenblum hopes to beat down the idea that Woodstock is only a summer community. He reports that last summer, a great deal of the patronage at the Playhouse came from the area. It was for this reason he extended the schedule.

An exciting season of plays has been put in the works and there will be many special concerts, both folk and chamber music. A new series of children's shows including a musical for children is also slated.

The season will start off with Agatha Christie's delightful mystery thriller, THE MOUSETRAP. This play has been the longest running show in history, now in its eighth year in London. It had a successful run in New York this past season and will probably be done for many years to come.

Following this thriling opening will be the rollicking comedy, THREE MEN ON A HORSE; after this will be ANDERSONVILLE TRIAL, the Civil War drama which put Broadway audiences at the edge of their seats for a long run in New York. Moss Hart's LIGHT UP THE SKY will be number three, to be followed by WATCH ON THE RHINE, by Lillian Hellman, author of The Little Foxes, Toys in the Attic and The Children's Hour.

In honor of the Civil War centennial Mr. Rosenblum will present Robert Sherwood's great historical drama, ABE LINCOLN IN ILLINOIS, a play that was a smash hit not too many years ago. This is to be followed by one of the century's funniest farces, James Barrie's THE ADMIRABLE CRICHTON. Next comes Arthur Miller's finest work, DEATH OF A SALESMAN.

Number eight will be the first for local theatre goers. M. Edgar Rosenblum, in association with Issiah Scheffer and James Antonio, will give the American premiere of Michel De Ghelderode's BARABBAS, prior to its opening in New York next season. Direct from Broadway will be FIVE FINGER EXERCISE, and the season will close with the comedy hit, UNDER THE YUM YUM TREE.

As usual, performances will be Tuesday through Saturday at 8:40, Sundays at 7:30. Prices will stay the same as last season's despite greatly increased costs. A few special matinees will be scheduled later in the season.

Mr. Rosenblum has continued with his policy of beautifying the Playhouse and its extensive grounds. New flower beds, fresh paint, new signs and equipment will adorn the property this season. Many new improvements not to be seen by the theatre public is taking place backstage for smoother productions.

The air cooling equipment has also been increased.

The Mature Parent

BY MRS. MURIEL LAWRENCE

Let Children Know Early Family Is a Co-operative

Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

The first time 14-year-old Peg baby-sat for the gay young couple who had just taken a new apartment six blocks away, they promised to get her home by 1 a. m. They didn't keep their word. At 1:25 Peg's mother phoned her to be told, "You and daddy go to bed, mom. They'll be back any minute now. Mr. Foster will drive me home."

But at 2:45 when the Fosters finally arrived, it was Peg's father who drove her home. Getting out of the car he had parked at their curb, he walked over to the inebriated Mr. Foster and said, "Kindly tell my daughter I am waiting for her." Then as his child scrambled into the seat beside him, he said, "No more Foster baby-sitting for you."

Said she argumentatively, "I don't see why, daddy. I made nearly $10 tonight. They just got stuck at their party. And I'm fine. I'm not tired at all . . . ."

Said her father, "Your mother and I are. This time the rule isn't being made for you. It's being made not to protect your health but to protect the sanity of your mother and me. We'll have no more baby-sitting for the Fosters."

And they didn't.

We parents need to learn to make rules for our open and honest advantage.

As it is, the young are so used to assuming that all our rules seek to benefit them exclusively that discovering we can make them for our own interests produces a salutary state of shock.

We are so accustomed to promoting rules as protectors of their health, developers of their responsibility, punctuality and other virtues we forget that these rules also benefit us. So anxious are we to appear loving and exclusively interested in Johnny that the child is convinced our rule for promptness at meals exists solely to insure him a hot meal. So when he breaks the rule, he can justify his disregard by protesting "But I like cold meals!"

Honesty about our own stake in the regulation ends such justification. You cannot argue with a parent who says, "I want promptness at meals because I don't want to spend the evening washing dishes."

Families are co-operative institutions. If we pretend that all the rules are made for children's benefit, we have only ourselves to blame when the children undertake to re-adapt them to their own ideas of better advantage.

ELECTED BY JUNIOR MARRIEDS — Chosen to direct the Junior Marrieds Women's Club programs and objectives for 1961-1962 are (l-r) Mrs. Raymond Phillips, treasurer; Mrs. William Keith, president; Mrs. Richard Rand, vice president; Mrs. Ronald O'Neil, corresponding secretary; and Mrs. Richard Vigurs, recording secretary. Mrs. William Keith Is Elected to Head Junior Marrieds; Officers Are Installed

At the Capri on Thursday, June 1, the YW's Junior Married Women's Club met at a dinner meeting which concluded the year's activities.

Mrs. Robert Murray, retiring president, conducted the order of business. Following a precis of the year delivered by the recording secretary, Mrs. Clayton Fruck, and a fiscal statement submitted by the treasurer, Mrs. Newell Ware, annual reports of the standing committees were presented by the chairmen. Of special interest was the report of the membership chairman, Mrs. Richard Vigurs, who announced that 30 new members had joined this year bringing the total to 78, the largest since the club's inception. This indicates she said, the steadily growing popularity of the Junior Marrieds as a social outlet for wives in the community.

Mrs. E. Ronald Rifenburg, service chairman, totaled 50 birthday cake contributions to TB hospital patients. This service will continue throughout the summer. An excellent financial status of the club was reported by Mrs. Martin Keller. In addition to a chair placed in the YW main reception room, the Junior Marrieds were able to contribute a substantial sum to the Y-teen summer conference fund.

Mrs. Murray read a letter of resignation from Mrs. John Mueffelmann, newly elected treasurer. The club unanimously accepted the recommendation of the nominating committee that Mrs. Raymond Phillips fill the vacancy.

Guests at the dinner were Mrs. Fred Port, assistant teen director of the YWCA, and Mrs. John Warren, past president of the Board of Directors. Mrs. Port explained the history of the Junior Married movement, which started early in the century in Japan, and spread to India shortly after World War I.

In Kingston, according to Mrs. Port, the Junior Married Women's Club was formed in 1950. It has stimulated cultural and community interests through its programming and fellowship.

Mrs. Warren thanked the club for its YW support and acknowledged individually the members who have contributed special services.

Mrs. Bernard Trowbridge, as past president, presented a gift to Mrs. Murray on behalf of the membership in appreciation of her outstanding personality and executive talent as president. The climatic moment of the evening was the induction of the new president, Mrs. William Keith, and her announcement of the new executive committee for 1961-1962. Enthusiastic approval was given to her selections: Mrs. Ward Ingalsbe, program; Mrs. Willard Draper, membership; Mrs. Everett Landers, Mrs. Donald English, Mrs. W. E. Schmidt, publicity; Mrs. Arthur Holmes, hospitality; Mrs. Richard Van Bramer, service; Mrs. Robert Booth, finance; and Mrs. Thomas Palmer, cheer.

Kingston Altar Rosary Society Adjourns Meetings

The Altar-Rosary Society of St. Mary's Church in Kingston held its monthly meeting in the school hall on Monday, June 5 to complete plans for the schedule of communion Sundays. These have been set for July 2, August 6 and September 3. All members are urged to attend.

A one-act play entitled "Some Women Were Talking," written by John Kirkpatrick was presented by the Couch House Players under the direction of Mrs. Louise Greenwald.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. Leo Darwak and her committee. The Society has adjourned for the summer. The next meeting will be held September 12.

Summer activities will be announced in The Freeman.

League of Women To Hear Debate On Trade Policy

A Saturday television debate by two industrialists on United States trade policy is eagerly awaited by members of the League of Women Voters of Kingston.

This was announced today by Mrs. Dorothy Gerbarg of Hurley, public relations chairman for the League, which plans discussion next fall on the nation's tariff and trade policies.

She said the women will tune in to "The Nation's Future" from 9:30 to 10:30 p. m. on NBC to hear Charles Percy, chairman of the board of the Bell and Howell Company, and Jackson Spears, vice president of Burlington Mills.

The question up for debate is "Does the United State Need a More Restrictive Trade Policy?"

Among the subjects expected to be covered in the debate are: the recent problem of U. S. dollar outflow and imbalance of payments; domestic unemployment and its relationship to foreign trade; possible adjustments for injured industries and the foreign policy implications of restrictive trade measures.

Spears, who will take the affirmative of the question on restricting trade, has served as vice president of Burlington Mills (textiles) since 1952. He came to Burlington from the National Mallinson Fabrics Corporation where he was president from 1939-1952. Educated at Southern Methodist University and Harvard Law School, he is a member of the New York Board of Trade, a director of the Textile Distributors Institute, and a director of the Foreign Policy Association.

Percy, who will uphold the liberal trade point of view, started with the Bell and Howell Company when he was 19 and a student at the University of Chicago. He was elected president of Bell and Howell in 1949 and was just recently named to his present position. He was the recipient of the World Trade Award of the World Trade Commission in 1955 and the National Sales Management Executives Award the same year. Percy is a director of the American Management Association.

RESTORATION—Historic Lee Chapel on Washington and Lee University campus at Lexington, Va., will be completely restored under a $370,000 grant from the Ford Motor Company Fund. The chapel, completed in 1868, houses Gen. Robert E. Lee's office exactly as it was when he was president of the university at the time of his death in 1870. A historical and art museum includes Edward Valentine's famous "Recumbent Statue" of Lee and there are burial crypts for Lee and members of his family.

Mao Shrugs Off Vienna Spirit, Raps JFK Anew

TOKYO (AP)—The fall of Padong and Red China's comments since Soviet Premier Khrushchev and President Kennedy agreed in Vienna that an effective cease-fire in Laos is necessary suggest that Asian Communists headed by Mao Tze-tung feel in no way bound by the sober no-ultimatum, no-threat spirit of Vienna.

The Chinese Communist boss himself has made no comment on the Vienna meeting. But his propaganda organs, after earlier wishing the conference well, now dismiss it as a handshaking session that produced little or no results.

The Chinese Reds from the beginning of Kennedy's term pictured him as worse than President Eisenhower and by implication warned Khrushchev that such a man could not be trusted.

The Chinese diatribes against the youthful American chief executive have stepped up since the Vienna meeting.

Referring to the cease-fire in Laos, the official New China News Agency charged that violations were created solely by the pro-Western government headed by Prince Boun Oum and Gen. Phoumi Nosavan.

It described the fall of Padong as a U.S. "pretext" for stalling the Geneva conference on Laos.

Poultry Now Popular Around the Globe

WASHINGTON (AP) — Five years ago, two uniquely American foods — turkey and the broiler-fryer—were little known outside this hemisphere.

These high - quality poultry products now are enjoyed around the globe.

The agriculture department says these exports are giving a significant boost to the poultry industry.

In five years, exports of U.S. poultry leaped from 28 million to 175 million pounds a year. Last year, the exports of poultry products were valued at about $80 million—described by the department as a signal contribution in helping the country maintain a favorable balance of merchandise trade.

Aces, Kings, and Skill Wins

By OSWALD JACOBY

Raymond Balfe of New York was one of the two or three greatest auction bridge players but has confined his contract play to rubber bridge. He may be found at the Regency Club avery afternoon and while his bidding would not please a bridge scientist his play of the cards is just about as good as there is.

Ray is a firm believer in the adage that bridge is a game of aces and kings. Hence, while 18 points opposite an opening bid is not normally enough for a slam, Ray felt that since his 18 points were almost entirely made up of aces and kings, he wanted to be there.

He won the opening diamond lead and counted up tricks. He had nine tricks in high cards and needed three more. They might be produced in either clubs or spades and Ray saw that the spades could keep for a while.

He entered dummy with a heart; led the jack of clubs; and let it ride. West took his king and knocked out Ray's ace of diamonds. He had to make a discard from dummy and his choice was the correct one of the six of hearts.

Then he cashed his king of spades; went over to dummy with a heart; and discarded his losing diamonds on the ace and queen of spades. The suit failed to break, so Ray led the eight of clubs and finessed. When West showed out, Ray led dummy's last club and brought in the rest of the suit.

The Herdegen Memorial, the toughest test of amateur golf in this part of the world, moves into its second decade this weekend.

The most exacting test of endurance and skill, the Herdegen is, in effect, the continuing history of the development of golf to its all-time peak in Ulster County.

It is the tournament of champions like Leon Randall, Bill Van Aken and George Hughes, each of whom has won three titles; and Clarence (Dubby) Raichle, the tournament's Jim Dandy who won the second renewal in 1952.

Randall, winner of the Herdegen and Hudson River Golf Association crowns in 1960, was the first repeater last year when he carded a 72-hole 286 to finish 2 shots ahead of Hughes. He can capture an unprecedented third straight trophy and coat this time around.

Randall and Van Aken have shared six of the last 8 titles, Hughes breaking the monopoly in 1956, after earlier triumphs in 1954 and 1951, the inaugural year when he shot 278 for 544 holes, including a blazing record-equalling 63 at Woodstock Country Club.

• First to Break 280:

The first player to break "280" was Leon Randall with 277 in 1957. He had a 5-under-par 65 at Twaalfskill, finishing with five straight birdies. The next day he birdied the first hole at Woodstock for a string of six straight. His 11-stroke margin over runnerup, Bill Van Aken, also set a new record for the tournament.

But Van Aken was quick to regain his laurels. The next year he lowered the tournament record by two strokes to 275 and beat Randall, the runnerup, by 15 shots. Van Aken accomplished the feat with 67 at Ellenville, 68 at Woodstock, a 74 at Wiltwyck and 66 at Twaalfskill.

Breaking "280" in a medal tournament of 72 holes over four courses is a phenomenal achievement for an amateur golfer and Randall and Van Aken are in a niche by themselves in this respect. Amateur golfers are seldom exposed to the rigors of medal play and all factors considered there has been some remarkable shooting in this tournament over the past decade.

Raichle's 302 in 1952 is the highest winning total in the history of the tournament, but it is not to be demeaned in any sense. 1952 was the year of the crucible in Herdegen Memorial history. For one thing, the tournament was played under strict USGA rules, no touch, please. Secondly, two of the courses in play — Wiltwyck and Rip Van Winkle at Palenville — were demanding tests of golf, Palenville was a far cry from the layout it is today under the able guidance of Ray Smith and USGA rules on that primitive 1952 layout sent scores soaring. Wiltwyck was somewhat easier, but not much, a rough, rugged 9-hole layout.

Hughes led at the end of the first day, 79-75, over Raichle, who toured Twaalfskill in 71 the next day, while Hughes dipped to 75.

Raichle led 75-79 in the opening round at Palenville and added 4 more strokes at Twaalfskill the next day, 71-75. The third round at Woodstock saw Hughes pick up five shots (73-78), slicing Raichle's margin to 3. When the finals opened at Wiltwyck (Raichle's home base in those days) everyone figured the young old timer would fold. But he didn't. As a matter of fact he added another stroke (78-79) to finish 4 shots ahead of Hughes, who in turn led Dick Davenport by two.

The Herdegen Memorial, symbolic of the Ulster County amateur championship, was conceived by this department as a memorial to the late Father Henry E. Herdegen of St. Peter's parish in Kingston. Father Herdegen was a fine golfer in his own right, having once advanced to the finals of the championship round at The Twaalfskill Club where he lost 1-up in 19 holes to John J. Van Gonsic, Ralph E. Gardner has been tournament secretary-treasurer through all these years. It's been a magnificent tournament where victory has to be earned. It's the U. S. Open of golf in our part of the country.

Motorcade Is Slated at 6:30

The city is rallying behind the Kingston Braves with the brass band treatment for the New York-New Jersey Baseball League opener against Poughkeepsie Saturday night at Dietz Stadium.

Plans completed at a meeting of the Braves Booster Committee last night revealed that there will be a parade up Broadway to Dietz Stadium starting at 6:30 p. m. at the corner of Broadway and Delaware Avenue.

The motorcade will be escorted by a motorcycle squad furnished by the Kingston Police Department.

The motorcade will be led by the Red Devils drum corps of the Veterans of Foreign Wars and will feature Miss Claire McDonald, who is Miss Baseball of 1961, and her escorts.

City officials, members of the Braves baseball team in uniform, as well as committee members and representatives of business groups lending support to the local baseball venture will also appear in the motorcade. A group from the Old Timers Baseball Association of Kingston is also expected. Service clubs also have been invited.

Public Is Invited

The committee headed by Mayor Edwin F. Radel and Addison Jones has extended an open invitation to the general public to support the team and turn out for the game. Public participation in the parade and motorcade by all interested persons is invited by the Boosters committee.

The committee also announced that all youngsters under 15 years of age will be admitted free if chaperoned. Little League youngsters are encouraged to wear their uniforms.

Ceremonies at the stadium will include introduction of principals. Mayor Radel will throw out the first ball officially launching the NY-NJ League season in Kingston.

The Braves are off to a flying start in quest of their first league championship, having won three straight games without a defeat.

Several attractive prizes, including a television set will be awarded during the game at the stadium.

Lineups and probable pitchers for Kingston and Poughkeepsie will be announced Friday.

Pioneers Blast Wellsville 16-10 Paced by Shear

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

In a somewhat lengthy baseball massacre, the Elmira Pioneers sheared the Wellsville Braves.

Marv Shear was the weapon used to whomp the Braves 16-10 Wednesday night in Wellsville in a three-and-a-half hour New York-Penn League game.

Shear smacked two homers and a double in a six hit attack that accounted for seven rbis. Fred Mason and Bill Tomaselli caught the fever and also homered for the Pioneers.

Geneva held its top spot with a 6-4 victory over Jamestown in Geneva with catcher Greg Nash homering two runs to break a 4-4 tie in the seventh.

Batavia came up with a run in the home half of the ninth to stop Erie 8-7 and end the Sailors eight-game winning streak.

Bob Sanchez singled home the deciding run in the inning.

Auburn unloaded a 15-hit barrage for a 13-7 triumph over Olean in Olean. Stan Kowalowski's two run homer in the sixth sparked the big inning.

Leon Randall Defends

Four Former Champs Enter Herdegen Memorial Tourney

All former champions, including Leon Randall, the defender, will compete in the 11th annual Herdegen Memorial golf tournament which opens Saturday at Wiltwyck, tournament secretary Ralph E. Gardner has announced.

Ranuall, who scored the first repeat in the tournament history in 1960, will be joined by ex-champions Bill Van Aken of Woodstock Country Club, Clarence (Dubby) Raichle and George Hughes of The Twaalfskill Club.

(Pairings for the tournament will be published in Friday's issue. The first round is scheduled at Wiltwyck Saturday at 9 a. m.; the second at Shawangunk Sunday at 8).

Hughes is champion at Twaalfkskill. Other club champions are Bill Waterous of Woodstock, who dethroned Van Aken last year, and Bill Kaufman of Wiltwyck.

Field Reduced

Because of the new rule limiting entries to players with accredited club handicaps of 11 or lower, the entry will be smaller than in recent years. The tournament is also being played under USGA rules for the first time since 1952.

Listed among the early entries besides the four champions are: Alvin Boice, Supreme Court Justice Louis G. Bruhn, Charles H. Gaffney, William Merrill, Jr. of Twaalfskill.

The entire Kingston High school varsity squad of William (Buzzy) Costello is entered along with Wiltwyck golfers: Ed Strohsahl, William McCullen, Charles J. Turck, Herb Waterous, Thomas Stenson, Andy Petruski, Harvey Bostic, Harold Van Aken, Ronnie Marks, Bill Marks.

The early Shawangunk (Ellenville) contingent includes club president Robert Stapleton, Dick Van Keuren and George Barthel.

Henry (Bud) Leininger and Brian Smith, two former Wiltwyck members now playing out of Red Hook, are also entered.

Deadline for entries is midnight tonight.

Legal Battle Is Underway By Two for Decision Nine

WESTMINSTER, Md. (AP) — A little five-year-old mare, once marked for destruction because of a leg injury, may face the same fate again very shortly.

Decision Nine is her name, but despite her famous heritage—she was by Ponder, one of a line of five consecutive Kentucky Derby winners—the little filly failed to make the grade. Then in May 1959 at Pimlico, she suffered a leg injury and was ordered destroyed by her owner, Miss Crystelle Waggoner of Decatur, Tex.

Somehow the instructions were never carried out.

The horse went through a series of owners after that. Then late in the same year, Ernest C. Rogers Jr., answered an ad in a Baltimore newspaper.

The 26-year-old Baltimore County man fell in love with the horse at first sight, and purchased her for $250.

For him, she was just what he wanted. She made an excellent hunter and family pet.

"I've never been to a race track in my life," Rogers said. "I wouldn't know a start from a finish. But for a hunter and a pet —they don't come any better."

Trouble developed when Rogers decided to try and obtain papers on the mare. He wrote to Miss Waggoner. Legal proceedings were immediately begun, and now Rogers has lost the first round of a court battle for the mare's possession.

A jury ruled that the animal still belongs to Miss Waggoner, who flew here from Texas for the trial.

Both Rogers and his father have said Miss Waggoner told them she wanted the horse only to destroy it, as she had originally ordered.

Rogers and his father, who now has the mare on his 80-acre Carroll County farm, both insist they will take the case as "high as we have to" before relinquishing ownership.

They have 30 days in which to appeal.

Meanwhile, Decision Nine remains contentedly in her pasture, completely unaware of the struggle being waged around her.

9 Straight Victories For Tribe

By ED WILKS
Associated Press Sports Writer

The Cleveland Indians won their ninth in a row and gained a half-game lead over idle Detroit in the American League race with an 11-0 breeze at Washington Wednesday night as unbeaten Jim (Mudcat) Grant won his seventh with a six-hitter.

The Indians open a four-game series at Detroit tonight.

New York beat Minnesota 5-1 behind a two-hit job by Ralph Terry that plunked the Twins into the cellar with their 13th straight loss. The Los Angeles Angels beat Baltimore 4-0, on Ted Bowsfield's five-hitter, and Boston defeated Kansas City 6-2.

Willie Kirkland and Woodie Held hammered solo home runs in an 11-hit attack for the Indians who scored twice in the first off Pete Burnside 1-4. Grant walked but one and struck out six.

Two in First

Both Minnesota hits off Terry (3-0) came in the first inning, when Billy Martin tripled and scored on a double by Lennie Green. The Yankees then exploded for all five runs in the third against Pete Ramos (3-7), tagging the right-hander with his fifth straight loss on a three-run homer by Roger Maris and a two-run homer by Yogi Berra. It was No. 17 for Maris, tops in the majors, as the Yanks set an AL record with 31 home runs in 16 consecutive games.

Bowsfield (2-1) walked three, struck out three and allowed only one hit over the last seven innings. Three runs in the first inning, capped by Ken Aspromonte's two-run double, beat Billy Hoeft (1-3) and handed the Orioles their sixth defeat in eight games. Steve Bilko homered for the Angels who took the series 3-1.

Rookie Don Schwall won his fourth without defeat for the Red Sox, allowing nine hits. Boston beat the A's and Bud Daley (4-7) with four unearned runs in the fifth inning, scoring two on Jackie Jensen's double.

Tigers Blast N. Pirates

The Tigers scored 9 runs in the third inning and went on to trounce the Pirates, 13 to 5, in the National Little League.

Warren Kelder and Steve Van Dyke collaborated on a 4-hitter for the Tigers, who picked up 11 hits off Jim Henry and Joe Mannello.

Kelder led the Tiger hitters with two doubles and a single and Bill Knox, Pirates shortstop, had a home run and single. Wendell Scherer tripled for the losers.

In the two-hit bracket were Walt Perhamus, Chip Grover and Tony Darwak with a single-double. Van Dyke was credited with the victory.

Chick Hurls 2nd No-Hitter

Julius Chick of Glasco-East Kingston Little League Giants pitched his second no-hit, no-run game in succession in blanking the Dodgers, 7 to 0, on the Light Aggregate diamond in Glasco.

In accomplishing the feat for the first time in area Little League history, the East Kingston youth struck out 14 batters, personally tossed out three others and issued only one walk.

As usual, Chick also proved a potent batsman, with a pair of doubles among the seven Giants hits off Carl Legregni, who struck out 11. They were the only extra base hits in the game.

The Giants scored in four of their five turns at bat, including a 3-run cluster in the first inning.

John Bonnelli, John Nagy hit singles and Henry Rua had a pair for the winners.

Boyle Wins Fifth

Anchorage, Yallum's, Hilltop Take City League Contests

Mike Boyle of Anchorage Rest beat Armstrong Rest, 8-7, with a 5-hitter in which most of the action was crammed into the first three innings, in the City Softball League Wednesday.

In other games, Yallum's Kings toppled Subway Grill, 9 to 5, and Hilltop Rest drubbed Chez Emile, 9 to 2, behind the 3-hit pitching of George Norton.

Anchorage staked Boyle to a 6-3 lead in the first two innings, but Armstrong's rallied with four runs in the third to move ahead, 7-6. Boyle then tightened up to pitch shutout ball the rest of the way, as Anchorage won it with single markers in the fifth and sixth.

Two of the Anchorage safeties were home runs by Charlie Williams and R. Gray. Rod Whittaker tripled for the winners. Roy Casella had two doubles and Boyle helped his own cause with a single and double.

Hobart Hits Homers

Don Hobart's two-run homer robbed Norton of a shutout in the fifth inning. Hilltop gleaned 11 hits off Bob Coisson, including triples by Charlie Marable and Bon Dunn. Clyde Carter had a single and double. A five-run sixth inning settled the issue.

Trailing 5-4, Yallum's Kings scored five runs in the fifth and sixth innings to turn back Subway, as Mike Amato survived a 12-hitter. The winners had 10 off Bob Lasher.

Mel Williams stroked a homer and single for Yallum's. Ron Secreto stroked a double and two singles. Jack Houghtaling had a triple and two singles. Bob Slover and Jim Amato also rapped three baggers.

Little League Week Slated by Governor

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Gov. Rockefeller today proclaimed next week as "Little League Baseball Week" in New York State.

"Baseball is one of our best American heritages. With the disappearance of the sand-lot in even our smaller towns, an organization such as that which provides the Little League games is actually a necessity," Rockefeller said.

Dodgers Regain 1st Place

By ED WILKS
Associated Press Sports Writer

Milwaukee knocked off Cincinnati 3-1 and the Los Angeles Dodgers regained first place by a half-game over the Reds by beating Pittsburgh 7-3 Wednesday night as Sandy Koufax became the first pitcher to win eight games in the National League this season.

Third place San Francisco defeated Philadelphia 4-3 in 11 innings, and St. Louis rapped the Chicago Cubs 8-6 on a pair of two run homers by Stan Musial, who was 4-for-4.

The Dodgers came from behind with four runs in the second inning, beating Earl Francis in his first major league start on a two-run homer by John Roseboro and a clinching two-run double by Willie Davis. They added three unearned runs in the fifth, making it easy for Koufax (8-2). Homers by Roberto Clemente, in the first inning, and Don Hoak, with a man on in the ninth, scored the Bucs runs.

Nottebart Wins

The Braves beat the Reds behind the four-hit pitching of right-hander Don Nottebart, 3-3. The Reds scored in the second on a walk, Gene Freese's single and a passed ball, but the Braves then scored three in the third, two on Ed Mathews' double, against rookie Ken Hunt (5-3).

Stan Musial's pair of two-run homers giving him six for the season, built the Cards' winning cushion in the third and seventh innings. Larry Jackson (2-5) was the winner, but needed relief. Maury McDermott finally saved it, coming on when Ernie Banks hit a two-run homer off reliever Al Cicotte in the ninth. Bob Anderson (2-5) was the loser.

The Giants nailed their victory on two walks and a single by Orlando Cepeda in the 11th off losing reliever Chris Short (1-2). Held to one run and two hits for seven innings by Art Mahaffey, San Francisco tied it in the eighth on consecutive doubles by Matty Alou and Harvey Kuenn, both pinch-hitters, and Willie Mays. Jim Duffalo and Stu Miller shut out the Phils on four hits over the last six innings, with Miller gunning his fifth without defeat.

Apaches Score In Knot Hole

The Apaches made hay early to nip the Navahos, 12-11, in the Metropolitan Knot Hole League Wednesday.

The winners scored all their runs in the first three innings to lead 12-8. Navahos scored three in the fourth and neither team scored in the fifth.

The winners managed 12 runs on 5 hits, including a double and two singles by B. Godby. Charlie Higgins slammed two triples and J. Staccio had a double and two singles for the losers.

Wynn Stays Home While White Sox Make 5-Day Trip

CHICAGO (AP)—Early Wynn's magic number is 12 and he doesn't know if he can make it this season.

The rugged 41-year-old right-hander needs a dozen more victories to reach a major league career total of 300 — something only 12 pitchers have done in baseball history.

But the durable Wynn is having arm miseries. The Chicago White Sox left him home as they departed Wednesday for four games in Washington and three in Baltimore during a five-day trip.

Wynn is undergoing treatment from club physician, Dr. Joseph Coyle, who describes the ailment as bursitis in the right elbow.

"The doctor says he doesn't know how long the misery is going to last," said Wynn. "I hope I'm ready by the time the team gets back home."

"If I'm laid up a couple of weeks, it's sure going to hurt my chances of reaching that 300 mark this year."

Manager Al Lopez said he wouldn't be surprised if Wynn had to rest two weeks before getting an okay from the doctors.

Wynn has a 4-1 record for the season and a total of 288 victories.

Indians, Tigers To Open 4-Game Series Tonight

DETROIT (AP) — The war-whooping Cleveland Indians, on a nine-game rampage, and the wavering Detroit Tigers open a four-game series tonight in the American League's first showdown of the season.

First place is at stake in this modern-day Battle of Lake Erie which is expected to attract 100,000 fans to Tiger Stadium.

The Indians come to town as new occupants of first place, holding a half-game and 13 percentage point lead over the Tigers.

Cleveland is riding a nine-game winning streak, longest in the league this season, and has 21 victories in 25 games.

The Tigers, whose 39-day reign in first ended Tuesday, had five players in the top ten when they raced to a five-game lead in May. Now there is one, Norm Cash with a .345 average. Slumps have sent the Tigers reeling to two straight defeats in which they totaled only one run.

Manager Bob Scheffing has named his two aces, Don Mossi (6-0) and Frank Lary (8-3), to open the series. Jimmie Dykes, who a year ago was managing the Tigers and never figured he'd be in a pennant battle, has nominated Jim Perry (3-4) and Wynn Hawkins (5-2) to start for the Indians.

HAPPY INDIANS—Cleveland Indians manager Jimmy Dykes is hugged in Washington dressing room by first baseman Vic Power, left, and catcher John Romano, right, after the Indians defeated Senators, 14-3, to take first place in the American League standings. It was the 8th straight win for the Indians. (AP Wirephoto)

Ingemar, Moore Bout Could Edge Liston Contest

By MURRAY ROSE
Associated Press Sports Writer

MONTICELLO, N.Y. (AP) — If Archie Moore gets by Giulio Rinaldi Saturday night, as he is favored to, the old gent may take off for Sweden this fall for a joust with Ingemar Johansson.

"That would go real big over there," said Jack (Doc) Kearns, who handles Archie's bookings. "I've discussed the fight with Eddie Ahlquist (Johansson's adviser) and he thinks it would be great.

"First of all it would make a lot of money for everyone," added Doc, who says he's only slightly older than his meal-ticket. "Then if Archie wins it, and I'm confident he can, he'll be right in line for another shot at the heavyweight title.

"Archie still thinks he can beat (Floyd) Patterson and he'd like to get that heavyweight title before he quits in maybe six or seven years."

A Johansson-Moore fight could elbow Sonny Liston, top-ranking heavy contender, out of the picture. There's been plenty of dickering for the Liston-Johansson fight but it may not occur this year because Moore thinks he can lick Johansson and Ingo feels the same way about Archie. And both think it could be easy—and easy money.

Northrup, Wilson Lose in Mat Final

YOKOHAMA, Japan (AP) — America's last two contestants—Ben Northrup of San Francisco and Dick Wilson of Toledo, Ohio—were eliminated today in the final round of the World Greco-Roman Wrestling Championships.

Northrup, a lightweight, was thrown by Imre Polyak of Hungary before being eliminated on points by losing to Aviandi Koridze of the Soviet Union.

Wilson, a flyweight, went out when he lost to Armaez Saiadov of the Soviet Union on points.

The first two championships decided went to Oleg Karavayev of the Soviet Union in the bantamweight and to Hamed Mustafa of the United Arab Republic in the featherweights.

World Mat Champs May Meet in Ohio

YOKOHAMA, Japan (AP)—The world amateur freestyle and Greco-Roman wrestling championships will be held in the United States next year, the International Amateur Wrestling Federation decided Wednesday.

Toledo, Ohio, is the probable site.

An earlier decision to stage the freestyle matches in Sofia, Bulgaria, was withdrawn.

Red Roses Edge Springfield in Two Games 6-5

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Suddenly Springfield's bubble was burst and the Williamsport Grays are flashing the form that brought them the Eastern League pennant last year.

The last-place Lancaster Red Roses last night handed Springfield its first doubleheader loss of the season by identical 6-5 scores, thus snapping the five-game winning streak of the league-leading Giants.

Williamsport, meanwhile, won its fifth straight with a 7-4 victory over Reading and strengthened its hold on third place. The Grays are 8½ games out of first and 1½ ahead of fourth-place Reading.

Trips Bounce Back

In other action, Johnstown beat Binghamton 1-0 in the opener of a doubleheader but the Trips bounced back to take the nightcap 5-2 in 10 innings. As a result, second-place Binghamton gained a full game on Springfield and now trails by 3½.

Lancaster took the opener with a six-run fourth inning and rallied for three runs in the ninth to win the nightcap. Reliever Art Mehuron starred in both games. He pitched two hitless innings in the seven-inning opener for his third victory against no defeats. Then he came back to set the Giants down in the ninth inning of the nightcap to preserve the victory for Mike Lee (3-2). Gerry Thomas (7-2) and Ken Bracey (4-1) were the losers. Bracey had won three games in a row in relief in Springfield's five-game winning streak.

Grays Snap Deadlock

The Grays broke a 4-4 deadlock with a pair of runs in the sixth inning. Lou Vassie, who has been hitting over .400 since joining the Grays, drove home the tie-breaker with a double and later scored on Jim Guinn's single. Ed Lunsford (2-0), who took over for starter Jack Kerrigan and pitched four hitless innings, got credit for the victory. The loss was charged to Tom Gansauer (2-2).

Bill Thom, making his first start for Johnstown, shutout Binghamton in the opener on a four-hitter. A homer by Archie Skeen in the fifth provided the winning run which ended a five-game Johnstown losing streak. Pete Mikkelsen (0-2) was the loser. Elvio Jimenez's single drove home the clinching run for Binghamton in the nightcap.

Griffith Starts Talks of Change In Twins Roster

ST. PAUL - MINNEAPOLIS, Minn. (AP)—It will be some fishing and golf for Calvin Griffith and Cookie Lavagetto before they start to talk about what can be done with their slumping Minnesota Twins, now in a 13-game losing streak.

"I hope to get Cookie's mind off baseball for a while," said Griffith as he greeted the manager, recalled from New York for a week's vacation, at the airport Wednesday.

"Of course, we plan to do some serious talking about possible personnel changes on the team but the relaxing comes first."

The warmth of Griffith's greeting for his field boss dismissed any rumors of animosity between the two. Neither would reveal where they plan to carry on their relaxing and chatting.

Lavagetto arrived only shortly before word came that the Twins had dropped their third in a row to the New York Yankees, carrying them into the American League cellar. They were tied for second before losing 18 of their last 19 games.

Marlins Defeat Syracuse 3 to 1 With Hal Dietz

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The battle for the International Baseball League lead is suddenly becoming a personal war between the Columbus Jets and Charleston Marlins.

Each has won seven of their last 10 games, and the Marlins' lead has see-sawed back and forth between two games to a half game edge since they regained the top late last month. Charleston now has a 2½ game edge and if it wasn't for Ray Mejias' 10th inning homer Wednesday night the Jets might be 3½ behind today.

Mejias cracked his second homer of the game against Buffalo in the 10th inning for a 7-6 victory by the Jets while Charleston got a fine pitching job from Hal Deitz in a 3-1 victory over Syracuse.

Rochester bombarded Jersey City 10-4 while Richmond and Toronto were rained out.

Deitz, winning his fourth in five decisions, gave only four hits as the Marlins made it eight in a row over Syracuse. Ed Olivares homered and had two singles for Charleston, which handed Syracuse its fifth straight loss.

Rochester racked five pitchers for 16 hits. Bob Johnson had four of them, including a pair of run-producing doubles as Gordon Jones won on a six-hitter.

Guerrilla Ways Of War Displayed By Army Forces

FT. EUSTIS, Va. (AP) — The Army today put on display some of the spectacular transportation tools and techniques it would use in guerrilla warfare.

The spotlight played on:

Hooking a rocket to the back of a man so he can be shot limited distances. There have been more than 30 tests of this still experimental device.

A "marsh buggy" for moving men and supplies through swamp too thick for boats and too thin for vehicles or foot travel.

A "helicycle," a miniature helicopter to carry a soldier over enemy-held strips of land or across impassable terrain.

They are part of the Transportation Corps' "operation mobility" program. Its objects: To show the corps' capability in both limited and full-scale battlefield action.

By coincidence, today's demonstration came two days after President Kennedy, in a nationwide radio-television talk, again emphasized the priority Communists give to waging "sub-limited" warfare. That is the planned conquest of a country through guerrillas or insurgents.

Actions Settled

Two automobile negligence actions commenced before Justice William Deckelman and a jury in Supreme Court Wednesday have been settled. Davis Williams and another and Antoinette Castano brought actions against Vernon J. Decker and others. Michael Nardone and Rosen and Rosen appeared for plaintiffs and Cook and Cook and Hirschberg, Levinson and Jenkins for defendants. Another automobile negligence action brought by Mary Boston against Chester Craig and another, arising out of an accident at St. James and Clinton Avenue, was resumed today. Francis J. Vogt appears for plaintiff and Spitz and Levine and Cook and Cook appear for defendants.

Wife of Trooper Kills Daughter, Shoots Son, Self

WEST MILFORD, N. J. (AP)—The wife of a state trooper killed her year-old daughter and then fired bullets into her son and herself Wednesday night with her husband's revolver.

Elsie Livingstone, 27, wife of Trooper Alfred Livingstone Jr., admitted the shootings, State Police Detective Lt. John Fitzsimmons said, but she gave no reason.

Mrs. Livingstone and her son, Alfred III, 6, were in serious condition at Chilton Memorial Hospital in Pompton Plains. They both were shot twice in the chest. Killed instantly was Nancy Lou.

Dredging Bids Due

Congressman J. Ernest Wharton today announced that the U.S. Army Engineer District, New York will shortly issue an invitation for bids for dredging in Area 2 of the Hudson River. This proposed work is in the $700,000 price range and calls for the removal and "satisfactory disposal" of approximately 1,900,000 cubic yards, place measurement, of all material except ledge rock lying above the plane 32 feet below mean low water. The location of the project includes the area in the Hudson River between Kingston and North Germantown, opposite the counties of Dutchess, Ulster, Columbia and Greene.

Ulster Kiwanis 6th Chapter Night Slated on Monday

Town of Ulster Kiwanis Club will observe its sixth annual Charter Night at Aiello's Restaurant, 9-W Bypass, Monday night.

This was announced by John Drews, club president, who urged that members bring their wives. He also extended an invitation to members of area Kiwanis Clubs and their ladies.

Reservations are being accepted now at the restaurant by Joseph Aiello.

Attending will be Charles Vogt, lieutenant governor of Kiwanis, and Mrs. Vogt; also Leonard Stine, director, and Kingston High School a cappella choir.

S. C. Girl Found In Shock, Taken From Auto by 3

ANDERSON, S.C. (AP)—An 18-year-old girl who was reported abducted from a parked car near here Wednesday night was found today. The Anderson County sheriff's office said the girl was taken to a hospital in a state of shock.

No other details were available immediately.

Charles Gambrell, 20, of near Anderson, told authorities the girl was dragged from their parked car by two and perhaps three Negro men and put into another car. Gambrell was slashed about the abdomen and left arm.

Deputy Sheriff Jim Williams said Gambrell, nearly incoherent, ran to the home of the Rev. Fred L. Bremmer, a Presbyterian minister shortly after 11 p.m. He was bleeding, the minister reported, and said he had been cut by the assailants and the girl was spirited away.

At Anderson County Memorial Hospital Gambrell was treated in the emergency room for lacerations of the abdomen and left arm and then was released.

A sheriff's office spokesman said the boy and girl were parked on a dirt road five or six miles north of the Anderson city limits.

Blaze Near Store

Firemen checked a blaze in a shed at the rear of the Morris Stone grocery store, 105 Abeel Street, Wednesday night before it caused serious damage. Units from Cornell and Central stations answered a call at 11:50 p. m. Pressurized water was used. An alarm, sounded from Box 1411, St. Joseph's School, Wall and Pearl Streets, at 8:13 p. m., was attributed to a mechanical defect in the sprinkler system.

Vote Power Restored

LISBON, Portugal (AP)—Portugal has decided to restore to restive Angola and other overseas provinces of Portugal the right to elect municipal councils. The government has appointed the councils since 1940.

Overseas Minister Andriano Moreira, in announcing the decision, said the switch will restore old traditional principles that were suspended due to special conditions in World War II.

Monroney Cites Difficulties in Censorship Try

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. A. S. Mike Monroney, D-Okla., says President Kennedy and leaders of the newspaper profession have found it difficult if not impossible to apply a workable formula for voluntary press censorship.

He told a meeting Wednesday night of Sigma Delta Chi, national journalism fraternity, that he is certain "no one in this administration has in mind this type of censorship—but baby tigers have a habit of growing from kittens into man-eaters."

Monroney said that once news is in the public domain "it is like trying to sweep back the sea to manage it or control it by voluntary censorship."

"I likewise think that it would be grossly unfair," he said.

Monroney said that a rereading of President Kennedy's April 27 speech to the Bureau of Advertising of the American Newspaper Publishers Association shows the President is opposed to any type of censorship.

"His only plea was for self-restraint and a sense of sacrifice in the publication of news that might be helpful to our enemies," Monroney said.

The Oklahoma senator, a former newspaperman, said some of the worst examples of security leaks come from the military services themselves, through misunderstanding and carelessness.

Sullivan Pair Hurt in Crash

Two persons were hospitalized early this morning after their car was in collision with a tractor-trailer on Route 52 about 400 feet east of Route 17 near Liberty.

They are:

Myrel Gripper, 40, driver of the 1955 sedan, and his passenger, Miss Calissie Moore, 31, both of Liberty. Both suffered multiple lacerations, contusions and shock and were admitted to the Maimonides Hospital, Liberty.

A charge of driving while intoxicated is pending against Gripper.

Sgt. Nicholas G. Lecakes of the Ferndale state police told The Freeman that a tractor-trailer operated by John Hymel, 43, of Penn Yan, was proceeding east upgrade when Gripper, traveling west, failed to negotiate a curve, crossed the mall and smashed into the side of the tractor-trailer. The time of the accident was about 2:30 a. m.
